Should have attempted but an imperfect design, ingenious Reader, in publishing this relation of my Grand-Father Sir Ferdinando Gorges ( which was left unfinisht, in regard both the late Wars put a great (top, and afterwards his own death, an utter end, to those Noble and generous undertakings, of which he had laid fo fair and hopefull a foundation ) had I not my felfe supplied this defect, by adding both out of the choicest Authors as Davity, Jean de laet, Anthony Herrera, Oviedo; Francis Ximenes, Champlain Sparbot and others, by Celecting from them that which was most materiall in each of them, as also from the relations, and discourse of those that have been Governours and Planters in those parts. as Mr. Edward Godfrey, Mr. Robert Gorges and others, a more exast and compleat account of that Country then hath been bitherto made publick, and particularly of the Province of Main, of which my Grand-Father was Lord and cheife Govervour by a Patent from the late King, upon the description of which Province I have inlifted the more largely, as well for that it hatb not been particularly mentiond by others, as for the peculiar interest I my selfe have A 2 in

DESCRIPTION OF Formation New-England.

A D. Grinting C. Marthen England

Efore I descend to the particular description of New-England, I have thought it expedient to præmise somthing in generall, concerning the whole continent of America, both for the observing of a more exact Order and Method, and for that after the other parts are laid open to view, the description of that one part T will be the more delightfull and the easter to be conceived, and it will be the more plainly demonstrable how it lies situated in respect of the rest of the New World.

America is bounded on the East with the Atlantick Ocean called Mar del Nort; on the South, with the Magellanic Islands diffinguish't by an interflowing Bay; on the West, with the Pacific Sea, called also Mar del Zur, but the North part is yet fcarcely known to the Europeans.

It is reputed to be in length between the ftreights of Anian and Magellan, 2400. German Miles in breadth between Cabo

It is (as the other three parts of the World) divided into-Islands and continent.

The Iflands are either those which are fituated in the Sea. commonly called Mar del Nort, or those which are found in in Mar dell Zur. The Chief Islands lying in Mar dell Nort. are,

1. Terra Nova or New Found-Land, lying over against the Gulfe of St. Laurence ; it was first discovered by the English. and in the year 1583. Sir Humpbrey Gilbert took poffeffion of it for the King of England, and in the year, 1608, the English under the Command of John Glay of Bristow, built severall habitations upon it : it is a Mountanous and Wooddy Country of a healthfull Air and hath divers commodious Ports & Havens, it lies between the 46 th. and 53d. degree of the North Poles Altitude ; beyond this, is a little Ifland called by the French, Ifle de Sable or the Sandy Ifland, and another on the Weft of Terra Nova, called Ifle de Bretons or the Ifland of St. Laurence, besides severall little scattered Islands in the Gulfe of St. Laurence, as Menego, and the three Islands of Birds, in which are found a kinde of Amphibious Animal, called by the French, Walrus, by the Ruffians, Morth, fomewhat like a Sea-Calf, but more monstrous.

2. The next confiderable Illand which lyeth in the mouth of the River Canada, was first discovered by Quartier. and by him called the Island of the Alfumption, by Fobn Alphonso, the Island of the A cention, by the Natives, Natistcotec ; it extends it felfe from the 48th. to the 50th. degree between the South-East and North-Weft ; Quartier makes mention. of a strange kinde of Fish, found in the River of Canada, like unto a Sea-Hogg, but having the head of a Hare, it is called, by the Natives Adhothuys.

3. The Bermuda's or Summer Iflands, they are fituated in, 32. degrees and 25. minutes of Northern Latitude, fome fay they were to termed from a Spanish Ship called Bermudar, Smith's Tra which was there caft away carrying Black Hoggs to the Weft-Indies, that fwam a fhoar and there increased : Bat the first Englif Man that was ever in them, was one Henry May, who in the year 1591. comming from Spain was caft away upon the North-Wett of the Bermudas, they are remarkable for divers forts of Plants unknown in other parts, as the Prickle Pear, the Psylon-Weed, the Red-Weed, the Purging-Bear, the Costive-Tree, Red-Pepper, the Sea-Feather, also feveral firange Birds, as the Egge-Bird, the Cabow, the Trepick-Bird, the Pemlico, which prefageth flormes : Mr. Richard More was the first that planted a Colonic there in the year 1612. which was afterwards supply'd by divers others.

4. Hifpaniola which was anciently called by the Natives Aiti & Quisqueia, it was first discovered by Columbus in his first navigation in the year 1497 and lyeth between the 18th. and 20th. degree of the North Poles Altitude, the Chiefe Town is called S. Domingo, but it hath many other confiderable Towns and Villages, and great number of Sea-ports, Capes and Bays, Diego de Arana was first lett Governour in this Island by Columbus, afterward Nicholas de Obando, who out to death in a most barbarous and cruell manner the Caffique or Governour of the Province of Xaragna, with his Sifter Anacoana, the animals peculiar to this ifland are, 1. 2 little Beast called Hutigs not much unlike our Conies, 2. Chemi, almost of the fame form, but alittle bigger, 3. Mobuy, a Beaft somewhat leffe than the Hutias, 4. a Beaft called Ceri ; there is also afort of Vermin called Niguas very hurtfull to Men, also a kinde of beetle called Cucuyo, whole eyes thing fo cleer by night, that a Man may fee to write or read by them, among fifh, that which is called Manati is there of most efteem, the figure of which is to be feen in 7. de Laet, the Plants and fruits it produceth are, I. Auguba a fair large Tree, the fruit whereof is called Pinnas, refembling a Malecotoon, of this Tree there are three forts, Jaima, Boniama, Faiqua, 2. Quanconex, 3. Axi, of which there are allo feveral forts, as Carive, Huarabuac, Axiblance, Acafran-Axi, and Axi coral, 4. Tuca, the root of which lerves in flead of Corn, 5. certain Trees called Guaibes.

5 The Island of St. Jean Porto Rico, anciently call'd Boriquen, it was discover'd by Columbus, in the year, 1493. It lies between the 18th and 19th degree of the North Poles elevation, the trees peculiar to this Island are, 1 Tabernaculo, or Taborucu, 2 Maga, 3 that which is call'd the Holy tree, 4 the tree called Higillo Pintado, 5 a tree called by the natives

Guao, by the Mexicans Theilatian, 6 Macanillo being hurtf ut to men and beafts, there is alfo a Poifonous herb called Quibei. This Island was first inhabited by the Spaniards in the year 1510, under the command of Fean Ponce de Leon, afterwards Baldwin Henry Burgemafter of Edam and Generall to the East-India Company of the United Provinces attempted to take it but was beaten back

6 Cuba about 10 leagues diffant from the continent of America, it was first conquered by Diego Velaguo by the meanes of Gassique Hatuey a Fngitive of Hispaniela, who notwithstanding was burnt a live, the trees which grow in this Island different from those of other Countrys are Xagua and Caninga. here is also the Bird Flamengo, and another fort of Pirds called Bambyayas: there are likewife in this Illand Trotoifes of that vast bigneffe, that one of them is able to bear five men upon its shell, the principall town of this Island is call'd Havana.

7 Jamaica fituated according to Herrera, and Oviedo between the 17 th and 18 th degree of the North-poles elevation, the chief towns are called Sevill and Oriflun, in the year 1591. It was conquered by the English under the command of Sir Anthony Sherly, but they held it not long ere they forfook it of their own accord, yet at this prefent it is again poffeffed by us.

8 On the North of Hifpaniola, and Cuba there are a number of little Illands called Lucayes every one of which are by name particularly described by John de Leat.

9 On the East fide of St. Jean Porto Rico lye the Islands called Canibales or Caribes, which are also feverally named by * as Sartta the above mentioned Author, * the last of which toward the Gorda, Blances Eafl called Barbados or Barbudos, was poffeft by a Colony of Anagada, som- English-men, in the year 1627. The people of these Islands have been reported to feed upon mans flesh, whence the illands were named Canibales but they are called by fome Antille or Camircane.

10 Margarita, or the Illand of Pearls it lieth eleven degrees Northward from the line, and was discovered by Columbus in the yeare 1498. in his third voyage to America.

11 Between the Illand of Margarita and the firm land of America is a little Island call'd Cubagua, which produceth a very firange kind of thiftle described by Charles de Peclufe in his book of Exotiques, and in fome places there iffueth out oft he Earth a certain Aromatic liquor floting upon the top of the water much used in Physick.

<sup>2</sup> 12 About 4 leagues diffant from Cubagua, there is an Island called Coche leffe then the former, it was discovered in the year 1529. these three last Islands are confiderable by reason of the great fishing for Pearle which is there used.

13 About 8 degrees Northward or there about diffant from the line lyeth an Island called by the Spaniards La Trinidad, where Sir Water Rawleigh in the year 1,95. fometimes lay at Anchor, the inhabitants are called by one common name Cairi or Carai.

14 About 7 or 8 leagues Eastward diftant fib the life of Triniddd lyeth the lifand heretofore called Tabago, now new Walachia, it is 11 degrees and 16 fcruples Northward from the line. It produceth the trees call'd Bannanes and Papaia, with feverall other ftrange forts whofe figures and defcriptions are to be feen in John de Laet, but the names of them are not mentioned among Plants that is in chief effeem, which we call Sliptongen, there is a fort of Beafts here called Pacquires, fomewhat like to a Hog, but having the Navel on the top of the Back.

There are feverall other fmall Iflands as Martins Vinyard, Long Ifland, Angola, St. Martins Euftus, St. Chriftophers, Nivis, Monferat, Antego, Dominica, Sant aluía Defiada, Matinina, Dolos, Santlos, &c. But thefe are not confiderable to afford matter of difcourfe in fo fhort a furvay as this.

The Islands of the South sea, otherwise called the Pacifique Sea or Mar dell Zar are,

1 The Magellanique Illands anciently taken for the continent, but they are divided from it by the fraights of Magellan, and the fraights Le Maire, however D: Leat, makes no mention of the Magellanic Illands, but onely of the Province of Magellan.

2 Terra del fuego, so called from the frequent flathee of fire and aboundance of smoak appearing to the first discoveres thereof, it is also called Terre Australe or the Southern Land, and is devided by certain chanells into a great many of listle small stands, as De Leas affirmes, but it remain is yet so undiscovered that it cannot be certaily affirmed either continent or Mands.

3 About 38 degrees and some odde scruples Southward from the line, lyeth the Island of Macha, some of our English, as Sir Francis Drake and Thomas Cardish have had commerce with the Natives, but had not so good usage among them as Oliver de Noort, and George Spilber, w. Low-Country men.

4 The Illands of Jean Fernand 2, by whom they were first discovered called Jola de Fuera, and Jola de Tierra, and lying about 33 degrees and 48 forupies Southward from the line, also Barthelomeo Leonardo de Argensola of Jean Fernandez, which are at this prefent St. F. lix, and St. Ambor, but they cannot be the same with them now mentioned, for as much as these ly not above 25 degrees and 20 forup les Southward from the line.

5 There is one of the townes belonging to the Government of Chile, which is also an Island called L'ffle, de St. Marie, which as faith Piedro de Cieca was formerly named by the Salvages Lucengo, in this Island there are a fort of Crevites called Choros, in whose heads there are found Pearles of the bigneffe of hempsced.

6 The Island of Maragnan, of which see more in the description of Brasile.

Thus much of the American Illands the continent is divided into the Northpart and Southpart of America, the Southpart is either that which lyeth toward Mar del Nort, the North Sea, or toward Mar del Zur, I. The South Sea, that part which lies toward the South Sea, is called by the Spaniards Peruana and Tierra Firma, and is devided into these following Provinces.

I Castila del Oro, or Golden Castile, and by some Panama, which is the more modern name, it is in length between Cartagena, and the Castle of Veragua about 90 leagues, it produce th the herbs called Cabuia and Henechen or Nequen described by Ovieds of both these herbs the Salvages use to make cordage for nets and other things the chief towns are Nombre de Dios, the town of Panama, Porto Belo, the town St. Philippe, and Sr. Jago de Nata, all particularly described by Juan B ptista Antonely the chief River of this province is called by the Salvages Chagre, by the Spaniards Rio de Lagartes.

those Countries that lye by the river Canad * together with Terra de Labo- Terra Nova and fome other Iflinds already defcribed in the North Seas, on the South fide lies that province which is called Accadia, wherein is that famous Pemptegout which fome think to be the fame with Norumbegue the chiefe port towne is called portroyal, the first Colonie that was brought into the North part of Nova Francia by the French was under the command of James Quartier fent by Francis the first inthe yeare, 1534. atterwards in the yeare, 1603. Peter da Gua Lord of Monts brought another Colonie thither, and obtained the title of Viceroy, after him in the yeare 1606. Pourtrin-court made a voyage into the South part, but that part called Cadie came afterwards to have the title of new Scotland, and under that name was given by King James to Sir William Alexander.

6 Virginia or all that part of America which extends it felfe from Norumbegua to Charuvoc and which began first to be discovered by Jean Verazza-mao Florentine who was imployed by Francische first, King of France, to discover the North parts of America; it containeth New-England new Netherlands, and Virginia it felfe commonly fo called, this part was first discovered by Sir Walter Rawleigh and afterwards Sir Humphrey Gilbert in the yeare, 1583. having attempted a Plantation in fome of those parts and perishing in the delign, Sin Richard Greenvill about two yeares after took avoiage thither and Landed his men, but returning for England for fupplies, when he came back thither again, he could heare no newes of the Colony he had left there, nor was it ever known what became of them, the like miscarriage also hapned to those men which were left at Hatorask by Mr. Jo. White in the yeare, 1687. The first Colony that took firm posselion in those parts was fetled there in the year 1606, under the conduct of Captaine Bartholmew Golnol and Captain Chriftopher Newport, yet they fuffered many troubles and miferies for a great while till at length in the yeare, 1609. they received firong suplies out of England which came along with Sir Thomas Day, Sir Thomas Gates, Lord de la Ware and other eminent Persons, and now divers parts of the Country

Country are well peopled, and great profit is derived from the commodities which Virginia produceth, the chiefe of which are Pitch, Tarre, Soapashes, Rosen, Flax, Cordage Wainscor, Glaffe, and fuch like ; The fruits peculiar to this * Macoeque Country are Putchamines, which are a kind of Damofines ; a kind of ap Meffamines which are a kind of Grapes ; Chechinquamins, ple, Lobe d a fort of fruit fomewhat refembling a Goosberry, there groups have deferibed by mens somewhat resembling a Goosberry, there groweth also charles de L'er a Berry fomewhat like unto Capers, which they call Ocough- clufe, Mutta tanamnis, they make their bread of a Plant called Mattowna, quefunnau. k, which groweth like our Bents, having a feed like Rie, there or Indian is alfo a kind of Strawberry called Moracock; Their roots figges. are Tockawoughe, being very good to eate, Wichfacan of great vertue in the healing of wounds, Pocones which affwageth fwellings and aches, Mufquafpen wherewith they paint their mattes and targets, * they have in great request Kaistucpe-a fort of Pulse called Affentamen, here are also divers forts nauch, Tsinam, of Beafts different from those of other Countrys, as Arough- casculham or cun refembling a Badger, Affapanick which we call a flying Habafcon. Squirrell, Opaffum a certain Beaft having a bagg under her belly, wherein the carrieth and fuckleth her young, Muffafcus which smelleth strong of musk, and refembleth a water Rat, Utchunquois a kind of wild Cat. In this Country there are five great Navigable Rivers, which descend toward the left hand, from that large gulfe found out by Captain John Smith, vulgarly called the Gulfe of Chefapeack, the first river is named Pawlatan, by which name the Caffique of that Province through which it runs is called, with whom Captain Smith and the English had many great transactions, this River receiveth into it divers leffer rivers, as Quiyoughcobanock, (about which inhabit the Waraskoyakis) Nandfamund, Chickahamania, and the bay of Kecoughtan, the next chiefe river is Pamaunke, on the right hand of which lyeth Werawocomoco, the chiefe refidence of their grand Caffique, the third River is Toppahanock, which descends from the Mountaines called Mannahoacks, the fourth River is called Patawomeke, and the fifth Pawtunxunt. The supream of all the Caffiques was called Powhatan, to whom the fmaller Caf-fiques called Werowances were fubordinate, the places first discover'd by the English were Croatan, the Isle of Roansack, Hatorsk, and Secotan, their chiefe Townes are James town, where the Colony was first planted, and Henry-town. The chiefe towns of the Natives were Pomejock, Weapemeock, and Secota. On the west fide of the great Virginia Bay, there lyeth a Province called Maryland, on the North fide of the River Patomuck, and divided from Virginia by the faid River.

In that part of the continent of America which lyeth between Virginia and New-England, the Dutch have a Plantation called Novelle Belgique or New-Netherlands which was first discovered by Henry Hudson an English-man, who was fent by the East India company of the united Provinces to finde out a passage towards Tartarie and China, it begins at Cape Malebar and extends it felfe Westward as far as Cape Corneille, among the Plants of this Country the cheife, are a fort of Turquiebeanes having an admirable variety of colours, the grand river of this Country is Manhattes, the chiefe Townes are New-Amsterdam, Hellegat, Fort Orenge, and others.

Thus having briefly toucht upon all the other parts of America, I come now to that which was primarily defigned, namely a defcription of the first Discovery, and also of the present state of New-England.

A Description of NEW-ENGLAND, and particularly of the Province of MAIN.

T Hat part of Northern America which we call at this day New-England, is between the 41 and the 45' degree of Latitude, in the year 1606. this Country began to be poffeffed of English by publick Authority, there being a grant made by

by King James to certain Gentlemen and Merchants, to bring their Colonies both into the Northern and Southern parts, onely it was injoyn'd them to leave a hundred miles of void fpace between one company and the other, and not to incroach any nearer then the bounds prefcribed. Into the North parts Henry Chalon was first fent, who was taken by the Spaniards, about the fame time Thomas Haman was fent by Sie John Popham Lord chiete Juttice of England toward the river of Sagadehoc to the fuccour of Chalon, but not finding him, after he had fcowr'd the coaft all about, he return'd back again to England, afterwards at the expence of the faid Sir John Popham a hundred men were transported to settle a Colonie at Sagadehoc who feated themfelves in a peninfule, which is at the mouth of this river, where they built a fortrefs to defend themfelves from their enemies, which they named St. George, the Commander of this Company was George Popham, and the Master of the Ship Rawleigh Gilbert, they attempted to difcover the river, and met with a wood which was near unto an Island, where they eafily went on shore, this place was diftant from the line about 45 degrees and some odde scruples, the soile is not very fruitfull, although there are many woods, and those full of Oakes, the Salvages live much after the fame fashion as those in other parts, they are much tormented with an evill spirit, which they call Tanto, whom they rather fear then honour, in the year 1608. the Governour of the Colonie deceasing, and a little after him the Lord chiefe Juffice, who had been the chiefe that had turnisht them with fresh supplyes, they abandon'd the Colonie and returned for England in those Ships that had been fent them with fuccours, at which unexpected return, the Pations of the defigne were fo offended, that for a certain time they defifted from their enterprises, in the mean while the French making use of this occasion, placed Colonies in divers places, untill fuch time as Argall coming from Virginia disturbed their defignes, over hrew their Colonies and brought away Prifoners all he could lay hold on ; not long after Captain Hobson and others were set out with very great preparations, and with them two Salvages which had been  $D_2$

been detained for fome time in England, whom they thoughtto make use of, the better to draw the reft of the Natives to their commerce, but in regard that a little before their arrivall, a certain English-man named Hunt, had brought away from that place 24 of the Salvages whom he had by treachery, and under pretence of friendship inticed into his Ship. and as it came afterwards to be known, had fould them to the Spaniards in the streights of Gibraltar, the Salvages from thence contracted fo great an animofity toward the English. that Captain Hobson was constrained to return without doing. any thing. In the year 1614 Captain John Smith was fent ( to fifh for Whales, and to teek for Mines of gold and filver )who landed upon the Island of Monahiggan, he found fome ftore of Whales, but not those kinde of Whales which afford fo much profit by reason of their Oile; the next year being fent again, he fell into the hands of French Pirates, who detain'd him Prisoner for a certain time, neverthelesse one of the Salvages which Hunt had fold to the Spaniards, hapning to fall into the hands of the English, they again conceived new hopes, and having with much difficulty obtain'd a new Patent from the King, they a little after brought a new Co-Ionie into those parts. But before I proceed to the farther mention of the perfecting of this plantation, It will not be amiffe to acquaint you with the occasion of the aforemention'd Captain Chaloungs being fent upon this voyage ; after the univerfall peace concluded between King Fames and all the neighbouring Princes ; divers refolute spirits who wanted imployment hunted after adventures abroad, and among those not a few were eager to make farther discoveries into the new World, about which time there hapned to come into the harbour of Plymouth, one Captain Waymouth, who had been imploy'd by the Lord Arundel of Warder for the discovery of the North-west passage, this Captain Waymouth brought five of the Natives along with him into England, of whom great use was made toward this intended designe ; My Grand-father Sir Ferdinando Gorges, who at that time commanded in the Fort and Illand of Plymouth, took thefe Natives into his cuftody, and having kept them full three yeares yeares, he made them capable to inform him of all things that were of concernment to the furthering of his deligne. and to fet him down what great rivers ran up into the Lind, what men of note were feated on them, of what power they were, and how ally'd, upon these credible informations which the Natives had given him, he fent away a Ship furnisht with men and provisions convenient for the fervice intended under the command of Captain Henry Challoung; with whom he fent two of the Natives to make good the informations they had given him, upon which he grounded his Inftructions to the Captain and the Mafter of the Ship, frictly injoyning them not to fwerve from them, but the Captain falling fick of a Feaver, they were forc's to put in at S. F. de Porto Rico, where they flaid till his recovery, after which going on in their intended course, they were taken by the Spanish Fleet coming from Havana, fo that this voyage was overthrown and the two Natives loft. But Captain Prinne whom my Lord chiefe justice Popham dispatch't away from Briftom, foon after the fending of Captain Challoung, arrived happily in those parts, and brought back with him at his return the most exact discovery of that Coaft that ever had been gain'd till then, whereupon my Lord chiefe I ffice and divers other Lords speedily procured his Majefties Authority for the fetling of a Plantation in that part of America. which was to be undertaken by divers Gentlemen and Merchants of the West of England, as the Plantation of Virginia was undertaken by those of the City of Londin, it was about the year 1607 when my Lord chiefe Juffice and his aff ciates of the west Country, sent from Plymouth three Saile of Ships under the command of Captain Popham Prefident, Captain Ramleigh Gilbert and divers other eminent perfons, as I have already mention'd, you have also heard how that after the death of Captain Popham their Prefident, and of the Lord chiefe Jaftice Popham, which was foon after, those of the Plantation were fo discourag'd, that notwithstanding the fresh supplyes which had been fent them, they all with one confent returned back for England, to the great discontent of the chiefe Promoters of the defigne. My Grand-father (not-- D 3

(notwithstanding all these difasters) was so constant to his first resolutions, that he became owner of a Ship himselfe, which he fent into those parts for further trade and difcovery, with Mr. Vines and feverall others of his own fervants; and this course he held for some yeares together, at length there came to him one Captain Harly, and brought along with him a Native of the Island of Capawike, called Erpenow, by which meanes he conceived new hopes of reviving this long languishing defigne, especially having recover'd Affacumet one of the Salvages formerly fent with C. Chaloung ; upon which encouragements, he took care to difpatch away C. Harly, with necessaries convenient for such a voyage, the Earl ot Southampton favouring the defigne, and furniching him with fome Land-fouldiers under the command of Captain Habson, who by reason of Erpenow's escape, and other disafters which befell, was (as I have intimated ) before conftrained, to return back without effecting any thing of moment. In the year 1615. Sir Richard Hakings undertook a voyage into those parts by Authority from the Councell of the fecond Colonie, but by reason of the great Warres among the Natives, his observations could not be such as might give us any farther light, then what had already been received; but not long after Captain Dormer being disappointed of his meanes to come from the New-found Land to New-England, took shipping for England, and came to my Grand-father at Flymouth, giving him an accompt what his hopes were to be able to doe him fervice, if he pleased to imploy him; whereupon he dispatch't him away in his own Ship with the company he had gotten together, appointing him first to meet with Captain Rocraft, who had been sent to New-England a little before, but hearing that Rocraft was gone to Virginia, he immediately directed his course thither, thinking to have met with him there, but Rocraft being dead, and all loft that fhould have fupply'd him, he foon made his return, and coming to Capawike, he fet himfelfe asshore there with all his people, where Erpenom the Salvage that had formerly made an elcape, feeing him, confpired with fome of his tellows to take him Prifoner, which they had had effected, had he not detended himfelfe with great valour and refolution, nor did he come off without being wounded in fourteen or fifteen severall places, and those wounds fo dangerous, that he was forc'e to goe to Virginia to be cured of them, where he fell fick and dyed; After he had made fo many tryalls of the flate and commodities of the Country, and of the nature of the people, he thought it expedient to use the like care and order for affaires in this Northern Plantation, as the Virginia company had done for the Southern, and thereupon he imparted his defires to fome of the Lords of the privy Councell, by whole favours and meanes, he obtained his Majefties Royall Charter to be granted according to his warrant to the Sollicitour Generall, the Copie of which is fet down at large in his own relation; This patent was no fooner past under the great feal, but certain of the company of Virginia took great exceptions thereat, as conceiveing it to be a matter which tended very much to their prejudice, in fo much that they made feverall complaints to the King, and the Lords of the Councell, who notwithstanding after many ferious debates, found no caufe why there should be any thing revoked of what had been granted, yet they fill profecuted the bufineffe fo far, that it was brought to a hearing the next Parliament that fate, where my Grand-father being fummoned to appear three or four severall times, he ftill made answer to all fuch objections as were made by the House against him in behalfe of the Company of Virginia, wherewith he made no queftion, but he had sufficiently fatisfied the most part of the House, for as much as they forbade the Lawyers to fpeak any more, but his opposites used fuch powerfull meanes, that when the Houses presented the publique greivances of the Kingdome. that of the patent for New-England was the first, and which gave him a farther trouble, the Count of Tilliers, Embaffador for the King of France, laid claim to those Territories, in behalfe of the King his Mafter, whereunto he made fo full a reply, that there was no more heard of that claime, the Dutch alfo began to trade with the Natives in Hudfons river, and flood to peremptorily upon their tearmes, had not fpeedy speedy complaint been made to the States, who utterly difown'd the busineffe, that their designe of intruding upon us, was clearly to be discerned ; During this controversie between my Grand-father and the Virginia company, divers Families that had retired themselves into Holland for liberty of conscience, being invited by the faid company to become Enterprizers in this Plantation, and willingly accepting the occasion profer'd, they were scarcely well setled in the Country ere they perceiveing that the Authority which they had from the Virginia company, could not warrant their abode in that place, which they found fo prosperous and so agreeable to them, they made their application immediately, to my Grand-father, defiring him to mediate for them to the Councell of New-Englands affaires to fettle them in that Plantation, which was accordingly performed to their great fatisfaction, which place was afterwards called New-Plymouth, about this time my Uncle Captain Robert Gorges, was imployed by the Councell of New-Englands affaires, as their Leifetenant Generall to regulate the abuses of divers fishermen and other Interlopers, who without order or licence frequented those Coafts; for which his good fervice, he had affigned unto him by a patent from the Councell, all that part of the main Land commonly called Meffachufiack, fcituate upon the Northeast fide of the bay of Meffachusett ; Leiftenant Collonell Norton likewife undertaking to fettle a Plantation upon the river of Agomentico, if my Grand-father pleas'd to bear a part with him, upon which motion he was contented that I my felfe should be nominated, together with him and the reft, whereupon at his interceffion to the Lords, we obtained a patent among us, of twelve thousand Acres of Land upon the East fide of the river Agomentico to my Affociates, and twelve thousand more upon the West fide to my felfe, the Leiftenant Collonell going over with fome of his Affociates to take poffession of their territories, there was fent over in my ftead, my Couzen, Captain William Gorges, who had been my Grand-father's Leiftenant in the Fort of Plymouth, with divers Workmen for the building of Houfes, Mills, and all things neceffary for the fettlement of our

our defignes, and we had the more hopes of a happy fucceffe of these affaires, by reason that not far from that place, there had been fettled fome yeares before, Mr. Richard Vines a fervant of his, of whole care and diligence he had formerly made much triall in his affaires, after the breaking up of the Parliament, by reason of fome discontents between the King and fome of the Members, feverall perfons that were disaffected to Episcopall Government made application to the Counfell of New-England affaires for the fetling of a Colony within their limits; whereupon my Lord of Warwick writ to my Grand-Father then at Plymouth, to give his confent that a patent might be granted to fuch as then fued for it. which he did, lo far forth as it might not be prejudiciall to the Interest of his Sonne Robert Gorges, whereupon a Grant was paffed by his Majefty, and confirmed under the Great Seal of England, by the authority of which, the undertakers went on fo prosperously, that in a short while great numbers reforted of all forts of People, fo that what he had laboured to bring about before with fo much paines and fo little fucceffe, was now effected in a high measure, but the greateft inconveniencie was, that this Country proov'd a receptacle for divers forts of Sects and Schifmes which contemn'd the Ecclefiasticall Government of this Kingdome as it ftood at that prefent, whereupon it was ordered that none should be fuffered to passe into N w-England, but those that thould take the Oaths of Supremacy and Allegiance, however, daily reports were still brought over of their continued opposition to the Authority that was then in being, infomuch that at last my Grand-Father with fome others were taxed as the Authors of all thefe diforders, to which he alleadged that although he had earneftly fought the planting of those parts, yet these things happened very much contrary to his expectation, which answer though it ferved for the prefent, yet it could not wipe away the jealoufie that was entertained of him, whereupon according as he was advised he moved those Lords that were the chief actors in the bufineffe that they might refign their Grand Patent to the King, and paffe particular Patents to the nfelves themselves of fuch parts of the Country along the Sea-Coast as might be sufficient for them to this motion, there being a generall affent given by the Lords, and a day appointed for the conclusion thereof, an A& was made for the refignation of the Patent, allotting to each particular Man their feverall bounds, from the uttermost West-part began the limits of the Lord of Mongrave, and ended at Hudson's River, to the Eastward of which River for the space of 60 miles in length, was placed the Dake of Richmond's affignment, next to him was fetled the Earle of Carlile, next him the Lord Edward Gorges, next, the Marqueffe Hamilton, then Captain John Mason, and laftly my Grand-Fathers bounds extended from the middeft of Merimeck to the great River Sagadebock being 60 miles, and fo up into the Main Land 120 miles ; this Province being thus confirmed to him as you have already heard by Patent, he called it by the name of the Province of Main, of which I shall give you a particular description after I have finishe that of New-England in generall, of which you have already had a brief account of the whole progreffe of affaires from the first discovery of it, and what attempts have been made for the plantation of it untill this laft Age. in which it is grown to be a prosperous and well peopled Colonie.

But before I come to the more exact defcription of the Country and the commodities thereof, it wil be convenient to profecute the remainder of the Hiftory, and to give a breif account of all themoft materiall paffages that have hapned within thefe few yeares laft paft. In the yeare 1628, after a perfect difcovery had been made which was cheifely effected by my Grandfathers vaft charges, and his unwearied paines, & travaile in the bufineffe, and that a large gap was opened to the free poffellion of that Country. People of all forrs flocked thither in great numbers, effectially fuch as were difcontented at the form of Church Government then fetled in this Nation, and had retired to Holand for liberty of confcience, as hath been before fpecified; the Indians about that time beheld to their great amazment that blazing blazing Comet (fomuch noted in Europe) which appear'd after Sun-fetting in their Horizon South-weft for the fpace of 30 fleeps, (for fothey reckon their daies) after which uncouth fight, they expected some firange things to follow, the whole Nation of the Mallachuletts having been a little before that affrighted with the arrivall of a fhip of ours in their bay, wondring exceedingly what firange creature it thould be, when they beheld a great thing moving toward them upon the Water, especially when having let fly their arrows at it out of their Canons, thinking to have kill'd it, the Master caused a peice of Ordnance to be fired, whereby the the poor Indians ftruck with a Pannick feare hasted to the shore, but when our men appeared and produced their copper Kettles, they were by degrees invited to trade with us for Beaver skins; the Summer after the blazing ftar ( which moved from the East to West ) even a little before the English removed from Holland to Plimouth in New-England, there befell a very great mortality among the Indians, the greatest that had ever hapned in the memory of man, or been taken notice of by tradition, laying defolate the Eaft, and by the Northern parts the County of Pockanckie, Agiffawamg, the Abarginny men confifting of Wippanaps, Tarantines and The Sagamore-fbips, or perty Kingdoms of the Mattachuletts the Nianticks, Narrowganffitts, & Pecods, their Powwows or Doctors were amazed to fee their Wigwams or ftreets lie full of dead bodies, and neither Squantam their good, nor Abbamoch their bad God could help them, which very much facilitated the landing of the English not long after in Plimeuth Plantation, who comming but with a handfull of men found little or no reliftance, being onely fent to keep poffession for the brethren who arrived Eight daies after, when the Natives appearing with their bows, and arrows let flye their long shafts among them; but one Captain Miles Standif with his fowling peice that the flouteft Sacham, among the Indians upon the right arm as he was reaching an arrow from his quiver, whereupon they all fled away with great fpeed through the woods and thic-E 2 kets.

The fourth town is Bofton the Center and Metropolis of Boftone the reft, built in form of a heart, and fortified with two hills on the frontice part thereof, the one having great ftore of Artilleric mounted thereon, the other having a ftrong batterie built of whole Timber and filled with Earth, at the descent of the Hill, lies a large Cave or bay, on which the cheife part of this towne is built, over topped with a third Hill, all three like overtopping Towers keeping a conftant watch to fore-fee the approach of forraign dangers, the cheifest part of this City-like town, is crouded upon the Seabanks, and wharfed out with a great industry and cost, the edifiesc large and beautifull, whole continuall inlargement prefageth some sumptuous City.

Between Bofton and Dorchefter is fituated the town of Roxbury, watered with coole and pleafant Springs iffuing forth the Rocky Hills, and with fmall freshets watering the vallies of this fertile town, the form of it refembleth a wedge double pointed, entring between the two above mentioned towns, and in the roome of those fwamps and tearing bushes which were there before, they have now goodly Fruit-Trees, fruitfull Fields and Gardens.

Between Salem and Charles Town is fituated the Town of Lynne, near to a River whole firong freshet at the end of Lynne. Winter fileth all her banks, and with a violent torrent vents it felle into the Sea, this town is almost fquare, confisting of above a hundred dwelling houses, having also an Iron Mill in conftant use, the Church being on a levell Land undefended from the North-West-Wind is made with steps defending into the Earth.

The 7th Town is called Water-Town, fituated upon one water-town of the branches of Charles-River, watered with many pleafant Springs and fmall Rivilets running like veines E 3 throughout throughout her body, this town begau by occasion of Sir Richard Saltingstall, who arriving with flore of Cattell and Servants wintered in these parts, it confisteth of 160 Families; in the year 1631 John Winthrop Efg; was againe chosen Governour, and Thomas Dudly Efq; Deputy-Governour, and the number of Free-Men added was about 82 all which honoured perfons were now in place of Government, in the absence of bread, the People fed upon filh, the Women reforting once a day as the Tidegave leave, to gather Muffels and Clambankes, about this time the Indians that lived among them fled to them, for feare of the Tarratines a fort of cruell and favage Caniballs, and neer the Town of Lynne then called Saugust, in the very dead of the night, one Lievetenant Walker of a fuddain hearing a great noife, and prefently after was that through his Coate and bis Buffe Jacket with two Indian Arrows, that night they flood upon their Guard, the next morning they fent word to other parts who gathered together, and taking councell how to quit themselves of these Indians, they agree'd together to discharge their great Guns, whose redoubling noife rattling in the Rocks, caus'd the Indians to . betake themfelves to flight, the Autumn following, the Indians (who till then had held a good correspondency with the English) began to quarrell about the bounds of their Land, but a great Mortality breaking out among the Inlians who died in great numbers of the difeafe commonly called the Small-Pox, put an end to that controversie, there died among the reft one of the chief Sagamores of the Mattachulets called Sagamore John, who before his death was instructed in the Christian Faith, and toook care that his two Sons should be nurtured therein.

In the year 1633 the Governours before mentioned fill governing, there was erected between Charles. Town and Water-Town, a Town called New Town, fince named Cambridge, in forme like a lift of Broad-Cloath, reaching to the most foutherly part of Merimeck-River, it hath comely and well ordered fireets compleated with the fair building of Harver Colledge, this Town was appointed to be the Seat of Government, Government, but it continued not long : In the year 1634 Thomas Dudly Elq; was chosen Governour, and Mr. Roger Ludlow Deputy Governour, the Free-Men added to the Government were two hundred and four.

The 9th town called Ip/wich, is fituated on a faire and delightfull River, Iffuing forth from a very pleafant Pond, Ip/wich, and afterwards breaking its courfe through a hideous fwamp of large extent, it lies in the Sagamoressipp or Earldome of Aggawan, now by the English called Esse.

Twelve miles from Ip/wich near upon the Streames of Merrimeck-River is lituated the 10th Town called Newberry ; Newberry, In the year 1635 Mr. John Haines was chosen Governour and Mr. Richard Bellingham Deputy-Governour, the number of Free-Men added to this little Common-Wealth, were about 145. This year there arrived feverall thips with great plenty of provisions and many perfons of good quality came in them, among whom were Sir Henry Vain, Richard Saltingstal Elq; Son to the above-named Sir Richard Saltingstal, Mr. Roger Harlackenden, Oc. this year the People of Cambridge other wife called New-Town, hearing of a fertile place upon the River Caneflice removed thither, and being out of the Matrachulets Patent they crected another Government, called by the Indian name Caneflico, being encouraged thereto by the Lord Say and the Lord Brooks, who built a forrest at the mouth of the river and called it Say-Brook forreft, paffing up the river they built a town which they called Hariford, divers others from severall parts comm- Hartford. ing into the Roomes of those that departed from Cambridge town.

The 12th Town feated upon a faire fresh river (whose rivulets are filled with fresh-marsh, and her streames with fish, it being a branch of that large river of Merimeck Alwives ) is built in the Inland country and called Con-Concordcord, it confistent at present of above 50. families, their buildings are for the most part conveniently placed on one streight stream under a Sunny-bank, in a low levell, the People that first set forth to build this town suffained great hard-ship and misery by reason of the uncouth waies waies and extremity of the weather, it being the firft Inland town that was built South-Eaft of Charles-river, upon the Sea-coaft, is feituated the town of Hingham, the form is fomewhat intricate to deferibe by reason of the Seas wasting crookes where it beats upon a moultring fhore, yet in fome places the freets are compleat, it confifteth of about 60. families. In the yeare 1638. Sir Henry Vaine was chosen Governer and John Wintbrop Efq; Deputy Governer the number of Freemen added about eighty three.

The 1Sth town is in Plimouth Government scituate upon the Sea coaft first named Dukes-Bury afterward Sand-Dures-bury or Sandwich. wich, this yeare there was a great controverly between the Churches of New-England and a fort of fectariescalled Gortenists, In the year 1637. John Winthrop Esquire was chosen governor, and Thomas Dudly Esquire Deputy Governor, the number of Freemen added 125, by the way I have thought fit in this place to give a breif account of the civill and ecclefiafticall Government of this Country; the cheife Court and supream Power of the Common-wealth confifts of a mixt Magistracy part Arifocracy, part Democracy, which are yearly chosen by the Major vote of the Freemen throughout the Country, they have hitherto had about 12.0r 13. Magistrates in the Colony of the Mattacufets, the other Colonies have not aboves. or 6. they have hither to been volunteers Governing without pay from the people onely the Governer of the Mattacufets hath fome years 1001.allowed him fome years leffe out of the severall townes their Deputies were chosen whofe number was ordinarily between 30 and 40 for their. Auditer Generall for the County, Treasurer for the County, Secretary for the County, Clark of the Deputies, Survayour General of the Armies. for the Church Government it confifts, partly of Presbyterian discipline, partly of the congretionall way commonly called Independency.

About this time a cruell and Barbarous Nation of the Indians called Peaquods lying to the Southwest of the Mattacufets were were discover'd within some few miles of Hartford town. by one of the English; their comming ftruck a great terrour into all that inhabited the parts thereabout, but they onely took three Women and return'd, one of them making a violent refistance, had her braines beaten out, the other two they carried away with them, not offering to abufe their perfons. (as was supposed they would, ) for they effeemed their own fhiws being black beyond our women, their chiefe defigne was to learne of them to make Gun-powder, which feeing they could not tell, they looked on their prize as nothing for pretious as they j magin'd; a little after, another Indian war threatning the English, they resolved together to lend an Embaffage to Cannonicus, chiefe Sachem of the narrow ganfet Indians, thereby indeavouring to prevent him from confederating with the Peaquods, who, as they had intelligence, were about fending to him to that purpose, Canninicus being grown old, had refigned the Government to his Nephew Miantinemo, a stern Man, and of a cruell nature.

The Embaffadours arriving at his Court, which was about 80 miles from Boston, the Indian King gathered together his chiefe Councellours, and having entertain'd them magnificently, and feasted them royally, gave them audience in his State house, where the Sachem to manifest the greater ftate, lay along upon the ground, with all his Nobility fitting about him, with their legges doubled up, and their knees touching their chin; the English Interpreter having made his speech in the name of the reft, both Cannonicus, and the young King returned very difcreet answers, fignifying their refolutions to keep a fair correspondency with the English, and yet not to fall with the Peaquods, who a little after making also their addreffes to the fame King, he diffwaded them by many reasons from making war with the English, and to deliver into their hands those perfons that murthred any of them, the Peaquods nevertheleffe though they feemed inclinable to his councell, yet they acted as enemies, for when the English fent a company of Souldiers into their Country, to treat with them about delivering up the murtherers, they made fhew of willingnesse, but fpying F their their advantage, they betook them to their heeles, and as foon as the English were returned home, the Peaguods nor onely infulted over them in a most reviling manner, but alio blasphemed their God, whereupon they raised fresh Souldiers for the Warre, to the number of fourscore out of the feverall towns in the Mattachusets, and with some Indian guides they came to their Fort, within which they had pitcht their wigwams, the entrance being on two fides, with intricate Meanders to enter, at which were placed Indian Bowmen, and that the formost of the English on the th ulder, yet they quickly difpatcht them, and ruthed in through the winding ways, and placing themfelves round the wigwams, they made a fhot with the muzzles of the mulquets down to the ground, on which the Indians lying afleep, were rouzed with very great terrour, and defeated with very little adoe. moft of them being either wounded, killed, or taken ; the English being thus poffett of the first victory, fend their prifoners to the pinnaces, and profecute the Warre in hand, to the next Battalia of the Indians, which lay on a hill about two miles diftant, where they gave them a fecond overthrow. flaying many more of their enemies, the reft flying to a very thick inacceffible fwamp or bogge, were therein befieged by the English, and skulking up and down, as they faw their opportunity, they would make that at them with their arrows, and then fuddainly fall flat along in the water, at laft the English finding out a paffage into the fwamp, utterly defeated them, and put an end to the war, with the loffe of few mens lives, and but few wounded.

The fame year there was a Syncd convented by the Divines of New-England at Cambridge town, it being the first Synod that had been ever called in this Country, it confisted of 25 Divines, besides divers other eminent Perfors, who met together for the suppressing of errours and schifmes, a Catalogue of the several errours that had been spread in New-England, being there produc't to the number of 80, and liberty given to any man to dispute pro & con 5 and none to be charged to be of that opinion, unless he declared himselte so to be.

About

About this time a new supply comeing over into these parts, and not finding in the Mattachusetts government any commodious place to settle in, they after much search took up a place somewhat more southwardly near the shalles of Lapecod, where they found a commodious harbour for shipping, and a fit place to erect a Town in, which they built in a short time, with very fair Houses, and compleat Streets, and shortly after severall others, among which they erected a new Government, which from their first frontier Town Newsaven. was called Newhaven.

The fourseenth Town in the government of the Mattacufetts is called Dedham, being an Inland town scituate about ten miles from Boston in the County of Suffolk, well water'd with Dedham, many pleasant streames, and abounging with Gardens and fruit-trees, it confists of about a hundred Families, being generally given to Husbandry.

The fifteenth Town of this government is called Waymouth batter'd on the East with the Seas briny waves, on the Waymouth. Southwest rocks and swamps make it delightfull to the Deer, as the plowable Medow-lands are to the Inhabitants.

In the year 1638, John Winthrop Elquire was cholen Governour, Thomas Dudley Elquire Deputy governour, the number of Freemen added 130. Printing was also brought over into New-England about the fame time, and about fix miles from Ipfwich Northeastward was erected another town Rowing called Rowly; The fourth day of June about two a clock in the afternoon, a generall Earth-quake hapned throughout all the English Plantations, it came from the Western parts, and went the direct courle Eaftward ; The civill government proceeding to the cenfure of feverall Hereticks and erroneous persons banisht them to a place more Southward, some fetling themfelves in the Ifland of Providence, others in an Island about fixreen miles diftant, called Rode Island ; about this time feverall well minded people began to crect a Colledge at Charles town, to which one Mr. John Harverd was Harverd very affiftant, and at his death gave a thoufand pound toward Colledge. it, whence it was call'd Harverd Colledge.

chofen Governour, and Thomas Dudly Efquire Deputy Governour, the number of Freemen added were about 83, about this time began the town of Hampton in the County of Norfelk to be built, it is scituate meare the Sea-coast, not far from the river of Merimeck, the great flore of falt marsh there did intice the people to set down their habitations there. Nor far from this town of Hampton, was erected another town called Salsbury, feated upon the broad fwift torrent of Merrimeck river, it lyeth on the Northern fide over againft the town of Newberry, the river between them being about halfe a mile broad, but hath an Islund in the midst thereof, which makes it the more eafily paffable, the leituation of this town is very pleafant, the branches thereof abounding in fair and goodly Meadows, with good ftore of ftately timber in many places upon the Uplands.

In the year 1640 came over a fresh supply of people into New-England, and finding no place to fetle in within any of the tormer crected Colonies, they repaired to a place called Long-Island, severed from the continent of Newhaven, about fixteen miles of the falt Sea, being about 120 miles in Southampton. length, yet but narrow, here the people erected a town called Southbampton ; the fame year alfo the town of Sudbury began to be built in the Inland Country, it is furnisht with great ftore of fresh marsh, but lying very low, it is much endammaged with Land-flouds, about this time there was built at Mount Wount, Wollestone by fome old Planters, and certain Farmers of the great town of Boston, a town named Braintree, being the twentieth town built within the Mattachusets Government, it is well peopled, and hath great ftore of land in tillage, this year allo was laid the foundation of another Colledge at Newtown, otherwise called Cambridge, being scituated upon a spacious plain, near a fair navigable river, and environed with many neighbouring towns of note, it is at present inlarged by the purchase of neighbourhouses, having a fair hall, convenient studies, and a good Library ; the chiefe Benefactour was one Mr. John Harnes, who expended about 500 pound towards it, belides a yearly revenue for the maintenance of a Ferry paffage, between Boton

Bolton and Charles town; the first prefident of this Colledge was Mc. Henry Duntar, an able proficient both in the Hebrew; Greek, and Latine tongues, and a man prudent in all things that belong to the well ordering and bringing up of youth.

In the year 1641. Richard Bellingham was cholen Governour, and John Endicut Elq; Deputy Governour, the number of Freemen added, were about 503. the one and twentieth Town erected in the Mattachufets government, was upon the Northern cape of the bay, called Cape Anne, at first peopled with Fisher-men, till one Mr. Richard Blindman coming from green harbour, a place in Plymouth Patten, with some few people of his acquaintance tetled here, built a Town, and named it Glocester; there is also feituate upon Puscataque eiver, Glocester. whereof being out of any of those Colonies mention'd, hearing of the prosperity of the Mattachusters Patten, defired greatly to submit themselves to their protection and government; they have here a good quantity of Meadow land, and good ground for Indian corn.

In the year 1642. was crected the three and twentieth town, called Wooburn. John Winthrop Esquire was chosen Govermour, and John Endicut Esquire Deputy Governour, the number of Free-men added, were about 1232.

The year following, being the year 1643. the fame Governours were again chosen, the number of Free-men added, were about 87. this year the four Colonies, namely the Mattachusets, Plimouth, Canedico, and New haven, taking into confideration the many Nations that were on all fides of them, as the French, Dutch, Jewes, and Nutive Indians ; as alfo how the three first were to lay claim to lands they ncver had any right to, and the last to be continually quarrelling and contending, where they faw any hopes of prevailing, and likewife how that though there were four feverall Colonies, yet Religion had already united them, hereupon by Commissioners sent from the severall Colonies, they concluded a firm confederation to affift cach other in all juft and lawfull Wars, this confederacy being ended, there came in certain Indian Sacheme, and submitted to the English government F 3

vernment, as Pomham, Soccananocoh, Miantonemo, and Unck, but between these Princes arote a very hot quarrell, which the English fought by all meanes to quench, but could not, it being tomented, as is suppos'd by fome vagabond English, who for their crimes were banisht from their complices at Rode Island, the Ringleader being one Samuel Gorton, the broacher of those herefies before mention'd, these Gortonits, as is faid lent Miantonemo a corfelet for fafeguard of his Perion, Unc.s was Prince of Forr, whole life Miant nemo, though a much more potent Prince, and a very auflere man, fought to take away by Treachery, hiring a young man of the Feaquod Nation to murther him, as the following flory renders luspected ; for one dark evening, this Sachem paffing from one Wigwam to another, was fhot through the arm with an arrow, but yet recovering the palace, he had the arrow rul'd our, and his wound cured, they young man who was fufpe-Eted, was examin'd how he came by that great flore of Wampumpeage which he had, and not being able to give a good account, and immediately flying to Miantonemo, it increased the fuspition, which caused Uncas to complain to the English at a generall Court, which they held at Bofton, hereupon the young man was examin'd in the prefence of Miantemo, who came thither with his attendance, but the young man tutour'd, as is suppos'd before hand, by Miantemo, pretended that Unc.s had injoyn'd him to faigne that he was hir'd by Miantemo to kill him, but they not beleiveing this tale, upon farther examination of him in private, concluded he had done the fact, nevertheleffe they let him depart with Miantemo, advising him to fend him home to Uncus, but he inflead of returning him, cut off his head, and forthwith gather'd an Army of a thousand men, to fight with Uncas, who met him with halfe the men, the battell being joyn'd, the Narrogansets, though far the greater multitude, were beaten by the Mawhiggins, through the valour of Uncus their Prince, who fought to perfect his victory by pollefling himfelfe of the perfon of their Prince, which he effected, putting his lif g ard to flight, and taking hold of the Sachem himfelfe, carried him victorioufly away to the town of Hartford, defiring firing to have advice of the united Colonies, what to doe with his Prifoner, but the Commillioners having had proofe of Miantonemo's treachery toward this Prince, and of fallifying his word with them, advised Uncas to put him to death. but not to exercise that barbarous cruelty, which is usual among them in fuch cafes, the Sachem upon this advice not many years after pretended to remove Miantems to a lafer place of cuftedy, and by the way caus'd hin to be executed, his fubjects and kindred were troubled at his death, but the leffer Princes his neighbours over whom he had tyrannized, rather rejoyc'c at it ; about this time fome English that inhabited those parts among the Indians by their permiffion, defired to have the benefit of the Mattachufets government, as they of Dover had done before, and upon the governments condescending, they had defigned to have fetled theic, and to have built a Town, but the Gortonits forbidding them to plant there, and doing them certain injuries, they complained to the Governour and Deputy, who yffuing out their warrants, fummoned them to appear, but they refus'd, and contemned their authority, after this they fent two meffengers on purpofe to perfwade them, but Samuel Gorton the ringleader of them, gave the Meffengers a peremptory refufall, and as foon they were gone, he writ a pamphlet full of deriding expressions against the Government, mocking also at the Sacraments, and at the mysteries of the New Tetament, whereupon at length the Governours fent a party of men well armed to apprehend him, and the reft of his company, they flood it out as long as they could, but at last they were taken, (all but two or three that ran away,) they floed peremptorily to what they had written, but their greatest purilhment was to be confind to certain towns for a tew months, and afterwards to be banishr.

In the year 1644. John Endicut Esquire was chosen Governour, and John Wintbrope Esquire Deputy Governour, the number of Freemen added, was about 145. there was also ordained one Generall Officer in time of War, under the name of a Major Generall, the first that was chosen to this office was Thomas Dudly Esquire; about this time Reading the the four and twentieth Town of the Mattachufets was built, it is well water'd and feituated about a great pond, having two Mills, a faw Mill, and a corn Mill, which ftand upon two feverall ftreames, a little after was built the fix and rwentieth Town in this Colonic, called Wenham, feituate between Salem and Ipfwich, it is very well water'd, as moft Inland Towns are, and the people live altogether upon Husbandry.

In the year 1645. Thomas Dudly Elquire was chosen Governour, and John Winthrop Elquire Deputy Governour, the number of Freemen added was 56. also John Endicut Eleu re was chosen Major Generall for this year, about this time was built the town of Havervill upon the river of Merimeck. This year the lons of old Cannonicus, their Father being dead, began to fall into hot contentions with their neighbours, and being forbidden by the united Colonies, they did not flick to threaten wars to the English also, whereupon the Commissioners raised an Army of horse and foot out of the Colonies, and made Major Generall Edward Gibbons Commander in chiefe over them, but the Indians hearing of this preparation, fent some of their chiefe Nobility to the Commiffioners of the united Colonies, who were affembled at Botton, to treat about a peace, to which the Commiffioners agreed, upon condition they should pay part of the charges of the war intended, and that they fhould fend four of their Sons for Hoftages, till the whole fum was paid, and the hostages being fent back before the Wapom was all paid, the two Princes Peficus and Mexanimo upon the fending a company of armed men to demand it, fent the remainder of the money.

About this time one Mr. Pinchin, having out of defire to improve his effate by trading with the Indians, fetled himfelfe in a place very remote from any of the towns of the Mattachufets Colonie, yet under their government, and great flore of people still reforting to him, they at last erested a town upon the river Canestico, calling it Spring-field, being the feven and twentieth Town of the Mattachufets government, it is very fitly feated for a Bever trade with the Indians, in in regard it is fituate upon this large Navigable River, and upon some Rivulets of the same.

In the year 1646 John Winthrop Elquire was chosen Governour, Thomas Dudly Elquire Deputy Governour, the number of Free-Men added 72. This year the General Court of the Mattachulets Government taking into confideration the many herefies that were daily broached, a fecond Synod was convented by them at the Town of Cambridge, wherein severall disputations were held about Religion, by which having agreed on all matters with a full concurrence of the affembly they were ordered to be put in Print. About the latter end of this year, appeared two Parelii or Images of the Sun, with some other strange Apparitions of Light about them like a Rain-Bow with the heele up-ward : This yeare the General Court appointed a Committee of divers Perfons to draw up a body of the laws for the well ordering this Common-Wealth, and to the end that they might be most agrecable to the Rule of Scripture, in every County there was appointed two Magistrates, two Ministers, and two able Perfons from among the People, who having provided fi ch a competent number as was fit, with those formerly enacted, new amended, they prefented them to the General Court, where they were again peruled and amended. and then another Committee chosen to bring them into form. and prefent them to the Court again, who in the yearc following pais'd an Act of confirmation upon them, fo that in the yeare 1648 they were Printed.

In the year 1647 John Winthrop Elquire was cholen Governour, Thomas Dudly Elquire Deputy-Govrenour, John Endicut Elq; Major Generall, the number of Free-Men added was about 85. This year divers perfons of quality ventured their effates upon an Iron work which they began at Braintree, which profited the owners little, but rather wasted their flock, in the price of labor was double or triple to what it was in England.

In the year 1648 the fame Magistrates were againe chofen, the number of Free-Men added was about 94. This year was founded the Town of Haverbill, about a mile or Haverbill, two from the place where the River of Merimeck receives its branches into it felfe, hard upon the River Shawsbin which is one of her three chiefe heads. Not long after the Town of Malden was built by certain people that came out of Charles-Town, these two Towns being severed the one from the other by the large River of Mistick, also at the town of Boston, by reason of the popularity thereos, being too many to meet in one assembly, they built another Church or Meeting-House, the North-East part of the Town being separated from the other by a narrow stream cut through a neck of Land by industry, whereby that is become an Island.

These were all the Town's of any account that were erected in N:10-England from the first beginning of that Plantatation untill the year 1648. It will not be a mifs now to acquaint you with the manner of their proceeding in the erecting of their Towns, which was thus ; Every Town that was to be built had its bounds fixed by the General Court, the Grant was to 7 Men of good and honeft report, upon condition that within two year they build Houses for habitation thereon, and fo go on to make a Town thereof upon the act of the Court, these seven Men have power to give and grant Out-Lands unto any perfons who are willing to take up their dwellings within the faid Precinct, and to be admitted to all common Priviledges of the faid Town, giving them fuch an ample portion both of Meadow and Up-Land, as their flock of Cattell and Hands were like to improve, yet fuch as were any way unfit for civill Society were not admitted to injoy any Free Hould, untill they did mend their mannere; Thefe 7 Men ordered and disposed of the Streets of the Town as might be best for improvement of Land, they refus'd not Men for their Poverty, but according to their ability, were helpfull to the pooreft fort, in building up their Houfes and diffributed to them Land accordingly, the poorest had fix or 7 Acres of Meadow, and about 25 of Up-Land. As for their Millitary Affaires, the Governour and Magistrates for the time being, are the Standing Councell as well for War as Peace, and and either they or the General Councell, may appoint any one whome they fhall think fit, to the effice of Major Generall of the four Counties, namely Suffock, Middlefex, Effex, and Norfolk, into which the Government is divided, each hath a Regiment belonging to it, over whom the chief Commander is onely a Sergant Major, fo that to every particular City or Town there belongeth a band or company of Souldiers, moreover this Country aboundeth at prefent, with all things neceffary for the commodious field of humain life, and through the Bleffing of G O D, and the Industry of the Inhabitants, that Soile bringeth forth all forts of Graines which are usual among us, and in as great plenty, likwife all kindes of Trades and Manufactures have been there of late very much improv'd.

There are in New England, 25. confiderable Havens, many of which are capable of above 500. Ships, fome of a thousand, the principall seat of the Salvages is near Penebscot toward the North, along the Southern coaft lie Macadacui, Segocket, Pemmaquid, Sagadabec, Nusconcus, &t. where feverall Nations of them inhabit, the cheife of which are Segetago, Pabiluntanuck, Pocopassum, Taughtanac gnet, Naffaque, Masbeco queck, Wawrigueck, Pafaranack & their Alies the Aucocifco, Accominticus Paffataquack, and others all which differ very little one from another in language & manners, and although they are divided into many provinces and particular Lordships, yet the Bestabees, which are feated along the banks of the river Penobscot, are the most confiderable of all the reft. The Mat ab n es inhabit two Islands full of Gardens and pleasant fields, about a League distant from the continent. The Massachusets inhabiting the middle of the Country, are a people of a very large fize, and differ from the reft of the Salvages both in language; euftomes and manner of commerce, they have among them great plenty of Beavers, and Otters. On the Eaftern coaft are the Tarentines being Allies to the Frerch, and having continuall Warres with the Beffebees, which inhabit on the other fide, a little farther the Cape Tragbizonda, otherwise called Champlain, St. Lovis, and by the Natives Wyngaerdshoeck, G 2 fhoots it felfe into the Sea by a long neck, before which lie three Iflands vulgarly called Tu kes-beades, from the filhing of this Country a great revenue may be drawn; in the Months of March, April, May, June, there are caught great quantites of Codfish, and in May, June, July, and Angust, as great a number of Sturgeons, and likewife an incredible multitude of Herrings. The Earth brings forth of its own accord divers forts of trees, as Oakes, Cedars, Pines, Pitch-trees, Aromatick-Canes, Saffafras, Oc. and among their fruit trees, the cheifest are Mulberries, Wallnuts, Filberds, Damfins, Chefnuts, Vines, Rafpiff.s. Goosberries, Strawberries, of those Fruits that grow from the feed, Melons, Ginny Beanes, Peafe, and Maiz, alto a fort of Hemp, of which the Natives make their nets; likewife befides that kind of Grain which the Savages were wont to fow, those that have been brought over from these parts, thrive very well in that foyle, the Merchants allo make very great profit of a certain precious Grain named Alkermes, which they fell at a very high price ; this Country is very commodious for Saltpits, and for Birds and Beafts, there is no Country in the World that yeilds, either better or in greater abundance ; thefe Birds which are there in greateft numbers are Turkycocks, Partridges, Swans, Cranes, Geefe, Ducks, and effecially when Strawberries, begin to be ripe. Of Harts and other the like fort of beafts there are a great number, which bring forth fometimes 3. or 4. Fawnes which is a remarkeable fign of the goodneffe of the Ayr and the foile.

There is a certain kind of Beaßt, frequent in these Countries, which the Savages call Messe, of the bignesse of an Oxe having the head of a Hart with large Horns, which they change every yeare, the neck like that of a Hart, the hair short from the neck all along the back, a loose skin hanging under the throat, the legges long with great steet after the manner of Cows, the taile a little longer then the taile of a Deer, the sleft is of a very good taft which the Savages keep a long time dried in the wind the hide of it is as thick and folid as the hide of a beef being profitable for many ufes, these Beafts are found in great aboundance in an Illand near the firm land called by the English Mount Mansel, where the Savages take them this manner ; after they have kindled a great many fires, they befet the Woods, and chace them towards. the Sea, into which they caft themselves of their own accord, then they purfue them with their Canow's and kil them ; there is no doubt but this Beaft might be made very ferviceable to man with a little painesand induftrie, heare are divers things befides, which yeild great profit by way of traffick, as feverall forts of fifh the skins of Beavers, Otters, black Foxes, Martins, and fuch other like Beafts ; alfo Hemp, Flax, Irin, Boards, and all forts of materialls, as also Fitch, both hard and liquid, which is there made, is a very profitable commodity, in fine we have not any thing brought either out of France, or Germanie, through the found of Denmark, which may not be had here with a little labour ; it is not unknown that Amber-greece, hath been fometimes found there upon the Seafhore, and there is no fmall hopes, alfo of the finding of Pearle. Administration

This Country being feituate in the midft of the temperate zone, in the space between the Artick circle, and the Tropick of Cancer, one would think it should injoy the fame temperature of Ayr, as France, and fome part of Iraly, but we find the contrary, for that part which borders upon the Sea, is of coulder Ayr, partly by reafon of the nearneffe of the Sea, the mounting of whole waves, break the reflexion of the Sun beames, partly by reason of the abundance of vapours, which mounting upward abate the ardour of them, but the more inland parts of the Country are indifferently warme, and hath been found by certain experience that those Countries which look toward the rifing of the Sun, are colder then those which lie toward the Weft or Sun-fetting, and those which have the evening windes on them are warmer then those which have the morning windes, which being fo, it followes G 3 lowes that the temperature of the Ayr in those regions is most proper and peculiar to the bodies of those of our Nation, who being accustomed to a climate fomewhat temperate, are neither able to indure extremity of celd. nor immoderate heat, and thus much I thought fit to publish concerning New-England, in discourse, besides the relation of all my Grand-Fathers proceedings for the effecting of what he fo long aim'd at, namely the feeling plantations in those paris, I have likewise given a very exact account of the Country, described both the feituation, the temperature of the climate the fertility of the foile, the nature and qualities of the people, the traffick and commodities the Country affordeth, in a more exact and methodicall manner, then hath hitherto been performed by any others, I shall now proceed to a breife description of the provinces of Laconia, and Main, which is that of New-England, which fell to my Grand-Fathers thare among the reft of the Patentees, wherein though I have already given a furvey of the whole region in Generall, yet they being a confiderable part of it ; I shall not want matter to speak something materiall concerning these two provinces in particular.

A Breife Description of Laconia; a Province in NEW-ENGLAND.

and Arriel Cardo, and

Mong divers Plantations of the English happily founded in New England, is a province to the Landward named Laconia fo called by reason of the great lakes therein, but by the ancient inhabitants thereof it is called the Country of the Troquoin.

It lies between the latitude of 44. and 45. degrees having the rivers of Sagadebsek and Myrameck on the Sea coaft of New England Southerly from it, into each of which rivers there is a flort paffage frequented by the Savager, inhabiting neare the lakes, allo it hath the great lakes which tend towards California in the South Sea on the Weft thereof, on the North Eaff is the great river of Canada, into which the faid river difgorgeth it felfe by a fair large river well replenifht with many fruitfull Ilflands; the Ayr thereof is pure and wholfome, the Country pleafant having fome high Hills full of goodly forrefls and faire vallies and plaines fruitfull in Corn, Vines, C'sefnuts, Wallnuts, and infinite forts of other fruits; large rivers well flored with fifh, and invironed with goodly Meadows full of Timber trees.

One of the great lakes is called the lake of Troquoia which together with a river of the fame name running into the river of Canada is Sixty or Seventy leagues in length.

In the lake are 4 fair Illands, which are low and full of goodly Woods and Meadows, having flore of game for hunting, as Stagges, Fallow-Dear, E kes, Roe-Bucks, Beavers, and other forts of Beafts which come from the Main Land to the faid Illands, the Rivers which fall into the lakes have in them good flore of Beavers, of the skins of which Beafts, as alfo of the Elkes, the Salvages make their chiefeft Traffique.

The faid lflands have been inhabited heretofore by the Savages, but are now abandoned by reafon of their late wars one with another, they contain 12 or 15 leagues in length, and are feated commodioufly for habitation in the midft of the lake, which abounds with divers kindes of wholfome Fifh.

From this lake run two rivers South ward which fall into ihe Eaftern and Southern Sea coaft of New England.

Into this lake there went many years fince certain French of Quebeck who fided with the Algovinquins with the help of their Canow's, which they carried the fpace of 5 miles over over the impossible falls, to fight a battaile in revenge of fome former injuries done by the Troquois to the Algovinguins who had the victory, for which caule the French have been fo hated ever fince by the nation of the Trequois, that none of them durft ever appear in any part of that lake, but their Beavers and other trade faid to be 16000 Bavers yearly, is parely fould to the Dutch who trade with the west end of the faid lake over land by Horfes, from their Plantation upon Hudson's River, and another part is conceived to be purchas'd by the Hiroons, who being Newters, are friends both to the one and the ofther, and these Hiroons bring down the greatest part of all the River of Canada. The way over Land to this great lake from the Plantation of Pascataway, hath been attempted by Captain Walter Neale once Governour, at the charges of my Grand-Father, Captain Majon and fome Merchants of London, and the difcovery wanted one days journy of finishing, because their victualls were spent, which for want of Horfes they were enforced to carry with their armes, and their cloathes upon their backs, they intended to make a fettlement for trade by Pinnaces upon the faid lake, which they reckon to be about 90 or 100 miles from the Plantatition over Land.

The People of the country are given to hunting of Wilde Beafts, which is their chiefeft food.

Their armes are bows and arrows, their armour is made partly of Wood and partly of a kinde of Twifted Stuffelike Cotton Wool.

Their meat is flowre of Indian Corn, of that Countrys growth fodden to Pap, which they preferve for times of neceffity when they cannot hunt.

This Province of Laconia, however known by a diffinct name, is included within the Province of Main, which offers it felfe next to our confideration.

Of the Province of MAIN.

A LL that part of the continent of New-England which was allotted by patent to my Grand-Father Sir Ferdinando Gorger, and to his Heites, he thought fit to call it by the name of the Province of Main. It takes its beginning at the entrance of Pascatoway-Harbour, and so passeth up the fame into the River of Newichwaveck and through the fame unto the farthest head thereof, and from thence North-Weffwards for the fpace of one hundred and twenty miles, and from the mouth of Pascatoway-Harbour aforefaid, North-Eastwards along the Sea-coaft to Sagadabook, and up the River thereof to Kynebequy River, even as far as the head thereof, and into the land North-Weft-wards for the space of 120 miles, to thefe territories are also adjoyned the North halfe of the Illes of Sheles, together with the Illes of Capaweck and Nautican, as also all the Islands and Islets lying within five leagues of the Main, all along the Sea-coaft between the aforefaid Rivers of Pascutoway and Sogadabock, he no fooner had this Province fettled upon him, but he gave publique notice that if any would undertake by himfelfe and his affociates, to transport a competent number of Inhabitants, to plant in any part of his limits, he would affigne unto him or them fuch a proportion of land as fhould in reason satisfie them, referving onely to himfelfe fome finall high rent, as 2 s or 2 s -- 6d for 100 acres per annum, and if they went about to build any Town or City, he would endow them with fuch Libertics and Immunities, as should make them capable to govern themselves within their own limits according to the liberties granted to any Town or Corporation within this Realm of England, and as for others of the meaner fort that went as Tenants, that they should have such quantities of Land affign'd them as they were able to manage, at the rate of 4d or 6d an Acre, according to the nature or inuation of the place they lettle in. As for the division of the Province and the form of Government which he intended to establish, he first divided the Province into severall parts, those he subdivided into distinct Regiments, East, West, North, and South, those again into severall Hundreds, Parishes and Tithings, and these to have their Isverall Officers to govern according to fuch Laws as fhould be agreed upon by publick affent of the Free Houlders, with the approbation of himfelfe or Deputy, and the principall Officers of the Publique State.

The fettled Government for the Generall State to whom all appeales were to be made, and from whom all Infructions for the Publique Welfare were to iffue, were to of himselte or his Deputy, who was to be confift chosen every three yeare by himselfe with the advice of his Councell : Next a Chancellour for the determination of all causes ; A. Treasurer to whome the care of the Publique Revenue was to be committed ; A Marshal whose office was to over-see the Regiments and to provide Men for Publick Service ; An Admiral to take care of all Maritime Affaires, to whom a Judge of the Admiralty was to be joyn'd to determine all Maritime Caufes ; A Master of the Ordnance, to looke to the Publique Armes and Ammunition ; A Secretary to receive intelligence, and to acquaint himfelfe or Deputy therewith. To these belong all their feverall Officers and Ministers for the execution of all matters proper to their feverall places.

The chief Town of this Province is called Gorgiana, which is govern'd by a Mayor, the reft are onely inconfiderable Villages or Scattered Houfes; but I doubt not after the government of New-England comes once to be thorowly fetled, and and good Encouragement given to Adventurers and Planters, but it will prove a very flourishing place and be replenisht with many faire Townes and Cities, it being a Province both fruitfull and pleasant.

Thus have I not onely briefly run over all the New World, but alfo more effectially treated of our Northern Plantations of America, wherein if I have not infifted fo largely upon particulars as others have done, yet at leaft I have furnich'd the READER with a much greater variety of memorable things, and that with a clearer Method than hitherto hath been obferv'd, a work not altogether unprofitable, and which if it finde a handfom reception among the more ingenuous fort of Men, I shall not think my Labour to have been ill bestowed.

CHAPTER I.

First Seisin Possession

AND NAME OF VIRGINIA.

Hat Sir Humphrey Gilbert, and Sir Richard Gcenvile, and many others, Noble spirits of our Nation attempted to settle a Plantation in the parts of America, in the Reigne of Queen Elizabeth is sufficiently published in the painfull collections of Mr. Hackluit, together with the vaciable success, of those undertakers of whofe labour and charge there remained no other fruit then the Primor foifin and royal poffession taken thereof, as of right belonging to the Crown of

of England, giving it the name of Virginia, in the memory and Honour of that Virgin Queen, the wonder of her Sex ; by whole Authority thole attempts took their first life, and dyed not till the actors ended their daies, and their cheife supporters, and advancers tryed with fo many fruitleffe attempts and endleffe charge without hope of profit to follow for many ages to come; fo that, that attempt had its end, as many others fince that of greater hopes and better grounded, but what fhall we fay? As nothing is done but according to the time fore decreed by Gods facred Providence, to doth he provide wherewith to accomplifh the fame in the fulneffe of it, but the mirror of Queens being fummoned to the poffef. fion of a more Glorious Reigne, left her terrestriall Crown to her Succeffor James, the Sixth of Scotland, to whom of right it did belong.

CHAPTER II.

The reasons and meanes of renewing the undertakings of Plantations in America.

T His great Monarch Glorioufly afcending his Throne, being borne to greatneffe above his Anceftors, to whom all fubmitted as to another Salemon, for wifedome and juffice, as well as for that he brought with him another Crown, whereby those Kingdomes that had so long contended for rights and liberties, perhaps oft times pretended rather to fatisfie their present purposes, then that juffice required it; But such is the frailty of humane nature as not to be content with what we possible, but firives by all meanes to enthrall the weaker that is necessitated to prevent the worft, though by fuch meanes fometimes to their greater ruine ; With this Union there was also a ger nerall peace concluded between the State, and the King of Spaine, the then onely enemy of our Nation and Religion. whereby our Men of war by Sea and Land were left deflitute of all hope of imployment under their owne Prince; And therefore there was liberty given to them (for preventing other evils) to be entertained as Mercenaries under what Prince or State they pleafed ; A liberty granted upon fhew of reason, yet of a dangerous consequence, when our friends and Allyes that had long travelled with us in one and the fame quarrell, should now finde our fwords sharpned as well against, as for them; Howfoever reason of State approved thereof, the World forbore not to cenfure it as their affections led them, others grew jealous what might be the iffue, especially when it was found that by such liberty the sword was put into their hands, the Law had prohibited them the ufe ; Some there were not liking to be fervants to forreigne States, thought it better became them to put in practice the reviving refolution of those free Spirits, that rather chose to spend themselves in seeking a new World, then servilely to be hired but as Slaughterers in the quarrels of Strangers : This refolution being ftronger then their meanes to put it. into execution, they were forced to let it reft as a dreame, till God should give the meanes to ftir up the inclination of such a power able to bring it to life ; And fo it pleafed our great God that there happed to come into the harbour of Plymouth (where I then commanded) one Captain Waymouth that had been imployed by the Lord Arundell of Warder for the difcovery of the North-Weft pallage.

But falling fhort of his Courfe, hapned into a River on the Coaft of America, called Pemmaquid, from whence he brought five of the Natives, three of whofe names were Manida, Skettwarroes, and Tafquantum, whom I feized upon; they were all of one Nation, but of feverall parts, and feverall Families; This accident muft be acknowledged the meanes under God of putting on foote, and giving life to all our Plantations, as by the enfuing difcourfe will manifeftly appeare. #### CHAPTER III:

Of the use I made of the Natives.

A Fter I had those people fometimes in my Custody, 1 observed in them an inclination to follow the example of the better fort; And in all their carriages manifelt thewes of great civility farre from the rudeness of our common people; And the longer I converted with them, the better hope they gave me of those parts where they did inhabit, as proper for our uses, especially when I found what goodly Rivers, stately Islands, and faste harbours those parts abounded with, bring the special marks I levelled at as the onely want our Nation met with in all their Navigations along that Coaft, and having kept them full three yeares, I made them able to fet me downe what great Rivers ran up into the Land, what Men of note were feated on them, what, power they were of, how allyed, what enemies they had, and the like of which in his proper place.

CHAPTER IV.

Captain Henry Challoung sent to make bis residence in the Countrey till supplyes came.

T Hole credible informations the Natives had given me of the condition and state of their Countrey, made me fend away a Snip furnished with Men and all necessaries, provisions provisions convenient for the service intended under the command of Captain Henry Challoung, a gentleman of a good Family, industrious, and of fair condition, to whom I gave fuch directions and instructions for his better direction as I knew proper for his use, and my fatisfaction, being grounded upon the information I had of the Natives, fending two of them with him to aver the fame, Binding both the Captain his Master, and company strictly to follow it; Or to expect the miscarriage of the Voyage to be laid unto their Charge, Commanding them by all meanes to keep the northerly gage, as high as Cape Britton, till they had difcovered the Maine, and then to beate it up to the Southward, as the Coast tended, till they found by the Natives they were neer the place they were affigned unto ; Though this were a direction contrary to the opinion of our best Sea-men of thefe times ; yet I knew many reasons perfwading me thereunto, as well as for that I underftood the Natives themfelves to be exact Pilots for that Coaft, having been accustomed to frequent the fame, both as Fishermen and in passing along the thoare to feek their enemies, that dwelt to the Northward of them; But it is not in the wit of Man to prevent the providence of the most High.

For this Captain being fome 100 leagues of the Ifland of Canara, fell fick of a Feaver, and the windes being Wefterly, his company shaped their course for the Indies, and coming to St. John De Porteriko, the Captain himselfe went a thoare for the recovery of his health, whiles the Company took in water, and fuch other provision as they had prefent ule of, expending fome time there, hunting after fuch things as beft pleafed themfelves ; That ended, they fet their courfe to fall with their owne height they were directed unto; By which meanes they met the Spanish Fleet that came from Havana, by whom they were taken and carried into Spaine, where their Ship and goods were confifcate, themfelves made Prisoners, the voyage overthrowne, and both my Natives loft ; This the gaine of their breach of Order, which afterwards observed, brought all our Shippes to their defired Ports ; The affliction of the Captain and his Company Company put the Lord Chiet Justice Popham to charge, and my felfe to trouble in procuring their libertice, which was not fuddainly obtained.

CHAPTER V.

The Lord Chief Justice dispatching Captaine Prin from Bristoll for the Supply of Captaine Challounge.

CHortly upon my fending away of Captaine Challounge, it I pleafed the Lord Chiefe Juffice according to his promile to dispatch Captain Prin from Briffoll, with hope to have found Captaine Challounge, where by his inftructions he was affigned, who observing the same, happily arrived there, but not hearing by any meanes what became of him, after he had made a perfect discovery of all those Rivers and Harbours he was informed of by his inftructions, (the featon of the yeare requiring his return ) brings. with him the most exact discovery of that Coast that ever came to my hands fince, and indeed he was the beft able to performe it of any I met withall to this prefent, which with his relation of the Country, wrought fuch an impreffion in the Lord Chiefe Juffice, and us all that were. his affociates, that ( notwithstanding our first dilaster) we fet up our refolutions to follow it with effect, and that upon better grounds, for as yet, our authority was but in motion.

The diffatch of the first Plantation, for the second Colonie sent from Plymouth.

Y the fame Authority all things fully agreed upon D between both the Colonies the Lord cheife juffice his friends and affociates of the Weft Country, fent from Plymouth Captain Popbam as president for that imployment with Captain Rawley Gilbert, and divers other G ntlemen of note in three faile of thips with 100. land-men, for the feizing fuch a place as they were directed unto by, the counfell of that Colonie, who departed from the coaft of England the one and thirtieth day of May, Anno 1607. and arrived at their Rendezvouz the 8th of August following; as soone as the President had taken notice of the place, and given order for landing the provifions, he difpatcht away Captain Gilbert with Skitwarres his guide for the through discovery of the rivers and habitations of the Natives, by whom he was brought to feverall of them where he found civill entertainment, and kind respects far from brutish or Savage natures, so as they suddainely became familiar friends, especially by the meanes of Dehamda, and Skitwarrers, who had been in England, Dehamda being fent by the Lord cheife justice with Captain Prin and Skitwarres by me in company, fo as the Prefident was earneft y intreated by Saffenow, Aberemet, and others the principall Sagamores ( as they call their great Lords ) to go to the Bashabas, who it feemes was their King, and held a State agreeable, expecting that all ftrangers should have their ad-TJ dreffe to him, not he to them.

Besides that they were strangely perplexed with the great and unseasonable cold they suffered with that extremity, as the like hath not been heard of since, and it seemes, was universall, it being the same yeare, that our. Themes were so lockt up that they built their boates upon it, and sould fould provisions of severall forts to those that delighted in the Novelties of the times, but the miferies they had paft, were nothing to that they fuffered by the difafterous news they received of the death of the Lord cheif juffice, that fuddainely followed the death of their Prefident, but the latter was not fo ftrange, in that he was well ftricken in years before he went, and had long been an infirme min, Howfoever heartned by hopes, willing he was to dye in acting something that might be serviceable to God, and honourable to his Country, but that of the death of the cheife justice was fuch a corrafive to all, as thruck them with despaire of future remedy, and it was the more augmented, when they heard of the Sir Fohn Gilbert, Elder brother of Ralph Gilbert that was then their Prefident, a man worthy to be beloved of them all for his industry, and care for their well being ; The Prefident was to return to fettle the flate his Brother had left him, upon which all refolved to quit the place, and with one confent to away, by which means all our former hopes were frozen to death, though Sir Francis Popham could not fo give it over, but continued to fend thither feverall years after in hope of better fortunes, but found it fruitleffe, and was neceffitated at last to fit down with the loffe he had already undergone.

CHAPTER IX.

My refolution not to abandon the profecution of the businesse, in my opinion so well grounded.

A Lthough I were interested in all those misfortunes, and found it wholly given over by the body of the adventurers, aswell for that they had lost the principal cipall support of the defigne, as also that the Country it felfe was branded by the returne of the Plantation, as being over cold, and in respect of that, not habitable by our Nation.

Besides, they understood it to be a taske too great for perticular persons to undertake, though the Country it felfe, the Rivers, Havens, Harbours, upon that coalt might in time prove profitable to us.

These last acknowledgements bound me confidently to prosecute my first resolution, not doubting but GOD would effect that which Man despaired of, as for those reafons, the causes of others discouragements, the first onely was given to me, in that I had loft fo Noble a Friend, and my Nation fo worthy a Subject. As for the coldneffe of the Clyme, I had had too much experience in the World to be frighted with fuch a blaft, as knowing many great Kingdomes and large Territories more northerly feated, and by many degrees colder than the Clyme from whence they came, yet plentifully inhabited, and divers of them fored with no better commodities from Trade and Commerce than shole parts afforded, if like Industry, Arr, and Labour be used, for the last I had no reason greatly to despaire of meanes when GOD should be pleased by our ordinary frequenting that Country, to make it appeare, it would yeild both profit and content to as many as aimed thereat, these being truly (for the most part ) the motives that all men labour, howfoever otherwife adjoyned with faire colours and goodly fhadows.

'A refolution to put new life into that feattered and lacerated Body.

Inding I could no longer be feconded by others, I became an owner of a Ship my felfe fit for that imployment, and under colour of fifhing and trade, I got a Mafter and company, for her, to which I fent Vines and others my owne fervants with their provision for trade and discovery. appointing them to leave the Ship and Ships Company for to follow their bufineffe in the ufuall place, ( for I knew they would not be drawn to feek by any meanes) by thefe and the help of those Natives formerly fent over, I came to be truly informed of fo much as gave me affurance that in time I thould want no undertakers, though as yet I was forced to hire Men to flay there the Winter Quarter at extream rates, and not without danger, for that the War had confumed the Bashaba, and the most of the great Sagamores, with fuch Men of Action as followed them, and those that remained were fore afflicted with the Plague, for that the Country was in a manner left void of Inhabitants ; Notwithftanding, Vines and the reft with him that lay in the Cabbins with those People that dyed some more, some leffe, mightily, (bleffed be GOD for it) not one of them ever felt their heads to ake while they flayed there ; and this courfe I held fome years together, but nothing to my private profir, for what I got one way I spent another, to that I began to grow weary of that bufindle as not for my turne till better times.

CHAPTER XI.

Captain Harles comming to me with a new proposition of other hopes.

While I was labouring by what meanes I might beft continue life in my languishing hopes, there comes one Captain Henry Harley unto me, bringing with him a Native of the Island of Capawick, a place feated to the Southward of Cape Codd whole name was Epenewe a perfon of a goodly stature, strong and well proportioned, this man was taken upon the main with some twenty nine others by a thip of London that endeavoured to fell them for flaves in Spaine, but being understood that they were Americans, and found to be unapt for their ufes, they would not meddle with them, this being one of them they refused, wherein they exprest more worth then rhofe that brought them to the market, who could not but know that our Nation was at that time in travaile for fetling of Christian Colonics upon that continent, it being an a& much tending to our prejudice, when we came into that part of the Countries, as it shall further appeare; how Captaine Harley came to be poffeffed of this Savage, I know not, but I understood by others how he had been shewed in London for a wonder, it is true ( as I have faid ) he was a goodly man of a brave afpect, ftont and sober in his demeanor, and had learned so much English as to bid those that wondred at him, welcome, welcome, this being the last and best use they could make of him, that was now growne out of the peoples wonder, the Captain, falling further into his familiarity, found him to be of acquaintance and friendthip with those subject to the Bashaba, whom the Captain well knew, being himfelfe one of the Planta-K 2 tio7.

tion, fent over by the Lord chiefe justice, and by that means understood much of his language, found out the place of his birth, nature of the Country, their feverall kinds of commodities, and the like, by which he conceived great hope that good might be made of him, if meanes could be found for his imployment, but finding adventurers of that kind were worne out of date ; after fo many faylings, and to foone upon the return of our late Colony, but the Gentleman calling to mind my aptneffe to defignes of that nature, lays up his reft to discover his greatest feerets to me, by whom had hoped to rife or fall in this action, after he had spoken with me, and that I had feen his Savage, though I had fome reason to beleive the Gentleman in what he told me, vet I thought it not amiffe to take fome time before I undertook a businesse ( as I thought ) so improbable in fome particulars, but yet I doubted not, my refolution being fuch ( as is faid ) I might make fome ufe of his fervice; And therefore witht him to leave him with me, giving him my word, that when I faw my time to fend againe to thole parts, he should have notice of it, and I would be glad to accept of his fervice, and that with as great kindneffe as he freely offered it, in the means sime, he might be pleased to take his owne course.

CHAPTER XII.

The reasons of my undertaking the imployment for the Island of Capawick.

A T the time this new Savage came unto me, I had recovered Affacumet, one of the Natives I fent with Captain Chalownes in his unhappy imployment, with whom I lodged Epenaw, who at the first hardly understood one the the others speech, till after a while; I perceived the difference was no more then that, as ours is betweene the Northern and Southerne people, fo that I was a little eafed in the use I made of my old servant whom I ingaged to give account of what he learned by conference. between themselves, and he as faithfully performed it ; Being fully fatisfied of what he was able to fay, and the time of making ready, drawing on, following my pretended defignes; I thought it became me to acquaint the thrice honoured Lord of South-Hampton with it, for that I knew the Captain had fome relation to his Lordship, and L not willing in those daies, to undertake any matter extraordinary without his Lordships advice, who approved of it fo well that he adventured 100 l. in that imployment, and his Lordship being at that time Commander of the Isle of Wight, where the Captain had his abiding under his Lordthip, who out of his nobleneffe was pleased to furnishi me with fome land Souldiers, and to commend to me a grave Gentleman, one Captain Hobson, who was willing to go that voyage, and to adventure 1001. himfelfe. To. him I gave the command of the Ship, all things being ready, and the company came together, attending but for a faire winde; they fet faile in June, in Anno 1614. being fully inftructed how to demeane themfelves in every kind, carrying with them Epenow, Affacomet, and Wanape, another Native of those parts fent me out of the Isle of Wight for my better information in the parts of the Country of his knowledge, when as it pleafed God that they were arrived upon the coaft they were Pilotted from place to place, by the Natives themselves, as well as their hearts could defire ; And comming to the Harbour where Epenop was to make good his undertaking, the principall inhabitants of the place came aboard, fome of them being his Brothers, others his near Couzens, who after they had communed together and were kindly entertained by the Captain, departed in their Cannowes, promiling the next morning to come aboard again, and bring tome trade with them : But Epenow privately ( as it appeared ) K 3

I wo Brothers be ever at hand with him, cloathing him with long garof Sturtons ments, filly to be laid hold on, if occasion should require; and Master Notwithstanding all this, his friends being all come at Mathewes. the time appointed with twenty Cannows, and lying at a certaine diffance with their Bows ready, the Captaine calles to them to come aboard, but they not moving, he speakes to Epenow to come unto him, where he was in the fore caffle of the Ship, he being then in the waft of the Ship between two of the Gentlemen that had him in gard, ftart. fuddainly from them, and comming to the Captaine, calls to his friends in English to come aboard, in the interim flips himfelfe over board, and although he were taken hold of by one of the company, yet being a ftrong and heavy Man, could not be flayed, and was no fooner in the water, but the Natives fent fuch a showre of arrowes, and came withall desperately so neer the Ship, that they carryed him away in despight of all the Musquetters aboard, who were for the number as good as our nation did afford : And thus were my hopes of that particular made vord and frustrate, and they returned without doing more, though otherwise ordered how to have spent that summer to good purpose ; but fuch are the fruits to be looked for, by imploying men Men more zealous of gain than frought with experience how to make it.

CHAPTER XIII.

Sir Richard Hakings undertook by authority from the Councell of the second Colonie to trie what service he could do them as President for that yeare.

H Aving received his Commission and Instructions; he departed in October 1615, and spent the time of his being in those parts in fearching of the Country, and finding out the commodities thereof, but the war was at the height and the principall Natives almost destroyed, so that his observation could not be such as could give account of any new matter, more than formerly had been received, from thence he pass along the coast to Virginia, & stay'd there some time, in expectation of what he could not be fatisfied in, so took his next course for Spain, to make the best of such commodities he had got together, as he coasted from place to place having sent his Ship laden with Fish to the Market before, and this was all that was done by any of us that yeare.

CHAPTER XIV.

Of the sending of Captaine Rocraft to meete with Captaine Dermor in NEW-ENGLAND.

A BOUT this time I received letters from Captaine Dermor out of New-England, giving me to understand that that there was one of my Savages fent into those parts brought from Malage in a Ship of Briffel, acquainting me with the meanes I might recover him, which I followed and had him fent me, who was after imployed with others in the voyage with Captaine Hobion fent to Capawike as is abovefaid, by this Savage Captaine Dermor understood fo much of the state of his Country, as drew his affections wholly to follow his hopes that way, to which purpole he writes, that if I pleafed to fend a Commission to meete him in New-England, he would endeavour to come from the New-found Land to receive it, and to observe such other instructions as I pleafed to give him, whereupon the next feafon I fent Anno 1619. Captaine Rocraft with a company I had of purpose hired for the fervice. At his arrivall upon the coaft he met with a small Barque of Deepe, which he feized upon according to fuch libertics as was granted unto him in fuch cafes, notwithstanding, the poore French-Man being of our Religion, I was cafily perfwaded upon his petition to give content for his loffe, although is proved much to dammage afterwards, for Captaine Rocraft being now shipped and furnished with all things neceffary, left the Coaft contrary to my directions, and went to Virginia, where he had formerly dwelt, and there falling into company with fome of his old acquaintance, a quarrell happened between him and another, fo that before he could get away he was flaine, by which accident the Barque was left at random, (the most part of the company being on fhoar) a ftorme arifing, the was caft away, and all her provisions loft, something was faved but now thing ever came to my hands.

CHAPTER XV.

Of my imployment of Captain Dormer after bis faylings to come from the New-found land to New-England.

CAptain Dormer being disappointed of his meanes to Anno 1619. come from New-found-land, to New-England, took shipping for England; and came to me at Plymouth where I gave him an account of what I had done, and he me, what his hopes were, to be able to do me fervice ( if I pleafed ) to imploy him, hereupon I conferred his informations, together with mine owne I received by feverall wayes, and found them to agree in Many the particulars of highest confequence and best confiderations, whereupon I dispatched him away with the company he had gotten together, as fast as my owne Ship could be made ready for her ordinary imployment, fending with him what he thought neceffary, hopeing to have met Captaine Rocraft, where he was affigned to attend till he received further directions from me, but at the Ships arrivall they found Captain Recraft gone for Virgina, with all his company in the Barque he had taken, of which before Captaine Dormer arriving, and feeing Rocraft gon, was much perplexed, yet fo refolved he was, that he ceased not to follow his defigne with the Men and Meanes which I had fent him, and fo shaped his course from Sagadahock in 44 degrees to Copamike being in 41 and 36 minutes, fending me a journall of his proceeding, with the defcription of the Coaft all along as he pas'd. Paffing by Capawike, he continued his course alorg the coaft from Harbour to Harbour till he came to Virginia, where he expected to meete with Rocraft (as afore) but finding him dead, and all loft that fhould have fupply'd ply'd him, he was forced to fhift as he could to make his returne, and comming to Capawike and Nautican, and going first to Nautican and from thence to Capamike, he fet himfelfe and some of his people on shoar, where he mee with Epenow the Savage, who had escaped (of whom) be-Fore, : This Savage speaking forne English, laughed at his owne escape, and reported the flory of it, Mr. Dormer tould him he came from mee, and was one of my fervants, and that I was much grieved he had beene fo ill ufed, as to be forced to steale away ; this Savage was fo cunning, that after he had queftioned him about me and all he knew belonged unto me, conceived he was come on purpose to betray him, and confpired with fome of his fellowes to take the Captaine, thereupon they laid hands upon him, but he being a brave froute Gentleman, drew his Sword and freed himfelfe, but not without fourteen wounds, this difaster forced him to make all possible hast to Virginia to be cured of his wounds; at the fecond returne he had the misfortune to fall fick and die of the infirmity many of our Nation are subject unto at their first comming into those parts ; the loffe of this Man, I confeffe, much troubled me, and had almost made me refolve never to intermeddle in any of those courses."

CHAPTER XVI.

The reasons of endeavouring to renew our first Patent and to establish the forme of Government by way of Corporation at PLYMOUTH.

A Fter I had mide fo many trialls of the State and Commodities of the Country, and Nature and Condition of the People, and found all things agreeable to the ends I aymed at from the first, I thought it forted with Reason and Justice to use the like diligence, order, and care for our affaires in the Northern Plantation, the Company of Virginia for the Southern, with fome alteration of the forme of Government, as more proper (in our judgement) for affaires of that kinde, and like enlargement of the borders, beginning where they ended at 40 degrees and from thence to 48 Northwards, and into the land from Sea to Sea; of this my resolution I was bould to offer the sounder confiderations to divers of his Majefties honourable Privy Councell, who had fo good liking thereunto, as they willingly became interested themselves therein as Patentees. and Councellours for the managing of the busineffe, by whofe favours I had the easter passage in the obtaining his Majeffies Royall Charter to be granted us according to his warrant to the then Solicitor Generall, the true Copy whereof followeth (viz.) Shewing the troubles I underwent by the reason of the company of Virginia's exceptions, taken at the Patent granted by the Lords and others for the affaires of N E W-E N G L A N D.

I have briefly given you an accompt of the failings and difafters of what hath paft in thole my former and forreigne undertakings, I will now (with your patience) let you fee fome of my troubles I met with where I might have hoped for a comfortable encouragement, but such is (we commonly fee) the condition of humane Nature that what is well intended and confidently purfued by a publique spirit, is notwithstanding sometimes by others made fubject to exceptions and fo profecuted as a matter worthy of reprehension, fo fared it with me at this prefent, for I had no fooner past the Patent under the great Seale, but certaine of the company of Virginia tooke exceptions thereat, as conceiving it tended much to their prejudice in that they were debarred the intermeddling within our limits who had formerly excluded us, from having to do with theirs, hereupon feverall complaints were made to the King and Lords of the Privy Councell, who after many deliberate hearings, and large debate on both fides, faw no caule wherefore we should not injoy what the King had granted us, as well as they what the King had granted them, especially having obtained from him so many gratious favours over and above our aymes, as namely feverall free gifts, divers great falaries, and other great advantages to the value ( as I have understood ) of five or fix hundred thousand pound whereas our ambition onely aymed aymed at the enjoying of his Majeflies favour and justice to protect and support us in our treedomes, that we might peaceably reape the benefits of GOD's gratious gifts, raifed by our owne Industryes, without any of their helpe or hinderances, our defires being so faire that all that were not over partiall, eafily affented thereunto, and ordered it accordingly, as by the same it may appeare, but that could not fatisfie, for I was plainly tould, that how sover I had sped before the Lords, I should heate more of it the next Parliament, affuring me that they would have 300 voices more than I, whereupon I replyed, If justice could be overthrown by voices, it should not grieve me to loofe what I had so honeftly gotten ; the next Parliament was no some affembled, but I found it too true where with I was formerly threatned, as you may see it following,

CHAPTER XVIII.

My being Summoned to appeare in the House of Parliament to answer what was to be objected against the Patent of New-England.

THE whole house being diffolved into a Committee, Sir Edward Cook, being in the chaire, I was called for to the Barre, where after some space it pleased him to tell me that the House understood that there was a Patent granted to me, and diverse other noble persons therein nominated for the establishing of a Colony in New England, this (as it seemes) was a grievance of the Common-wealth, and so complained of in respect of many particulars therein contained contrary L 3. 23 to the Lawes and priviledges of the fubjects, as alfo that it was a Monopoly, and the colour of planting a Colony put upon it for particular ends, and private gaine, which the Houfe was to looke unto and to Minifter juffice to all parties, affuring me further that I fhould receive nothing but juffice, and that the Houfe would do no wrong to any, that I was a Gendeman of Honour and worth, but the Publique was to be refpectedbefore all particulars, but before they could defcend to other matters in the bufineffe, the Patent was to be brought into the Houfe, therefore he required the delivery of it.

To this generall Charge and speciall Command I humbly replyed, that for my owne part, I was but a particular perfon, and inferior to many, to whom the Patent was granted, having no power to deliver it, without their affents, neither in truth was it in my cuftody, but being demanded who had it, I answered that it remained ftill ( for ought I knew ) in the Crowne office, where it was left fince the last Parliament, for that it was refolved to be renewed for the amendment of fome faults contained therein, from whence if it pleased the House, they might command it, and dispose thereof as their wisedomes thought it good. But to the generall Charge I know not ( under favour ) how any action of that kind could be a grievance to the publique, feeing at first it was undertaken for the advancement of Religionsthe enlargement of the bounds of our Nation, the increase of trade, and the juployment of many thousands of all forts of people.

That I conceived it could not be efteemed a Monopoly, though it is true at the first discovery of the coast few were interested in the charge thereof, for many could not be drawn to adventure in actions of that kind where they were affured of losse, and small hopes of geain.

And indeed fo many adventures had been made, and fo many loffes fultained and received, that all or the moft part that tafted thereof grew weary, till now it is found found by our constant perseverance therein, that fom? profit by a course of filhing, upon that coaft, may be made extraordinary, which was never intended to be converted to private ules by any grant obtained by us from his Majefty, as by the feverall offers made to all the Maritine Cities and Townes in the Westerne parts, that pleased to partake of the Liberties, and Immunities granted to us by his Majefty, which was defired principally for our warrant to regulate those affaires, the better to fetle the publique Plantation by the profits to be raifed by fuch as fought the benefit there f, ( being no more in effect ) then many private Gentlemen. and Lords of mannors within our owne Countries injoyed at this prefent, and that both agreeable to the laws and juffice of our Nation without offence to the fubiects Liberties; But for my particular, I was glad of the prefent occasion that had to happily called them together from all parts of the Kingdome, to whom I was humbly bold in the behalfe of my felfe and the reft of those intrusted in the Pattent to make present proffer thereof to the Houle for the Generall estate of the whole Kingdome, fo they would profecute the feiling the Plantation, as from the first was intended, wherein we would be their humble fervants in all that lay in our power, without looking back to the great charge that had been expended in the difcovery, and feizure of the coaff. and bringing it to the paffe it was come unto. That what was more to be faid to the Patent for the prefent, I humbly prayed I might receive in particular, to the end I might be the better furnished to give them answer thereunto by my Councell, at such time they pleased to heare me againe, being confident, I should not onely have their approbation in the further profecuting fo well grounded a defigne, but their furtherauce allo, howfoever I was willing to fubmit the whole to their honourable centures, hereupon it was ordered, that the Patent should be looked into by a Committee affigned for that purpose, and the exceptions taken against it it delivered to me, that had a prefixed day to attend them againe with my Councell at Law to answer to those their objections.

CHAPTER XIX.

My second appearance with my Councell.

HE time affigned being come, and I not receiving their objections (as by the Houle it was ordered) I attended without my Councell, in that I wanted upon which to build my infructions for preparing them as in duty I ought, but being called I humbly told them, that in obedience to their commands, I attended to receive the Houfes objections against the Patent of New-England, but it was not yet come to my hands, where the fault was I knew not, and therefore I befought them to affigne me a new day, and to order 1 might have it delivered to me as was intended, or otherwise if they so pleased, I was ready without my Councell to answer what could be objected, doubting, they might conceive, I fought by delayes to put off the bufineffe. to this it was answered by Sir Edward Cooke, that I had gained great favour of the Houfe to receive the particulars in writing, by which I was able to plead my own caufe (though as yet I had it not) but I acknowledged the greatneffe of their favours, and attended their further commands, according to the time affigned.

CHAPTER XX.

My appearance the third time, together with my Councell at Law.

HAving received the Houfes exceptions against the patent, I drew up my full answers to every particular, and entertained for my councell Mr. Finch of Grayes Inne (fince that the Lord Finch) and Mr. Galtrup, afterwards Atturney Generall of the Court of Wards ; To thefe I delivered my instructions, affigning them to proceed accordingly, but, as in great Caufes before great States, where the Court seemes to be a party, Councell oftentimes is shye of wading farther than with their fafety they may returne; however, both did fo well, the one for the matter of Juffice, the other for the matter of Law, as in Common Judgement the Objections were fully answered, and they seeming to be at a stand ; the House demanded of me what I had more to fay my felfe, I being fenfible wherein my Councell came fhort of my intentions, befought the House to take into their grave confiderations, that the most part of the Fisher-Men Tooken of, had in obedience to his Majefties Royall Grant, conformed themfelves thereunto, and I hoped that they were but particular perfons that opposed then felves against it, but admit all of them had joyned together, (yet had that belonged rather to the Councell for those affaires) to have complained of them, for the many injuries and outrages done by them, that the Councell of their owne charge and coff, had first discovered that goodly coast, and found that hopefull meanes to fettle a flourishing Plantation for the good of this Kingdom in generall, as well great Lords as Knights. Elquires, Gentlemen, Merchants, Filher-Men, Trades-Men, Husband-Men, Labourers, and the like, and that both to honour and profir, that the enlargement of the Kings Dominions

Dominions, with the advancement of Religion in those defert parts, are matters of highest confequence, and far exceeding a fimple and diforderly courfe of Fishing, which would soone be given over, for that so goodly a Coast could not be long left unpeopled by the French, Spanish, or Dutch. to that if the Plantation be deftroyed, the Fishing is lost, and then the profit and honour of our Nation must perish (in all opinion) both to prefent and future ages, which thefe Men principally aymed at, that the mifchiefe already fustained by those dilord rly Perfons, are inhumane and intollerable ; for fift in their manners and behaviour they are worse than the very Savages, impudently and openly lying with their Women, teaching their Men to drinke drunke, to sweare and blaspheme the Name of GOD. and in their drunken humour to fall together by the cares, thereby giving them occasion to feek revenge; belides, they couzen and abufe the Savages in trading and trafficking, felling them Salt covered with Butter in stead of fo much Butter, and the like couzenages and deceipts, both to bring the Planters and all our Nation into contempt and difgrace, thereby to give the cafier paffage to those People that dealt more righteoufly with them ; that they fell unto the Savages, Mulquets, Fowling-Pieces, Powder, Shot, Swords, Arrow-Heads, and other Armes, wherewith the Savages flew many of those Fisher-Men, and are growne fo able, & fo apt, as they become most dangerous to the Planters: and I concluded.

That in this particular I had beene drawne out of my zeale to my Countryes happineffe, to engage my effate fo deeply as I had done, and having but two Sonnes, I adventured the life of one of them (who is there at this prefent) for the better advancement thereof, with others of his Kinfmen of his owne name with many other private friends) which fo neerly concerned me, that if I did expressed the the field to pardon me, affirming, that if I should be pleased to pardon me, affirming, that if I should do leffe, I might appeare willing to fuffer them to perish by my Negligence, Connivence, Improvidence prov dence, or Ungratefulneffe, to the dishenour of my Nation, and burden of my owne Confcience, but theie things being confidered, I prefume the Honourable affembly will do what in all respects shall be both just and lawfull, and that in confidence thereof, I wil cease to be further troublesome.

CHAPTER XXI.

What followed upon my answer to the Houses exceptions.

Being perfwaded in my owne underftanding, as well as in the judgement of those that accompanied me I had fufficeintly fatisfied the most part of the House, the rather for that they forbad the Lawyers to speake any more, after I began to deliver what I had to say for my felfe, with this hope I departed attending the successful on the ftanding (from those that were favourers and parties with me) that my opposites held their resolutions to make it a Publique Grievance, and for such, to present it to his Majefty.

Herenpon I thought it became me to use my best meanes his Majesty might have fight of their exceptions and my answers, which accordingly was performed; so that at the time the Houses presented the Publique Grievances of the Kingdome, that of the Patent of N.w-England was the fiss, wherein was declared, that having heard me and my Learned Councell several dayes, but that I could not defend the same, which the King observing was a little moved, finding the matter was made greater than the cause required; this their Publique Declaration of the Houses, diflike of the cause, shocke of all my adventurers for Plantatior, and made many of the Patentees to quit their Interest, so that in all likelyhood I must fall under the M 2 weight of so heavy a burthen, but the justneffe of my caufe being truly apprehended by the King, from which I un" derftood, he was not to be drawne to overthrow the Corporation he fo much approaved of in his owne judgements and I was withed not to omit the profecution thereof, as caufe required, but I thought better to forbeare for the prefent, in honour and respect of what had past in fo publique a manner betweene the King and his Houfe of Coms mons, who thortly after upon feverall reafons, riling from particular persons, who (as it feemed) were more liberall in their language than became them, trenching farther upon the Kings Prerogative Power, he thought to be tolerated as doubting of the confequence thereof, whereupon the Parliament was dismiffed, divers of those free speakers committed to the Tower, others to other Prifons, fo that now I was called upon to attend those affaires on feverall accidents that happened. As first, for that the French Embaffadour made challenge to those Territories granted us by the King our Soveraigne, in the behalfe of the King of France, his Mafter, as belonging to his Subjects, that by his authority were poffeffed thereof as a part of Nova France, to which I was commanded by the King to give an fwer to the Embassadour his claime, which was fent me from the Lord Treasurer under the title of Le Memorial de Monsieur Seigneur Le Conte de Tillieres, Amhaffadeur pour Le Royde France : Whereunto 1 mide fo full a reply (as it feemes) there was no more heard of that their claime. But as Captaine Dormer, who (as I faid) was coaffing that Country, net with some Hollanders that were setled in a place we call. Hudson's River, in trade with the Natives, who in the right of our Patent forbad them the place, as being by his Majufie appointed to us ; there answer was, they understood no fuch thing, nor found any of our Nation there, fo that they hoped they had not offended ; However, this their communication removed them not, but upon our complaining of their intrusion to his Majefty, order was given to his Embaffadours to deale with the States, to know by what warrant any of their Subjects tooke upon them to fettle within thof those limits by him granted to his Subjects who were royally feized of a part thereof; to which was answered, that they knew of no such thing, if there were any, it was without their authority, and that they onely had enacted the company for the affaires of the West-Indies; this answer being returned, made us to profecute our business, and to resolve of the removing of those Interlopers to force them to submit to the Government of those to whome that place belonged. Thus you may see how many burthens I travailed under of all fides, and yet not come near my journies end.

CHAPTER XXII.

Of the Descent of Mr. Perce, Mr. Day, others their Affociates, within our limits being bound for Virginia.

Before the unhappy controversie happed between those of Virginia, and my selfe (as you have heard ) they were forced through the great charge they had been at, to hearken to any propositions that might give cafe and furtherance to so hopefull a bufineffe; to that purpole, it was referred to their confiderations how necelfary it was, that means might be used to draw into those enterprises some of those families that had retired themfelves into Holland for fcruple of confcience, giving them fuch freedome and liberty, as might fland with their likings, this advice being hearkned unto, there were that undertook the putting it in practife, and accordingly brought it to effect fo far forth, as that the three fhips ( fuch as their weake fortunes were able to provide ) whereof two proved unferviceable at de fo were left M 2

A Description of New-England:

left behind, the third with great difficulty recovered the coaft of New-England, where they landed their people, many of them weake and feeble through the length of the Navigation, the leakineffe of the thip, and want of many other neceffaries fuch undertakings required ; but they were not many daies a fhoar before they had gotten both health and ftrength, through the comfort of the Ayr. the flore of fifh and fowle, with plenty of wholfome rootes and hearbs the Country affoarded ; befides the civill respect the Natives used towards them, tending much to their happineffe in fo great extremity they were in, after they had well confidered the ftate of their affaires and found that the Authority they had from the Company of Virginia could not warrant their abode in that place, which they found fo prosperous and pleasing to them, they haftned away their ship, with order to their Sollicitor to deale with me, to be a meanes they might have a grant from the Councell of New Englands affaircs to fettle in the place, which was accordingly performed to their particular fatisfaction and good content of them all, which place was after called New-Plymouth, where they have continued ever fince very peaceable, and in all plenty of all neceffarics that nature needeth, if that could fatisfie our vaine affections, where I will leave them for the present.

CHAPTER XXIII.

My Son Captain Robert Gorges sent by Authority of the Councell for those affaires, as their Lievtenant Generall.

THE feverall complaints made to the Councell of the abuses committed by severall the Fishermen, and other ther Interlopers, who without order from them frequented those coafts, tending to the scorne of our Nation, both to the ordinary mixing themselves with their women, and other beaffly demeanors, tending to Dankeneffe to the overthrow of our trade and dithonour of the Government.

For reformation where of, and to prevent the evils that may enfue, they were pleafed to refolve of the fending fome one into those parts, as their Lievtenant, to regulate the eftate of their affaires and those abuses, hereupon my Son Robert Gorges being newly come out of the Venetian War, was the man they were pleafed to pitch upon being one of the company, and interested in a proportion of the land with the reft of the Patentees, in the Bay of the Majechewsett containing ten miles in breadth, and thirty miles into the maine land, who between my Lord Gorges and my felfe, was speedily sent away into the faid Bay of Maffechewfet, where he arrived about the beginning of August following, Anno 1623. that being the place he refolved to make his refidence, as proper for the Publique, as well as for his private, where landing his provisions, and building his storehouses, he sent to them of New-Plymenth ( who by his Commission were authorised to be his affistants ) to come unto him, who willingly obeyed his order, and as carefully discharged their duties; by whole experience he fuddainely underfood what was to be done with the poore meanes he had, beleiving the fupplyes he xpected would follow, according to the undertakings of divershis familiar friends who had promifed as much ; but they hearing how I foed in the House of Parliament withdrew themselves, and my felfe and friends were wholly difabled to do any thing to rurpofe. The report of these proceedings with us, comming to my Sons cares, he was advited to retarn home, till better occasion should offer it selfe unto him.

CHAPTER XXIV,

Captaine John Masons the meanes of Interesting the Scotish Nation into that of New Scotland.

CAptaine John Mason was himselfe a man of action and had been sometime Governour of a Plantation in the New-Found land, his time being expired there, he returned into England, where he met with Sir William Alexander who was Mr. of requests to his Majefty for the realme of Scotland, but fince Earle of Starline, who hearing of Captaine Malons late comming out of the New-Found-land was defirous to be acquainted with him. To that end he invited him to his house, and after he had throughly informed himfelfe of the effate of that Country, he declared his affection to Plantation, and witht the Captaine to be a means to procure him a Grant of the Planters thereof for a portion of land with them, who effected what he defired. The Captaine understanding how far forth I had proceeded in the bufineffe of New-England, advised him to deale with me for a part of what we might conveniently spare, without our prejudice within the bounds of our Grant. Sir William Alexander intending to make himfelfe fure of his purpofe, procured his Majefty ( for what could they not do in those times in such cases ) to fend to me to affigne him a part of our Territories, his Majesties gracious message was to me, as a command agreeing with his pleafure, to have it fo. Whereupon an inftrument was prefently drawn for the bounding thereof, which was to be called New-Scotland, which afterwards was Granted him by the King under Ievtenant Colonell Norton undertaking to fetle a Plantation on the River of Agomentico, if I pleafed to beare a part with him and his Affociates, this Gentleman was one I had long known, who had raifed himfelfe from a Souldier, to the quality he had from a Corporall to a Serjant, and fo upward he was painfull and industrious, well understanding what belonged to his duties in whatfoever he undertooke, and ftrongly affected to the bufinesse of Plantation, having acquainted me of his defignes, and of his Affociates, I gave him. my word, I would be his interceffour to the Lords for obtayning him a Patent for any place he defired, not already Granted to any other, but conceaving he should be fo much the better fortified, if he could get me to be an undertaker with him, and his Affociates upon his motion; I was contented my Grand-Son Ferdinando fhould be nominated together with him and the reft, to whom was paft a Patent of twelve thousand Acres of land upon the East fide of the River Agomentico, and twelve thousand of Acres more of land on the West-fide to my faid Son Ferdinando, hereupon he and fome of his Affuciates hastened to take possession of their Territories, carrying with them their Families; and other neceffary provisions, and I fent over for my Son, my Nephew Captaine William Gorges, who had been my Lievtenant in the Fort of Plymouth, with fome other Crafts-men for the building of houses, and creeting of Saw-Mills ; And by other .

What followed the breaking up of the PARLIAMENT in such discontent.

THE King not pleafed with divers the paffages of some particular perfons, who in their speeches seemed to trench farther on his Royall Prerogative than flood with his fafety and honour to give way unto, suddainly brake off the Parliament, whereby divers were to fearfull what would follow fo unaccustomed an action, some of the principall of those liberall speakers being committed to the Tower, others to other Prisons, which tooke all hope of Reformation of Church-Government from many not affecting Episcopal Jurisdiction, nor the usuall practife of the Common Prayers of the Church, whereof there were feverall forte, though not agreeing among themfelves, yet all of like dillike of those particulars, some of the diferenter fort to avoid what they found themselves subj & unto, made use of their friends to procure from the Councell for the affaires of N w-England to fettle a Colony within their limits, to which is pleafed the thrice honoured Lord of Warpick to write to me then at Flimenth, to condetcend that a Patent might be granted to fuch as ti en fued for it, whereupon I gave my approbation fo far forth as it might not be prejudiciall to my Sonne Robert Gorges interefts, whereof he had a Patent under the Seale of the Councell, hereupon there was a Grant paffed as was thought reasonable, but the same wasafter enlarged by his Majefty and confirmed under the great Seale of England, by the Authority whereof the undertakers proceeded to eff Aually, that in a very thore time numbers of people of all forts flocked thither in heapes, that at last it was specially ordered by the Kings command, that none should be fuffered to go without licence first had and obtained, and they to take the Qaths of Supremacy and Allegiance, fo that what Hong before prophefied, when I could hardly get any for money to refide there, wat now brought to paffe in a high Measure, the reason of that restraint was grounded upon the feverall complaints, that came out of those parts, of the divers fects and fchifmes that were amongst them, all contemning the publique Government of the Ecclesiasticall State ; And it was doubted, that they would in thort time, wholly theke off the Royall Iurildiction. of the Soveraigne Magistrate.

CHAPTER I.

Shewing the reasons of my desire and others my Affociates to resigne the grand Patent to his Majesty, and the dividing of the Sea coasts between the Lords who had continued constant favourers and followers thereof.

A Fter I had past all chose failings in my first attempts you have hard of, and had undergone those homestormes afore spoken of by those of Virginia, I would willingly have fat down in difpaire of what I aymed at, but was flirred up and incouraged by the most eminent of our company, not to give over the bufineffe his Majefty did fo much approve of, whole gracious favour I should not want, and whereof I had already sufficient proofe. Hereupon I began againe to creet my thoughts how ought might be effected to advance the weak foundation already laid, when as fo it pleafed God to have it, in the yeare 1621. after the Parliament that then fat brake off in discontent, I was follicited to confent to the passing of a Patent to certain undertakers who intended to transport themselves into those parts, with their whole Families, as I shewed before. The libertie bertie they obtained thereby, and the report of their well doing, drew after them multitudes of difcontented perfons of feverall fects and conditions, in fo much that they began at last to be a pester to themselves, threatning a civill war before they had eftablished a civill form of Government between themselves, and doubeleffe had not the patience and wifedome of Mr. Wantbrop, Mr. Humpbreys, Mr. Dudly, and others their affiftants, and others been the greater, much mischiefe would fuddainly have overwhelmed them, more then did befall them, notwichstanding amongst those great swarmes there went many that wanted not love and affection to the Honour of the King, and happineffe of their Native Country, however they were mixt with those that had the State of the established Church Government in such scorne, and contempt, as finding themfelves in a Countrey of liberty, where tongues might speake with out controule, many fuller of malice, than reason, spared not to speake the worft that evill affections could invent, in fo much that the diffance of the place could not impeach the transportation thereof to the cares of those it most concerned, and who were bound in Honour and Jaffice to vindicate the State, he was fo eminent a fervant unto.

Hereupon the King and his Councell begin to take into their ferious confiderations, the confequences that might follow fo unbridled fpirits, and the Lords interefted in the Government of those affaires, finding the Kingsdiflike thereof, confidered how to give his Majesty ( and his Councell of State ) fome fatisfaction for the time to come, Anno. 1622. Thereupon it was ordered that none should be suffered to passe into New-England, but suffice as did take the oaths of Supremacy, and Allegiance; This held sometime, but was omitted till the yeare 1631. till which time, as the daily reports brought over word of their continued mildemeanors, for that at lass, I my felfe was called upon ( with others ) as being the supporter and Author of all that was distatfull : I confelled (indeed) ( indeed ) that I had earneftly fought by all meanes the planting of those parts by those of our own Nation and that for divers weighty confiderations approved of by the King and his Councell, but could not expect that to many evills should have hapned thereby, this answer ferved for the present, but could not wipe away the jea-Ioufie that was had of me, though I laboured continually to put off the scandalous opinion of such as daily did endeavour to do me evill offices, which I found with the lateft, but was thereupon moved to defire the reft of the Lords that were the principall actors in the bufineffe, that we might refigne our grand Patent to the King, and paffe particular Patents to our felves, of fuch parts of the Countrey along the Sea coaft as might be fufficient for our owne ules, and such of our private friends, as had affections to works of that nature. To this motion there was a generall affent by the Lords, and a day appointed too, for the conclusion thereof.

CHAPTER II.

The meeting of the Lords for the dividing of the Coast.

The time being come their Lordships had appointed, an act was made for the refignation of the Patent, with the confirmation of our particulars, where the bounds were thus laid out ; Beginning from the Weftermost parts of our bounds Eastwards, where the Lord of Mugrave began his limits, and ended the same at the river called Hudsons river, to the Eastward of the river was placed the Duke of Lenox, since Duke of Richmand, to the end of Sixty miles Eastward, next to him was placed the Eastle of Carlile, next to him the Lord Edward Gorges, Disponsibility tiext to him was iertied the Marqueffe Hamilton, next to to him Captaine John Majon; And laftly my felf whole bounds extended from the middeft of Merineck to the great River of Sagadehocke being Sixty miles, and fo up into the Maine land one hundred and twenty miles.

CHAPTER III.

The Orders that are settled for the Government of my said Province.

Being now feizedof what I had travelled for above forty yeares, together with the expences of many thoufand Pounds, and the beft time of my age loaden with troubles and vexations from all parts, as you have heards I will now give you an account in what Order I have fetled my affaires in that my Province of Maine with the true forme and manner of the Government, according to the Authority granted me by his Majefties Royal Charter. Firft, I divided the whole into eight Bailywicks, or Counties, and those againe into Sixteene feverall Hundreds, confequently into Parishes and Tythings as People did increase, and the Provinces were inhabited.

That their is no matter of Moment can be determined oft, neither by my felfe, nor by my Lievetenant in my absence, but by the advicea nd affent of the whole body of the Councell, or the greater part of them, sufficiently called and summonedto the Affembly.

That no Judge or other Minister of State to be allowed of, but by the advice and affent of the faid Councell, or the greater part of them, as before.

That no Alienation or fale of Land be made to any, but by their Councell and affent, be it by way of gift for reward, or fervice, or otherwife what foever.

That no Man to whom there hath beene any Grant paft of any Free-hould, shall alienate the same without the affent and license of the said Councell, first had and obtained.

That in case any Law be to be Enacted, or repealed, Mony to be levyed, or forces railed for publique defence.

The fummons thereof to the feverall Bailywicks, or Counties, is to be iffued out in my name, but with the confent of the faid Councell, by vertue whereof, power is to be given to the Free-houlders of the faid Counties respectively, to elect and choose two of the most worthy within the faid County, as Deputies for the whole, to joyne with the Councell for performance of the fervice, for which they were called to that affembly, all appeales made for any wrong or injustice committed by any the feverall officers of any the standing Courts of Justice, or authority of any other perfon or perfons.

For the better cafe of the Inhabitants of the feverall Builywicks or Counties, there is affigned one Lievtenant, and eight Juffices, to administer Juffice for maintenance of the Publique Peace, according to the Lawes provided; These Officers and Juffices to be chosen and allowed of my feife, or any Lieverenant in my absence, with the fenders of the faid Councell, belonging unto me. ## My answer to some Objections.

B UT hearing that it is objected by many, if there be fuch hopes of Honour, Profit, and Contents in those parts, how comes it to pass that your felf have not taffed thereof in all this time, having imployed fo many of your owne fervants, as by this discourse it seemes. you have done, and yet nothing returned. As this objection is just, fo I hope a reasonable answer will satisfie any reasonable man, whom I defire in the first place to confider, that I began when there was no hopes for the present but of loffe, in that I was yet to find a place, and being found, it selfe was in a manner dreadfull to the behoulders, for it seemed but as a defert Wilderneffe replete onely with a kind of Savage People, and overgrowne trees. So as I found it no meane matter to procure any to go thither much leffe to refide there ; and those I fent knew not how to subfift, but on the provisions I. furnished them with all.

Secondly I dealt not as Merchants or Tradef-men are wont, feeking onely to make mine owne profit, my ends being to make perfect the through difcovery of the Countrey, (wherein I waded fo far with the helpe of those that joyned with me) as I opened the way for others, to make their gaine, which hath been the meanes to encourage their followers to profecute it to their advantage. Laftly I defire all that have effates here in England to remember, if they never come neare their People, to take accounts of their endeavours what they gaine by those courfes.

Sons the like in these parts, and are there not many that missend the estates their Fathers left them, yet I have not sped so ill (I thank my God for it) but I have an house and home there; and some necessary meanes of profit by my Saw-Mills and Corne-Mills, besides some Annuall receipts sufficient to lay a soundation for greater matters, now the Government is Established.

Let not therefore my evill fortunes or hinderances be a difcouragement to any, feeing there are formany prefidents of the happy fucceffe of those that are their owne Stewards and disposers of their owne affaires in those parts, nay fuch as I have fent over at my owne charge at first, are now able to live and maintaine themfelves with plenty and reputation; So, as to doubt of well doing, for that another hath not prospered, or to be abused by those he trusted, is to despaire without a cause, and to loose himselfe without tryall. Thus much I presume will clear the objection made by my example, and give comfort and courage to the industrious to follow the presidents of those more able to act their owne parts, than I have beene tor causes spoken of.

The benefits that forreigne Nations have made by Plantation.

N OW I will onely remember fome of the benefits that may arife by Plantations, and will begin with those Princes, our Neighbours, who have laid the way before us; but to sprake of all the goods that may enfue, Plantations is a subject too large for my intention at this time, who do firive for brevity. By some of those Plantations made by our Neighbours, we see what greatness it hath brought them to, that have undertaken the fame, as namely namely the King of Spain and Portugall, the one fettling himfelfe in the parts of America, called the Weft Indies, the other fituate in Brazill, the Southern part of the fame Continent, and that part peopled in the infancy of that Plantation, as well with bafe and banished persons, as other noble and generous spirits, yet the succeffe thereof hath answered their expectation. Besides, we have seene whas great riches were drawne by the Portugalls, by meanes of their severall plantations in the Eest-Indies, out of those wast and mighty Princes Territorics, that filled the whole World with Spices, and other Aromatique Druggs, and excellent rate curiosities not vulgarly knowne to forreigne and former Ages in these Northerly parts of the World.

Those Ratities and Rich Commodities, invited some of our Nation to dive into farther fearch how we might partake thereof, without the favour of forreigne Princes, and having, after the way was once opened by private Adventurers, and some relift had of the profits that might arife by those imployments, the Adventurers, Merchants, and others, noble spirits combined together to make it a more publique businesses, worthy the honour of this Nation, and reputation of the Undertakers, who having amassed a stock of many hundred thousand, entred so far into it, that the trade so began and continues to this prefent day, though not agreeable to the common hopes conceived thereof, but had the ground beene laid as was advised, it had growne to a far greater certainty than now it is like to have.

But the Hollanders better experienced in Martiall Affaires, were taught to know there is a difference betweene having otten a trade and keeping it, that there is no fafety in d = bending upon the will of another, when it is possible to ecure themfelves of what they had in possettion, this made hem fortifie where they found it convenient, and fo to tottle the forme of their Government and course of Trade pon such a foundation, as should promise continual growth ithout d iminution, upon change of humour of those they aded with, if left to to their merciless discretion.

A Description of New-England.

That by the fame courte bey are like in fhort time to out our Nation of that he's trade left us, who I could wifh would yet in feafon feek how to fettle a better foundation in fuch other places (as if I be not deceived) it is poffible they may, thereby, not onely make good their prefent proffis, but advance it to a far greater, and make their attempts more honourable and more lafe than now they are.

But feeing I am not able to perfwade men of better judgement how to manage their practicall affaires, it shall content me to set out my opinion of the excellent use that may be made of those Plantations we have now on foot, especially that of New-England.

CHAPTER VII.

S for those in the Illands of the Virginians, it is apparent they may be made of excellent use, if handled as they ought to be, both for the prefent and future, whereof I will speak no more, because so well known already : That of Virginia might very well brag of it felfe, if the Planters did but endeavour to settle some Plantations further up into the Maine, and to travaile in raifing fuch Commodities as that Clime will affoard for Trade and Commerce with their Neighbours and fuch of our owne Nation, as want what they have. For if I be not deceived, that Clime will affoard both Wines of feverall natures, Flax, Hemp, Pitch, and Tarre, if not Sugars, and Cottons, for it cannot but be as proper for any of those commodities as any other country ying in the fame Clime. But these particulars depend upon the wiledome of the Governours, and industry of the inhabitants, to whom I commend the farther confideration and execution thereof as time and opportunity will give leave, not doubling but if they follow the the Sunnes fetting, they will meet with better things than are yet fpoken of, if they be lough f.r.

As for that of New-England, where I am chiefly interefted, by reason of the time and meanes I have tpent in the projecution of that businesse, it is easie to be observed (parely by what I have faid) what Commodicies may be raifed out of those Climes, and how miraculoully it hath fucceeded, and we may jufily conclude it hath been brought to what it is, by the special Grace of GOD alone, the more to make illuftration by the manifestation of his powerfull operation, in effecting for us what we could not expect from his Divine Goodneffe.

At our first discovery of those coasts, we found it very populous, the inhabitants flour and ware-like; the Countrey plentifull in graine and other fruits and roots, befides Deere of all forts, and other Animals for foude. with plenty of Fifh and Foule for their fuffentation; fo that they could not fay ( according to the manner of their living ) they wanted any thing Nature did require.

As for their civill government, that part of the Country we first feated in, feemed to be Monarchicall by the name and title of a Balhaba, his extent was large, and had under him many great Subjects, fuch as were Allecanry with them to the Warre, some thousand some fifteen hundred Bow-Men, some more others leffe, these they called Sagamores. This Bashaba had many enemies, especially those to the East and North-Eaft, whome they called Tarentines, those to the West and South-West, were called Sockhigones, but the Tarentines were counted a more war-like and hardy People, and had indeed the least opportunity to make their attempts upon them, by reason of the conveniency and opportunity of the Rivers and Sea, which affoarded a speedy paffage into the Bashabaes Country, which was called Moasham, and that part of the Country which lay between the Scekbigones Country and Moasham was called Apistama : The Massachifans and Bashabaes were fonictimes Friends and sometimes Enemies as it fell out, but the Bashaba and his People feemed to be of fome eminence above the P 2 reft, in all that part of the Continent ; his owne chiefe abode was not far from Pemaquid, but the Warre growing more and more violent between the Bashaba and the Tarentines, who (as it feemed) prefumed upon the hopes they had to be favoured of the French that were feated in Canada. their next neighbours, the Tarentines furprised the Balbaba and flew him and all his People near about him, carrying away his Women, and fuch other matters as they thought of value; after his death the publique bafineffe running to confusion for want of an head, the reft of his great Sagamores fell at variance among themselves, spoiled and destroyed each others people and provision, and famine took hould of many, which was feconded by a great and generall plague, which fo violently rained for three yeares together. that in a manner the greater part of that Land was left defere without any to diffurb or appeale our free and peaceable poffestion thereof, from whence we may justly conclude, that GOD made the way to effect his work according to the time he had affigned for laying the foundation thereof. In all which there is to be noted, the next of the Plantations before spoken of, were not performed but by Warre and Slaughter, and fome of them with Murther of fo many millions of the Natives, as it it is horror to be spoken of. efpecially being done by the hands of Chriftians, who alone of all People in the World professe the gaining of all Soules to GOD onely by preaching the Gospell of CHRIST 7ESUS our Sole Redeemer, and all this done, as being prefented. perfecuted, not perfecuting ; but let us be filent and confefe, that that is best done that GOD doth himfelfe, and next we must know, that what he fuffers to be done, is not for us rashly to centure, but to give him the Glory for all. whofe will we defire may be done hereon as, &c.

Yet I trust we may be humbly bold to believe that when God manifesteth his assistance unto his people, he gives them cavfe to believe he will not leave them till they leave him.

The benefits already received, and what Time and Industry may produce.

A S for the benefit which may arife by fuch Plantations, e pecially those our Nation is in travaile with at present, first we find by daily experience what numbers of thipping and Marriners are imployed thereby. Next how many thousands of the fubjects are transported into those parts, that otherwise might have feiled themfelves under foreigne States to the prejudice and hinderance of our owne Manufactors faid overthrow of that kind of trade, whereas by planting where they do, that is not only. prevented, but new Trades impossibly to be raifed. Further, it prevents our neighbours from occuping those territories that fo diligently ( according to their powers ) fought to poffesse themselves thereof, who by that meanes might eafily ( as it were ) befeige us on all fides, that we should neither be Southward, nor follow our filhing Craft in Nim-Found-Land ; or upon those coasts, but by their permission.

But the fame advantage by means of those Plantations lyes new in our power, if the King shall have occasion to make use thereof; belides so large a continent abounding with so many excellent Lakes, of so mighty extens, from whence iffue to many rivers, such variable kinds of soiles, rich in frutification of all manner of seeds or graine, so likely to abound in mineralls of all forts, and other rich gaine of commodities not yet to be known, besides Furrs of several kinds, both useful and Merchantable, proper for foreigne Markets.

The people being cloathed with long robes, their heads bald or fhaven, fo as it is conceived they must be Catayons or Chinawaies whatfoever they be, were the ftrength of my body and meanes answerable to my heart, I would undertake the difcovery of the uttermost extent thereof and wholoever shall effect the fame, shall both eternize his vertues, and make happy : fuch as will endeavour to partake thereof.

Being a Relation of the first planting in New England, in the Yeare, 1628.

C H A P. I. The fad Condition of England, when this People removed.

Hen England began to decline in Religion, like luke-warme Laodicea, and inftead of purging out Popery, a farther compliance was fought not onely in vaine Idolatrous Ceremonies, but also in prophaning the Sabbath, and by Proclamation throughout their Parisch churches, exasperating lewd and prophane persons to celebrate a Sab1628.

these adversaries triumph, despissing this day of small things, but in this hight of their pride the Lord Chriss brought sudden, and unexpected destruction upon them. Thus have you a touch of the time when this worke began.

(brift feins intending to manifelt his Kingly Office toward his Churches more fully then ever yet the Sons of men faw, even to the uniting of few and Gentile Churches in one Faith, begins with our English Nation (whofe former Reformation being vere imperfect) doth now refolve to calt down their falls foundation of Prelacy, even in the hight of their domineering dignity. And therefore in the years 1628. he flirres up his fervants as the Heralds of a King to make this Proclamation for Voluntiers as followeth.

Oh yes ! oh yes ! oh yes ! All you the people of Christ that are bere Oppressed, Imprisoned and scurrilously devided, gather your selves together, your Wises and little ones, and answer to your severall Names as you shall be shipped for his service, in the Westerne World, and more essecially for planting the united Collonies of new England; Where you are to attend the service of the King of Kings, upon the divulging of this Proclamation by his Herralds at Armes. Many (although otherwise willing for this service) began to object as followeth:

Can it poffible be the mind of Chrift, (who formerly inabled fo many Souldiers of his to keepe their flation unto the death here) that now fo many brave Souldiers difciplined by Chrift himfelfe the Captaine of our falvation, fhould turne their backs to the differentiation of their Fellow-Souldiers, and loffe of further opportunity in gaining a greater number of Subjects to Chrifts Kingdome?

Notwithstanding this Objection, It was fatther proclaimed as followeth : What Creature, wilt not know that Christ thy King crusheth with a rod of Iron, the Pomps and Pride of man, and must he like man cast and contrive to take bis enemies at advanrage? No, of purpose hee causeth such instruments to retreate as he hath made strong for himselfe : that so his adversaries glorying in the pride of their power, insulting over the little remnant remaining, Christ causeth them to be cast downe suddenly forever, and wee find in stories reported, Earths Princes have passed of Sions Saviour, in New England.

The Summer after the blazing Starre ( whofe motion in the Heavens was from East to West, poynting out to the fons of men the progresse of the glorious Gospell of Chrift, the glorious King of his Churches ) even about the yeare 1618. a little before the removeall of that Church of Christ from Holland to Plimoth in New England, as the ancient Indians report, there befell a great mortality among them, the greatest that ever the memory of Father to Sonne tooke notice of, chiefly defolating those places. where the English afterward planted the Country of Pockanoky. Agifawamg, it was almost wholy deferted, infomuch that the Neighbour Indians did abandon those places for feare of death. fleeing more Welt & by South, observing the East and by Northern parts were molt fmitten with this contagion, the Abarginny men confifting of Mattachufets, Wippanaps and Tarratines were great. ly weakned, and more especially the three Kingdomes, or Saggamore fhips of the Mattachusets, who were before this morrality most populous, having under them feven Dukedomes or petty Saggamores, and the Niantick's and Narrowganfits, who before this came were but of little note, yet were they now not much increased by such as fled thither for feare of death, the Peceds ( who retained the Name of a war-like people, till afterwards conquered by the English ) were also fmitten at this time. Their Difease being a fore Confumption, fweeping away whole Families, but chiefly yong Men and Children, the very feeds of increase, their Powwowes, which are their Doctors, working partly by Charmes, and partly by Medicine, were much amazed to see their Wigwams lie full of dead Corpes; and that now neither Squantam nor Abbamocho cou'd helpe, which are the

But by this meanes Chrife ( whole great and glorious workes the Earth throughout are altogether for the benefit of his Churches and chofen) not onely made roome for his people to plant ; but alfo tamed the hard and crusll hearts of these barbarous Indians, infomuch that halfe a handfull of his people landing not long after in Plimoth-Plantation, found little resistance, of whom the Author purposes not to fpeake particularly, being prevented by the honoured Mr. Winflow, who was an eye-witneffe of the worke : onely thus much by the way, they were fent to keepe posseffion for their Brethren and fellow Souldiers, who arrived eight yeares after them, as in proceffe of this flory will God-willing appeare : and verily herein they quit themfelves like men, or rather Chrift for and by them, maintaining the place notwithstanding the multitude of difficulties they met withall at their first landing, being in doubtfull suspence what intertainment these Barbarians would give them, having with prayer supplicated the Lord in the Name of Chrift their King and guide in this their undertaking, they manned out a Boate to discover what flore of the Inhabitants were there. all fied with great fwiftneffe through the Woods and Thickets, then the English, who more thirsted after their conversion than destruction, returned to their Bote without receiving any damage, and soon after arrived where they left their Brethren, to whom they declared the good hand of God toward them, with thankfull acknowledgement of this great worke of his in preferving them; Yet did they all remaine full of incumbred thoughts, the Indians, of whose multitudes they had now some intelligence, together with experience of spirits, and also knew will without commerce with them they were not like long to fubfilt.

But hee, whole worke they went about, wrought fo rare a Providence for them, which cannot but be admired of all that heare it. Thus it befell as they were difcourfing in the Bote they had built for shelter, all of a sudden, an Indian came in among them, at whole speech they were all agast, he speaking in the English Language, Much welcome Englishmen, their wonder was the greater, because upon those Costes they supposed no English had fo much as fet foote, and verily Chrift had prepared him on purpose to give his people intertainment, the Indian having lived in England two year or thereabout, after which he returned home, and at this time had wandred into those parts in company of other Lidians, all this, and the condition of the neere adjoyning Indians, hee foon difcovered unto them, at which they were transported beyond themselves very much, what with joy and the mixture of their former feare and affection intervening with the other, surprised all their senses of a sudden, that long it was ere each party could take its proper place, yea, and beyond all this Chrift Jefus, by the power of his bleffed Spirit, did now work upon all their faculties both of Soule and Body, the great impreffion of his prefent Providence might not foon be walhed off with the following incumbred cares of a Defart Wilderneffe : but to contract, they made use of the present opportunity, and by the inftrumentall meanes of this Indian, became acquainted and reconciled with most of the Neighbouring Indians. And af. terward planted a Church of Chrift there, and fet up civill Go. vernment, calling the Name of the place Plimoth : under this jurildiction there are ten Churches at this very day, this being the fi ft CHAP.9. Nd now they enter the Ships, fhould they have caft up Awhat it would have cost to people New England before hand, the most strongest of Faith among them would certainly have ftaggered much, and very hardly have fet faile. But behold and wonder at the admirable Acts of Chrift, here it is caft up to thy hand, the paffage of the perfons that peopled New England coft ninety five thousand pounds, the Swine, Goates; Sheepe, Neate and Horfe, colt to transport twelve thousand pound, befides the price they colt, getting food for all perfons for the sime till they could bring the Woods to tillage amounted unto forty five thousand pounds ; Nayles, Glasse and other Ironworke for their meeting houles, and other dwelling houles before they could raife any meanes in the Country to purchase them, Eighteene thousand pounds. Armes, Powder, Bullet and Match, together with their great Artillery, twenty two thou-. fand pounds : the whole fum amounts unto one hundred ninety two thousand pound, beside that which the Adventurers laid out in England, which was a small pittance compared with this, and indeed most of those that cast into this Banke were the chiefe Adventurers. Neither let any man thinke the fum above expref. fed did defray the whole ch rge of this Army, which amounts to above as much more, onely this fum lies still in banke, and the other they have had the income againe ; This therefore is chiefly presented to fatisfie such as thinke New England men have beene bad husbands in mannaging their Ellatest, affuredly here CHAF. 14. Of the first leading of these People of Christ, when the Civill Government was Established.

DUt to goe on with the Story, the 12 of Inly or thereabout D1630. these Souldiers of Christ first let foote one this Westerne end of the World: where arriveing in fafety, both Men. Women and Children. On the North fide of Charles River, they landed neare a small Island , called Noddells Island , where one Mr. Samuel Mavereck then living, a man of a very loving and curteous behaviour, very ready to entertaine ftrangers, yet an enemy to the Reformation in hand, being ftrong for the Lordly Prelaticall power one this Ifland, he had built a fmall Fort with the helpe of one Mr. David Tompfon, placing therein foure Martherers to protect him from the Indians. About one mile diftant upon the River ran a fmall creeke, taking its Name from Major Gen. Edward Gibbons, who dwelt there for fome yeares after ; One the South fide of the River one a poine of Land called Blaxtons point, planted Mr. William Blaxton, of whom we have formerly fpoken : to the South Eaft of him, neare an Island called Tompfons Island lived fome few Planters more, these persons were the first Planters of those parts, having fome Imall Trading with the Indians for Beaver-Skins, which moved them to make their aboade in those parts, whom these fift Troopes of Chrifts Army, found as fit helpes to further their worke. At their arrivall those small number of Christians gathered at Salem, greatly rejoycing and the more, becaufe they faw fo many that came chiefly for promoting the great Work of Chrift in hand, the Lady Arrabella and fome other godly Women aboad at Salem, but their Husbands continued at Charles Town, both for the fettling the civill Government, and gathering another Church of Chrift. The fift Court was holden aboard the Arrabella the 23. of August. When the much honoured John Wintrope Elq. was chosen Governour for the remainder of that yeare, 1630. Alfo the worthy Thomus Dudly Efg. was cholen Deputy Governour, and Mr. Simon Brodestreet Secretary, the people after their long Voyage were many of them troubled with with the Scarvy, and fome of them died : the first flation they tooke up was at Charles Towne, where they pitched fome Tents of Closth, other built them small Huts, in which they lodged their Wifes and Children. The first beginning of this worke feemed very dolorous; First for the death of that worthy perfonage Izaac Johnson Elq, whom the Lord had indued with many pretious gifts, infomuch that he was had in high effeceme among all the people of God, and as a chiefe Pillar to support this new crefted building. He very much rejoyced at his death, that the Lord had been pleased to keepe his eyes open so long, as to see one Church of Christ gathered before his death, at whose departure there was not onely many weeping eyes, but some fainting hearrs, fearing the fall of the present worke. For future Remembrance of him mind this Meeter.

The griefe of this people was further increafed by the fore fickneffe which befell among them, fo that almost in every Family Lamentation, Mourning, and woe was heard, and no fresh food to be had to cherisch them, it would affuredly have moved the most lockt up affections to Teares no doubt, had they pass from one Hut to another, and beheld the piteous case these people were in, and that which added to their prefent diffress was the want of fresh water, for although the place did afford plenty. plenty, yet for present they could finde but one Spring, and that not to be come at, but when the tide was downe, which caused many to passe over to the South-fide of the River, where they afterward erected some other Townes, yet most admirable it was to see with what Christian courage many of these Souldiers of Christ carried it amidst all these calamities, and in Oslober, the Governour Deputy and Affistants, held their facond Court on the South-fide of the River; Where they then began to build, holding correspondency with Charles Towne, as one and the fame.

At this Court many of the first Planters came, and were made free, yet afterward none were admitted to this fellowship, or freedome, but such as were first joyned in fellowship with some one of the Churches of Chrift, their chiefest aime being bent to promote his worke altogether. The number of Freemen this yeare was 110, or thereabout.

Of the second Church of Christ, gathered at Charles Towne in the Mattaculets Bay, 1631.

And now the new-come Souldiers of Christ ftrengthen Athemfelves in him, and gather a Church at Charles Towne, whole extent at prefent did reach to both fides of the River, and in very little time after was divided into two Churches, the Reverend and judicious Mr. John Willon was called to be Paftor thereof, a Man full of Faith, Courage and Zeale, for the truth of Christ perfecuted, and hunted after by the usurping Prelates ( and forced for prefent to part from his indeared Wife ) yet honoured by Christ, and made a powerfull inftrument in his hands for the cutting downe of Error, and Schifme, as in the fequell of this Hiltory will appeare, in whole weakeneffe Christs power hath appeared.

But as his chofen Ifrael met with many difficulties after their returne from Captivity, in building the Temple and City, which they valiantly waded through ; So thele weake wormes ( Oh Chrift to thy praife be it fpoken ) were most wonderfully holpen in fuch diffreffes, as to appearance of man feemed to be both hopeleffe, and helpleffe, threatning deftruction to the whole building, and far from accomplifhing fuch great things as you have in part feene already , and thall in the following difcourse (God willing) fee more abundantly, adding a ftrong testimony to the work, that as it was begun by Chrift, fo hath it beene carried on by him, and fhall to the admiration of the whole World be perfected in his time, and unleffe men will be wilfully blinde, they must needs fee and confeffe the fame . and that the influence thereof hath already run from one end of the Earth unto the other.

Of the Lords gracious protection of his people, from the barbarous cruelties of the Heathen.

A Bout this time the Indians that were molt conversant a-I mong them, came quaking and complaining of a barbarous and cruell people called the Tarratines, who they faid would eat fuch Men as they caught alive, tying them to a Tree, and gnawing their fl. fh by peece-meales off their Bones, as allo that they were a ftrong and numerous people, and now comming, which made them fire to the English, who were but very few in number at this time, and could make but little refiltance, being much dispersed, yet did they keepe a constant watch, neglecting no meanes (brift had put into their hands for their owne fafety, in fo much that they were exceedingly weakned with continued labour, watching and hard diet, but the Lord graciously upheld them in all, for thus it befell neers the Towne of Linn, then called Sangust, in the very dead of the night ( being upon their watch, because of the report that went of the Indians approach to those parts) one Lieutenant Walker, a man indued with faith. and of a couragious spirit, comming to relieve the Centinell being come up with him, all of a fudden they heard the Sticks crack hard by them, & withall he felt fomething bruth hard upon his thoulder, which was an Indian arrow thot through his Coat, and the wing of his buffe-Jacket. thefe Indians, whofe approach they demed would be fulden, they agreed to: dischage their great Gans, the redoubling eccho rattling in the Rocks cauled the Indians to betake themfelves to fight (being a terrible unwonted found unto them ) or rather he who put fuch trembling feare in the Affyrians Army, ftruckthe like in these cruell Canniballs. In the Aniumne following, the Indians, who had all this time held good correspondency with the English, begin to quarrell with them about their bounds of Land, notwithstanding they purchased all they had of them, but the Lord put an end to this quarrell allo, by fmiting the Indians with a fore D fe fe, even the small Pox ; of the which great numbers of them died, yet these servants of Christ minding their Mafters bufineffe, were much moved in affection toward them to fee them depart this life without the knowledge of God in Chrift. And therefore were very frequent among them for all the noyfomenesse of their Disease, entring their Wigwams, and exhorting them in the Name of the Lord. Among others one of the chiefe Saggamores of the Mattachusets, whom the English named Saggamore John, gave fome good hopes, being alwayes very courteous to them, whom the godiy, and much honour'd among the English, visiting a little before his death, they instructing him in the knowledge of God. Qaoth hee by and by mee Mattamoy may be my two Sons live, you take them to teach much to know God.

Accordingly the honoured Mr. John Winthrop, and the Reverend Mr. John Wilfon tooke them home, notwithftanding the infectious of the Discase their Father died of. The mortality among them was very great, and increased among them daily more and more, infomuch that the poore Creatures being very timorous of death, would faine have fled from it, but could not tell how, unless they could have gone from themselves; Relations were little regarded among them at this time, fo that many, who were smitten with the Discase died helpless, unless Wizards, and Charmers, Athamochas Factors were posses with greatest feare of any. The Winters piercing cold flayed not the firength of this hot Discase, yet the English endeavouring to visit their fick Wigwams, helpe them all they could, but as H 2 they entred one of their matted Houses, they beheld a most fad spectacle, death having smitten them all fave one poore Infant, which lay on the ground sucking the Breast of its dead Mother, feeking to draw living nourishment from her dead breast. Their dead they left oft-times unburied, wherefore the English were forced to dig holes, and drag their flinking corps into them. Thus did the Lord allay their quarrelsome spirits, and made roome for the following part of his Army. This yeare came over more fupplies to forward the worke of Christ.

This yeare was the first choile of Migistrates by frec-men, whole number was now increased, fifty three or thereabout, to declare the manner of their Government is by the Author deferred till the year. 1637, where the Reader may behold Government both in Churches and Common-wealth, to be an infitution of the Lord, and much availeable through his b'effing for the accompl fhment of his promifes to his people.

This year thele fore-runners of the following Army of Chrift, after the fight of many of the admirable Acts of his providence for them, begun to take up fleddy refolution through the helpe of him to wade through the Ocean, they were farther like to meete withall, and therefore began to plant the yet untilled Earth, having as yet no other meanes to teare up the bulhy lands, but their hands and howes, their bodies being in very ill temper by reason of the Scurvy ( a Difease in those dayes very frequent ) to undergoe fuch extremity, but being prick'd on with hungers fharpe gode, they keepe doing according to their weake abilities, and yet produce but little food for a long feafon but being perfwaded that Chrift will rather raine bread from Heaven, then his people fhould want, being fully perfwaded, they were fet on the worke at his command. Wherefore they followed on with all hands. and the Lord ( who hath the Cattell of thousand Hills, and the Corne of ten thousand Vallies, the whole Earth, and fulneffe of it ) did now raife up fresh supplies to be added to these both of men and provision of food, men no lesse valiant in Faith then them, the former amongst whom was the Reverend Mr. Welds and Ms. James, who was welcomed by the people of Chrift at Charles Towne, and by them called to the Office of a Paftor, where hee continued for fome yeares, and from thence removed to New haven, upon fome feed of prejudice fowne by the enemies of this worke. This yeare of fad diffresfes was ended with a terrible cold Winter, with weekly Snowes, and fierce Frofts betweene while congealing Charles River, as well from the Towne to Sea ward, as above, infomuch that men might frequently passe from one Isand to another upon the Ice. Of the gratious goodneffe of God, in bearing his peoples prayers in times of need, and of the Ship-loades of goods the Lord fent them in.

TEre againe the admirable Providence of the Lord is to be noted, That whereas the Country is naturally fubject to drought, even to the withering of their fummers Fruits, the Lord was pleased, during these yeares of fcarcity, to bleffe that small quantity of Land they planted with featonable fhowers, and that many times to the great admiration of the Heathen, for thus it befell : the extreame parching heate of the Sun (by reafon of a more constant clearnesse of the Aire then usually is in England ) began to fcorch the Herbs and Fruits, which was the chiefest meanes of their livelyhood, they beholding the Hand of the Lord fretched out against them , like tender hearted Children, they fell down on their knees, begging mercy of the Lord, for their Saviours fake, urging this as a chiefe argument, that the malignant adverfary would rejoyce in their deftraction, and blaspheme the pure Ordinances of CHRIST, trampling down his Kingly Commands with their owne inventions, and in uttering these words, their eyes dropped down many teares, their their affections prevailing fo ftrong, that they could not refraine in the Church-Affembly. Here admire and be ftrong in the Grace of Chrift, all you that hopefully belong unto him, for as they powred out water before the Lord, fo at that very inflant, the Lord fhowred down water on their Gardens and Fields, which with great induftry they had planted, and now had not the Lord caufed it to raine fpeedily, their hops of food had beene loft : but at this thefe poore wormes were fo exceedingly taken, that the Lord fhould fhew himfelfe fo neere unto their Prayers, that as the drops from Heaven fell thicker, and fafter, fo the teares from their eyes by reafon of the fudden mixture of joy and forfow, and verily they were exceedingly firred in their affections, being unable to refolve themfelves, which mercy was greateft, to have a humble begging heart given them of God, or to have their requeft fo fuddenly anfwered.

The Indians hearing hereof, and feeing the fweet raine that fell, were much taken with Englishmens God, but the Lord feeing his poore peoples hearts were to narrow to beg, his bounties exceeds toward them at this time, as indeed hee ever hitherto hath done for this Wildernesse-People, not onely giving the full of their requefts, but beyond all their thoughts, as witnesse his great worke in England of late, in which the prayers of Gods people in New England have had a great ftroke : These people now rifing from their knees to receive the rich mercies of Chrift. in the refreshed fruits of the Earth ; Behold the Sea alfo bringing in whole Ship-loades of mercies, more being filled with fresh forces, for furthering this wonderfull worke of Chrift, and indeed this yeare came in many pretious ones, whom Chrift in his grace hath made much use of in these his Churches, and Common-wealth, infomuch that these people were even almost over-ballanced with the great income of their prefent possefied mercies, yet they addresse themselves to the Sea shore, where they courteoully welcom the famous fervant of Chrift, grave godly and judicious Hooker, and the honoured fervant of Chrift, M John Haynes, as also the Reverend and much defired Mr. John Cotton, and the Retoricall, Mr. Stone, with divers others of the fincere fervants of Chrift, comming with their young, and with their old, and with their whole fubstance, to doe him fervice in this

The people of this Church and Towne have hitherto had the chiefell fhare in fpitituall bleffings, the Ministry of the Word, by more then ordinary inftruments as in due time and place (God willing) you fhall farther heare, yet are they at this day in a thriving condition in outward things, also both Corne and Cattell, N ate and Sheepe, of which they have a good flocke, which the Lord hath caused to thrive much in these latter dayes then formerly.

This Towne was appointed to be the feate of Government. but it continued not long, this years a small gleane of Rye was brought to the Court as the first fruits of English graine, at which this poore people greatly rejoyced to fee the Land would beare it, but now the Lords bleffing that way hath exceeded all peoples expectation, cloathing the Earth with plenty of all kinde of graine. Here minde I must the Reader of the admirable acts of Christs Providence toward this people, that although they were in such great straites for foode, that many of them eate their Bread by waight, and had little hopes of the Earths fruitfullnesse, yet the Lord Christ was pleased to refresh their spirits with fuch quickning grace, and lively affections to this Templeworke, that they did not defert the place; and that which was more remarkable, when they had fcarce houfes to fhelter them . felves, and no doores to hinder the Indians accesse to all they had in them, yet did the Lord fo awe their hearts, that although they frequented the Englishmens places of aboade, where their whole substance, weake Wives and little ones lay open to their plunder ; during their absence being whole dayes at Sabbath-Affemblies, yet had they none of their food or fluffe diminished. neither Children nor Wives hurt in the least measure, although the Indians came commonly to them at those times, much hungry belly ( as they ale to fay ) and were then in number and Arength beyond the English by far.

Yet further fee the great and noble Acts of Chrift toward this his wandering people, feeling agains the fearcity of foode, and being confirmined to come to a fmall pittance daily, the Lord to provide for them, caufeth the Deputy of Ireland to fet forth a great Ship unknowne to this people, and indeed fmall reafon in his own apprehensions why he should fo do (but Chrift will have

This Ship ariving, being filled with food, the godly Governors did fo order it that each Town fent two men aboard of her, who tooke up their Townes allowance, it being ap. pointed before hand, what their portion fhould be, to this end that fome might not by all, and others be left deftitute of food. In the vernall of the yeare 1634. This people being increased, and having among them many pretious effeemed inftruments for furthering this wonderous worke of Chrift, they began to thinke of fortifying a small Ifland about two miles diftant from Bofton to Sea-ward, to which all the Veffells come in ufually and paffe. To this end the honoured Mr. John Winthrope with fome 8. or 10. perfons of note, tooke boate and arrived on the faid Illand in a warme Sun fhineday, just at the breaking up of Winter as they deemed, bu: being they were fudden furprifed with a cold North-west florme (which is the sharpest winde in this Country ) freezing very vehemently for a day and a night, that they could not get off the Ifland, but were forced to lodge there, and lie in a heape one upon another ( on the ground ) to keepe themfelves from freezing.

This yeare 1634. the much honoured Thomas Dudly Elquire, was chosen Governor, and Mr. Roger Ludlow Deputy Governor, the Freemen added to this little Common-wealth this year were about two hundred and foure, about this time a fincere fetvant of Chrift Mr. Store was added to the Church of Chrift at New-towne, as a meet helpe to instruct the People of Chrift there, with the above named Mr. Hooker, and as he hath hetherto bin (through the bleffing of God) an able instrument in hishands to further the worke. Of the Lords remarkable providence toward bis indeared fervants M.Noston and Mr.Shepherd.

TOw my loving Reader, let mee lead thee by the hand to our Native Land, although it was not intended to speake in particulars of any of these peoples departure from thence, purpoling a generall relation should ferve the turne, yet come with mee and behold the wonderous worke of Chrift in preferving two of his most valiant Sou'diers, namely Mr. John Norton, and that foule ravishing Minister Mr. Thomas Shepheard, who came this yeare to Tarmouth to thip themfelves for New England, where the people of God reforted privately unto them to hear them Preach, during the time of their aboade the Enemies of Chrifts Kingdome were not wanting to use all meanes poffible to intrap them, in which perilous condition they remained about two months, waiting for the Ships readinege, in which time fome perfons esgerly hunting for Mr. Thomas Shepbeard, began to plot (for apprehending of him) with a Boy of fixteene or seventeene yeares of Age, who lived in the House where hee Lodged to open the doore for them at a certaine houre in the night ; But the Lord Chrift, who is the Shepheard of Ifrael kept a most fure watch over his indeared fervants, for thus it befell, the fweet words of grace falling from the of lips of this Reverend and godly Mr. Thomas Shepheard in the hearing of the Boy ( the Lords working withall ) hee was perfwaded this was an holy man of God, and sherefore with many troubled thoughts, began to relate his former practife, although hee had a great some of money promised him, onely to let them in at the houre and time appointed ; but the Boy, the more neere the time came, grew more penfive and fad, infomuch that his Mafter taking CHAP.29. taking notice thereof began to queftion him about the caufe of his heavineffe, who being unwilling to reveale the matter, held of from confeffing a long time, till by urgent and infinuating fearch of his godly Mafter, with teares hee tells that on fuch a night hee had agreed to let in Men to apprehend the godly Preacher. The good Man of the house forthwith gave notice thereof unto them , who with the helpe of fome well-affected perfons was convay'd away by boate through a back Lane, the men at the time appointed came to the house, where finding not the doore open (when they lifted up the Latch) as they expected, they thruft their flaves under it to lift it from the hookes, but being followed by fome perfons, whom the good man of the house had appointed for that end : yet were they boulfired out in this their wicked act by those who fet them one worke. Notwithstanding they were greatly ashamed when they milt of their end.

But the Lord Chrift intending to make his New England Souldiers the very wonder of this Age, brought them into greater straites, that this Wonder Working Providence might the more appeare in their deliverance, for comming a shipboard, and hoifeing faile to accomplifh their Voyage, in little time after they were toffed and fore beaten with a contrary winde, to the loffe of the Ships upper worke, with which loffe and great pezill they were driven back sgaine, the Lord Chrift intending to confirme their Faith in fhewing them, that although they were brought back, is it were into the mouth of their enemies, yet hee could hide them from the hand of the Hunter, for the space of fix moneths longer or thereabout, even till the Spring of the yeare following, at which time (God willing )you thall hear of them againe, in the meane time the Mafter, and other Sea men made a ftrange construction of the fore ftorme they met withall, faying, their Ship was bewitched, and therefore made ufe of the common Charme ignorant people ule, nailing two red hot horfehoos to their maine maft. But affuredly it was the Lord Chrift, who hath command both of Winds and Seas, and now would have his people know he hath delivered, and will deliver from fo great a death.

His year came over a farther fupply of Eminent inftruments for furthering this admirable Worke of his, amongft whom the Reverend and judicious fervant of Chrift Mr. Nathaniel Ward. who tooke up his flation at the Towne of Ipfwich, where the faithfull fervants of Chrift gathered the Ninth Church of his. This Towne is feituated on a faire and delightfull River, whole first tife or foring begins about five and twenty Miles farther up in the Countrey, iffuing forth a very pleafant pond. But foone after it betakes its courfe through a moft hideous fwamp of large extent, even for many Miles, being a great Harbour for Beares: after its comming forth this place, it groweth larger by the income of many fmall Rivers, and iffues forth in the Sea, due Eaft over against the Island of Sholes , a great place of fishing for our English Nation, the peopling of this Towne is by men of good ranke and quality, many of them having the yearly Revenue of large Lands in England before they came to this Wilderneffe, but their Eftates being imployed for Chrift, and left in banke, as you have formerly heard, they are well content till Chrift fhall be pleafed to reftore it agains to them or theirs, which in all reafon should be out of the Prelates Lands in England. Let all those, whom it concernes (to judge ) confider it well, and do Tuffice herein.

This Towne lies in the Sag gamoereship, or Earldome of Aggamam, now by our English Nation called Essex. It is a very good Haven Towne, yet a little barr'd up at the Mouth of the River, fome Marchants here are, (but Boston, being the chiefestplace of refort of Shipping, carries away all the Trade) they have very good Land for Husbandry, where Rocks hinder not the course of the Plow: the Lord hath beene pleased to increase them in Corne and Cattell of late; Infomuch that they have manyhundred quarters to spare yearly, and feed, at the latter end of Summer, the Towne of Boston with good Beefe : their Houses are many of them very faire built with pleasant Gardens and Orchards, consilting of about one hundred and forty Families. The place of fetling themfelves, and erecting a Towne was far upon the River, the part next the Sea being very Rocky, but on the banke of this River they planted the good Towne of Hartford, and eltablished civill Government : of their gathering into a Church, you have formerly heard. TOw because it is one of the admirable acts of Chrift Providence in leading his people forth into these Westerne Fields, in his providing of Huts for them, to defend them from the bitter ftormes this place is subject nnto, therefore here is a fhort Epitome of the manner bow they placed downe their dweilings in this Defart Wilderneffe, the Lord being pleafed to hide from the Eyes of his peop'e the difficulties they are to encounter withall in a new Plantation, that they might not thereby be hindered from taking the worke in hand ; upon fome inquiry of the Indians, who lived to the North-welt of the Bay, one Captaine Simon Willard being acquainted with them, by reafon of his Trade, became a chiefe instrument in crecking this Town, the land they purchase of the Indians, and with much difficuities traveling through unknowne woods, and through watery fcrampes, they discover the fitnesse of the place, sometimes paf. fing through the Thickets, where their hands are forced to make way for their bodies paffage, and their feete clambering over the croffed Trees, which when they miffed they funke into an uncertaine bottome in water, and wade up to the knees, tumbling fometimes higher and fometimes lower, wearied with this toile, they at end of this meete with a fcorching plaine, yet not fo plaine, but that the ragged Bushes foratch their legs fouly even to wearing their flockings to their bare skin in two or three houres; if they be not otherwife well defended with Bootes, or Buskings, their flefh will be torne: ( that fome being forced to paffe on without further provision ) have had the bloud trickle downe at every ftep, and in the time of Summer the Sun cafts fuch a reflecting heate from the fweet Ferne, whole fcent is very trong, fo that fome herewith have beene very nere fainting, although very able bodies to undergoe much travell, and this not to be indured for one day, but for many, and verily did not the Lord incourage their naturall parts ( with hopes of a new and frong м

Yet farther to tell of the hard labours this people found in-Planting this Wilderneffe, after fome dayes fpent in fearch, toyling in the day time as formerly is faid ; like true facob, its they reft shem one the Rocks where the night takes them, their fbort repast is some small pittance of Bread, if it hold out, but as for Drinke they have plenty, the Countrey being well watered in all places that yet are found out, their farther hardship is to travell, fometimes they know not whether, bewildred indeed without fight of Sun, their compasse miscarrying in crouding through the Bulhes, they fadly fearch up and down for a known way, the Indians paths being not above one foot broad, fo that a man may travell many dayes and never find one. But to be fure the directing Providence of Chrift hath beene better unto them than many paths, as might here be inferted, did not halk call my Pen away to more waighty matters ; yet by the way a souch thus, it befell with a fervant maide, who was travelling about three or foure miles from one Towne to another, loofing her felfe in the Woods, had very diligent fearch made after ber for the fpice of three dayes, and could not poffible be found, then

This intricate worke no whit daunted these resolved fervants of Chrift to goe on with the worke in hand, but lying in the open aire, while the watery Clouds poure down all the night featon, and fometimes the driving Snow diffolving on their backs, they keep their wet cloathes warme with a continued fire, till the renew. ed morning give frelh opportunity of further travell; after they have thus found out a place of aboad, they burrow themfelves in the Earth for their firft fhelter under fome Hill-fide, caffing the Earth aloft upon Timber ; they make a smoaky fire against the Earth at the highest fide, and thus these poore servants of Christ provide fhelter for themfelves, their Wives and little ones, keep. ing off the fhort fhowers from their Lodgings, but the long raines penetrate through, to their great diflurbance in the night feafon: yet in these poore WigWames (they fing Plalmes, pray and praise their God) till they can provide them houses, which ordinarily was not wont to be with many till the Earth, by the Lords bleffing, brought forth Bread to feed them, their Wives and little ones, which with fore labours they attaine every one that can lift a hawe to firike it into the Earth, flanding foutly to their labours, and teare up the Rootes and Bulnes, which the first yeare beares them a very thin crop, till the foard of the Earth be rotten, and therefore they have been forced to cut their bread very thin for a long featon. But the Lord is pleafed to provide for them great flore of F.fh in the fpring time, and especially Alewives about the bigneffe of a Herring, many thousands of these, they used to put under their Indian Corne, which they plant in Hills five foote alunder, and affuredly when the Lord sreated this Corne, heehad a speciall eye to supply these his peoples wants with it, for ordinarily five or fix graines doth produce fix hundred.

As for flesh they looked not for any in those times (although now they have plenty) unlesse they could barter with the Indians for Venison or Rockoons, whose flesh is not much inferiour unto Lambe, the toile of a new Plantation being like the labours of Hercules never] at an end, yet are none to barbarously bent M 2 (under ( under the Mattacufets especially ) but with a new Plantation they ordinarily gather into Church-fellowship, fo that Pastors and people fuffer the inconveniences together, which is a grear meanes to feafon the fore labours they undergoe, and verily the edge of their appetite was greater to fpirituall duties at their firle comming in time of wants, than afterward : many in new Plantations have been forced to go barefoot, and bareleg;, till thefe latter daves, and some in time of Frost and Snow : Yet were they then very healthy more then now they are: in this Wildernesse-worke men of Estates speed no better than others, and fome much worfe for want of being inured to fuch hard labour; having laid out their effate upon cattell at five and twenty pound a Cow, when they came to winter them with in-land Hay, and feed upon fuch wild Fother as was never cut before, they could not hold out the Winter, but ordinarily the first or fecond years after their comming up to a new Plantation, many of their Cattell died, especially if they wanted Salt-marshes: and also those, who supposed they should feed upon Swines fl. ih were cut thort, the Wolves commonly feafting themselves before them, who never leave neither flefh nor bones, if they be not fcared away before they have made an end of their meale, as for those who laid out their Eftate upon Sheepe, they fpeed worft of any at the beginning ( although fome have fped the belt of any now ) for untill the Land be often fed with other Cattell Sheepe cannot live : And therefore they never thrived till these latter dayes a Horfe had then no better successe, which made many an honest Gentleman travell a foot for a long time, and fome have even perifhed with extreame heate in their travells : as alfo the want of English graine, Wheate, Barly and Rie proved a fore affliction to fome ftomacks, who could not live upon Indian Bread. and water, yet were they compelled to it till Cattell increased. and the Plowes could but goe: inftead of Apples and Peares, they had Pomkins and Squathes of divers kinds, their lonefome condition was very grievous to fome, which was much aggravated by continuall feare of the Indians approach, whose cruelties were much spoken of, and more especially during the time of the Pegot Wars.

Thus this poore people populate this howling Defare, marching CHAP.37. of Sions Saviour, in NewEngland. 85 1636. marching manfully on (the Lord affilting) through the greatest difficulties, and forest labours that ever any with fuch weak means have done.

C N A P. XXXVII. Of the Thirteenth Church of Chrift gathered at Hingham, 1636.

A T this time also came to shore the servant of Christ Master Peter Hubbord, whom the Lord was pleased to make use of for feeding his people in this Wildernesse, being called to Office by the Church of Christ at the Town of Hingham, which is scituate upon the Sea coasts South east of Charles River, being a place nothing inferiour to their Neighbours for scituation, and the people have much profited themselves by transporting Timber, Planke and Mast for Shipping to the Town of Boston, as also Ceder and Pine-board to supply the wants of other Townes, and also to remote parts, even as far as Barbadoes. They want not for Fish for themselves and others also.

This Towne confifted of about fixty Families, the forme is fomewhat intricate to describe, by reason of the Seas walting crookes; where it beates upon a mouldering fhore, yet have they compleat ftreetes in some places, the people joyned in Cnurch covenant in this place, were much about an hundred foules, but have been leffened by a fad unbrotherly contention, which fell out among them, walting them every way, continued 'already for feven yeares space, to the great griefe of all other Churches, who held out the right hand of fellowship unto them in Brotherly communion, which may ( the Lord helping) demonstrate to all the true Churches of Chrife the World throughout, al. though they be diffanced by place or Nation, yet ought they never to take up fuch an Independent way, as to reject the advife and counfell of each other, for although the Lord Chrift have complexted his commission in giving fu'l power to every particular Church to exercife all his Ordinances in and toward their owne body, yet hath the Lord fo difpenfed his gifts, that when the one want, the other shall abound both in spirituall and tem-

THis yeare 1636. Sir Henry Vaine, was chosen Governour, and John Winthrope Esquire Deputy Governour, the number of Freemen added were about eighty three. This yeare came over the much honoured Mr. Fenmick. a godly and able instrument to affist in helping to uphold the civill Government of the fecond, and third Colonies here planted, by the Divine Providence of the most high God, hee having purchased the Plantation of Saybrooke Fort, became a good incourager to the Church of Christ at Hartford, where the reverend Mr. Hooker, and Mr. Stone were Officers. #### CHAP. XXXIX.

Of the first appearing in the Field, of the enemies of Christs people in point of Reformation.

A Nd now to follow our first fimile of a Souldier, the Lord Christ having fafely landed many a valiant Souldier of his on these Westerne shores, drawes hither also the common enemies to Reformation, both in Doctrine and Discipline; But it was for like end, as the Lord sometime drew Sisters the Captaine of Jabins army to the River Kishon for their destruction, onely herein was a wide difference; there Sisters was delivered into the hands of a Woman, and here Sisters was a woman; their weapons and warre was carnall, these spirituall; there Jabin was but a man, here Jabin was the common enemy of mans falvation.

In the yeare 1636, the Angels of the feverall Churches of Chrift in N. England founding forth their filver Trumpets, heard ever and anon the jarring found of rating Drums in their eares, firking up an alarum to the battell, it being a frequent thing publikely to oppofe the pure and perfect truths of Chrift ( delivered by the mouth of his Minifters) and that by way of queftion as the Pharifes, Sadduces and Herodians did Chrift. But to bring this diforderly worke of theirs into fome order, for affuredly could the Author come up to relate the full of the matter in hand, it would through the mercy of Chrift make much for the good of Gods people the World throughout, and helpe to difcover the laft (I hope ) but molt fubtile practifes of Satan to hinder the Reflauration of the purity of Chrifts Ordinances in his Churches in all places; As alfo uled by him and his inftruments. CHAP. 29. Of Sions Saviour, in New England to divert the hands of those, to whom it belongs, from pulling downe Antichrist, to which end he stirreth up some of his instruments (well educated in the Masking schoole of Hippocrify) to take upon them this long Voyage, giving them in charge by all meanes to carry it more close, then his Jesuites had done, and for their paines they should have the honours to be counted such, at were of a sharper sight, and deeper differing them any others.

n,knowing right well that at the fall of Antichrift hee muft be chained up for a thoufand years, ftrives with all the wicked craft his long experienced malicious fee could possibly invent, to uphold the fame, having already perfwaded many that his Kingdome was wholy ruinated with our English Nation, and fo diswaded them a long time from further profecuting against him. But Antichrifts Kingdome, as it plainly appeares by Scripture, confist chiefly in two parts, his deceaveible Docteines, and his Kingly power. The first of these being in measure abolish d, the latter was still retained by the Prelacy, and some Lording Presbytery in greater or lesser measure, as they could attaine unto it.

Now Satar, who is daily walking to and fro compaffing the Earth, feeing how these resolved Souldiers of Christ in New England, with indefatigable paines laboured, not onely the finall ruine of Antichrift, in both, but also the advance of Chrifts Kingdome, in feting up daily Churches according to his first inflitution. Wherefore he fers upon a new way to Itop (if it were poffible) this worke of Reformation, and feeing no other way will ferve, he ftirs up inftruments to cry down Antichrift as much as the most, I and more too, but by this project they should leade people as much out of the way on the other hand, and in the Doctrinall part of Antichrifts Kingdome, fall to more horrid Blasphemies then the Papilt (as God willing) you shall heare fome of them did, namely the Gortenist, who most blasphemorally professe themselves to be perfonally the Chrift : and as for the other part of his Kingdome, namely the power or Dominion of the beaft, this they fould with all violence batter downe alfo, but it must be none other then to make way for their owne exaltation, and pay them their wages in the former page promifed them, as also withall to overthow the authority Chrift hath ordained N 2 dained to be continued in his Churches, in and under him, and furthermore to lock up the Sword of Civill Government for ever, especially in matters that concerne the foure first Commands of God, a cunning way to fave the beafts head whole.

You have now heard of the intention, you thall now fee their actions. The Lord Chrift in his boundleffe mercy give all his people eyes to fee, and hearts to believe, that after they have in measure escaped the filthy pollutions of the beaft, they may not againe be intangled with these damnabled Doctrines, ftealing away their hearts by degrees, under a feeming thew of pulling down Antichrift. The Embaffadors of Chrift Fefus, having full liberty to deliver their mafters minde, Preach unto all the Doctrine of Free grace, befeeching them to be reconciled unto God in Chrift, and that the revealed will of God is, that all thould be faved, and come to the knowledge of the truth, and that God hath given his onely begotten Son, That whofeever believeth in bim Bould not perifs, but have everlafting Life. Yet withall mind. ing them that Faith is the gift of God, and none can come un. to Chrift, but such as the Father drawes, and withall that the whole will not fee any need of the Phifitians, but the fick, adding alfo that none can come to the fight of his fickneffs or dead con, dition but by the Liw of God, unleffe they be quicker fighted then the Apostle : They indevour also to build up others in their holy Faith, that they might come to fee the Love of God in Chrift, which paffeth knowledge, and to this end they fhew them the fruits of Faith which worketh by love, and that love will be obedient to all the commands of Christ, who faith, if you love me keepe my Commandements ; And further that Faith purifies the heart, and that a conftant fupply mult be had from Chrift. With these and the like found and wholfome truths the Mini. fters of Chrift feeds their feverall flocks in New England, drawing their Doctrines plainly from their Text, and fubitantially backing them with ftore of Scripture, and undeniable reafon, and then delivering to every Man his portion.

But this good old way would not ferve the turne with cerraine Sectaries that were hither come, who like cunning Sophifters, feeing the bent of the peoples hearts (after fo many mercies received) was to magnifie the rich Grace of God in Chrifts they of Sions Saviour, in New England.

they began to tell the people (yet very privately) that the molt, if not all the Ministers among them Preached a Covenant of workes, either course or fine, and with a what doe you say to this. They begin to spread their Errors and Herefies, laying the foundation of them as nere the truth as possible they can, the easier to deceive, but in the profecution, to be sure they ran far enough from it, but to begin ; First, they quarrell with the Doctrine of Faith in Christ, and say, a Soule is justified without it.

CHAP.40.

CHAP. X L.

Of the cunning policy of Satan in that machevillian Principle, divide and overcome, and of the two first dividing Principles, by mhich many errors were brought in.

A Nd verily Satans policy here (as in all places where the Lord Chrift is acknowledged ) was to keeps men from that one right way, by the which hee applies himfelfe to ithe foule, no marvell then if fo many Errours arife, like those fained heads of Hidra, as fast as one is cut off two stand up in the roome, and chiefly about the uniting of a foule to Chrift by Faith. Their Errors in this point they reported to be the judgement of the Reverend and Judicious Mr. John Cotten; But hee having looken for himfelfe in his answer to Mr. Baily, I forbeare, onely this by the way, take notice of these subtill Projectors, the Erronist I meane, who perceiving this holy man of God Mr. Cotten was, and yet is in great efteeme with the people of God, for the great grace Chrift hath beflowed upon him in his deepe difcerning the mysteries of godlinesse, as also discerning some little difference b. tweene him, and the other Elders about this point, comment upon it, and in large at their pleafure, and then in daily venting their deceivable Doctrines, like fubrill Logicians, bring in thisas their flrongest argument in the last place. I'le tell you Friend, Neighbour, Brother, if you will forbeare to speake of it till you. hear farther, this is the judgement of Mr. Cotten, when he, it may be had never heard of it, or at least wife, when they brought this their baltard'y brar to him, they put another vizird on the face 30 of it : but that you may understand their way of broaching their abominable errors, it was in dividing those things the Lord hath united in his worke of conversion continued, carrying on a Soule to Heaven in these foure Particulars.

First, in dividing betweene the word and the word, under pretence of a legall Gospell, perswading the people their Ministers were legall Preachers, teaching them little better then Popery, and unsit for Gospell Churches, denying them to be any Miniflers of Christ that Preach any preparation worke, by shewing men what the Law requires. Here's nothing fayes one of them, but Preaching out of the Law and the Prophets, truly sayes another of them I have not heard a pure Gospell Sermon from any of them, but fure they were both troubled with the Lethargy. or read not the Gospell themselves, for they may finde the Apossies, and Christ himselfe Preached good Gospell fure, our of the Law and the Prophets.

Secondly, in feparating Chrift and his Graces, in manifelting himfelfe to be in the Soule, and this they fay makes much for the magnifying of Free-grace, and indeed they made it fo free, that the foule that receives it thall never tafte any of it by their confent, but remaine ftill a dry branch as before ; thefe legall Pharifer, fayes one of them, tell us of a thing they callfinherent grace. and of a man being made a new creature, but I am fure the best of them goe on in their legall duties and performances still, forrowing for finne hearing of Sermons, oblerving duty Morning and Evening, and many fuch like matters. Tulh man faves another of them, you fhall hear more then this, I was difcourfing with one of their Scholasticall Preachers Disciples, a professed convert, and yet when he came to pray, he beg'd for forgiveneffe of his fins. I asked him why he used that vaine repetition. fince hee did believe he was just fied by Chrift already, and hee made me an answer not worth repeating, but when I told him God could fee no fiane in his people, no more then I could fee that which was covered close from my eye fight ; hee told mee I fpake little leffe then blasphemy, fo ignorant are these men, and their learned guides alfo ; who perfwade them the more they have of the in-dwelling of the Spirit of Chrift, the better they shall be inabled to these legall duties. Nay, quoth the other, I can tell you more

By this difcou fe of theirs, you may fee the manner how thefe Erronious, and Hereticall perfons batter off the fuit from the goodly branches of Chrifts vines & make bare the flourifhing trees planted in the house of the Lord, and yet professe themfeives to be Schollars of the upper forme, that have learned as far as their Mafters can teach them, but let me tell you friends you'l prove but trewants if you fall thus to Robbing of Orchards, and its an offence far beyond petty Larceny, to rob Chrifts Garden, let your pretences be what they will:can it poffible be for the magnifying of Chrifts Grace that the branches growing upon his root fhou'd remaine fruitlesse ? no affuredly, herein God is glorified that his people bring forth much fruit, yet many of thefe new Gofpel. lers had another plea, hypocrites have a feeming fhew of Saints graces by which they deceive themfelves and others ; And therefore becaufe Felons and Traytors coyne counterfeit Gold, therefore true Gold should not passe for current, but the intent of the Author is to profecute the Hiftory, thefe errours being confuted already by the able fervants of Chrift, whom the Lord in his mercy brought hither for that purpofe.

CHAP. XLI. Of the two latter dividing Principles under which these Erronists fought.

you to a Woman that Preaches better Gofpell then any of your black-coates that have been at the Ninneverfity, a Woman of another kinde of fpirit, who hath had many Revelations of things to come, and for my part, faith hee, I had rather hear fuch a one that speakes from the meere motion of the spirit, without any fludy at all then any of your learned Scollers, although they may be fuller of Scripture (I) and admit they may speake by the helpe of the fpirit, yet the other goes beyond them. Gentle Reader, thinke not these things fained, because I name not the parties, or that here is no witneffe to prove them, fhould I fo do: neither of both is the cau'e I affure you, but being somewhat acquainted with my own weakeneffe, fhould the Lord withdraw the light of his word, and alfo I verily believe fome of them are truly turned againe to the truth, the which I with to all, yet by relating the flory all men may fee what a fpirit of giddineffe they were given up to, and fome of them to ftrong delufions, even to molt horrid and damnable blafphemies, having itching eares, or rather proud defires to become Teachers of others, when they grofly erred in the first Principles of Religion themfelves. There was a man in one of the farthest Townes of the Mattacnfets Government, where they had no Ministers for the prefent. he being much defirous to fhew himfelfe fome body in talking to as many as hee could get to hear him one the Sabbath day, miffing fome of his Auditors, he meets with one of them fome few dayes after, they paffing over the water together, where were you quoth he on the Sabbath day that you were not at the meeting ? we had a notable piece of Prophecy, quoth the man that was miffing, who was it that Preached ? The other replying not: his Wife being in presence, answered ; it was my husband, nay wife, quoth he thou fhoulds not have told him, teach him to flay at home another time.

By this and divers other fuch like matters, which might be here inferted, you may fee how these Sectaries love the preheminence, and for this end seeke to deprive the Ministers of Christ invesigling as many as they can in the head, that they take to much upon them (just like the rebellious Korath, Dathan, and Abiram) scoffing at their Scholler-like way of Preaching, wherein the grosse diffimulation of these erronious persons hath appeared

But to go on, at this time there were many ftrange Revelations told both of Men and Women, as true fome of them faid as the Scripture, fo that furely had this Sect gone on awhile, they would have made a new Bible, and their chief Mistris when the was thipt for N. in the deniall of Infants being Baptized, could neither finde right faith to be Baptized into, nor yet any perfon rightly conffituted to Baptize remaining. Seekers they came to this, but yet here mult not be omitted the flights these Erronists had to fhoulder out the Officers Chrift hash ordained, and fet up in his Churches : and verily in this point they fided directly with the Papift and Prelates, although in most of the other they went directly out of the way on the other hand. Ignorance fay the Papift is the Mother of devotion, its better fay the Protestant Prelates to have (a blind fir John) one that cannot tell how to Preach, provided he will conforme to our Ceremonies, than to have one that will Preach conftantly, and not conforme allo: thefe Erronift, fnew. ing themfelves to be whelps of the fame litter, Cry out against a learned Presbitery, as the onely way to captivate liberty, and herein the transformed Devill came to thew his Hornes. for why. his errors would not take where the people were followers of their feeing guids, and if it be well noted, here is the Mafter. piece of all their knavery, the which comes in after this manner, The Lording Prelacy, Popes, Cardinalls, Bifhops, Deanes, &cc. Were ordinarily brought up at the University to learning, and have most tyrannically abused it : usurping over the People of Chrift, and exercifed most inhumane and barbarous cruelty up. on them ; as also the Presbyterian Kirke by these Provincial Claffes, men of learning having robbed the particular Congregations of their just and lawfull priviledges, which Chrift hath purchafed for them. Each Congregation of his being invested with full power to Administer all the Ordinances he hath ordained, in and toward their owne Members ; and further learned men in fome places, feeding the people for their Tith-fake in a Parifhioniall way, defire the upholding thereof, left their fat Benefices should grow leane.

Now the Redemption of the people of Chrift out of all thefe bondages, being full of difficulty to attaine, as is abundantly witneffed in the great hardfhip Gods people have undergon in this Wilderneffe-worke ; as allo much more by that bloudy war fo long continved in our Native Country, and the two adjacent Kingdomes. This makes a very faire bottome for those to build upon, who would have the fluce of authority in the Officers

My friend cast off as much of thy owne power as thou canft, and beware of Lording it over Gods Heritage, but I pray thee let Chrift alone with his, which he hath given to his Paftors and Teachers in administring the holy things of God, peculiar to their Office, and cremble all you Presbyterians, who to pleafe the people proftrate the authority Chrift hath put upon the Eldrs of his Churches as Officers to the refolute liberty of man: the people may and ought to call them to Office, to the which Cheift hath united double honour and authority, and appointed them to be had in high efteeme for their worke-fake, being Embagadors of Chrift fefus. This may no man take from them, nor yet they themfeives caft off, and yet all this makes nothing for the Papall, Prelaticall, Clafficall or Parishionall authority of the Presbicery, for it holds onely in their ruling well, while they rule for Chrift, they must and shall have the power hee hath put Fourefore upon their Office. able perfons they grow bold, and dare question the found and wholefome truths delivered in publick by the Minifters of Chrift. Their Church-meetings are full of Difputes in points of difference, and their love-Feafts are not free from spots, in their Courts of civill Justice fome men utter their Speeches in matters of Religion very ambiguoufly, and among all forts of perfons agreat talke of new light, but verily it proved but old darkneffe, fuch as sometime ov. r-shidowed the City of Munster ; But bleff.d be the Lord Chrift, who now declared himfelfe to be a helpe at hand for his poore New England Churches, being now intheir infancy, whole condition at present was very dolorous. and full of difficulties, infomuch that the better part of this new transported people flood full many of them gazing one upon mother, like Sheepe let loofe to feed on fresh pasture, being ftop. ped and flartled in their course by a Kennell of devouring Wolves. The weaker fort wavered much, and fuch as were more growne Chriftians hardly durft discover the truth they held one unto another, the fogs of errour increasing the bright beames of the glorious Gospell of our Lord Christ in the Mouth of his Minifters could not be difcerned through this thick mift by many, and that fweete refreshing warmth that was formerly felt from the fpirits influence, was now turned (in these Erronists) to a hot inflamation of their owne conceited Revelations, ulcerating and bringing little leffe then frenzy or madneffe to the patient, the Congregation of the people of God began to be forfaken, and the weaker Sex prevailed fo farre, that they fet up a Prieft of their own Profession and Sex, who was much thronged after, abominably wrefting the Scriptures to their own deftructi. on : this Mafter piece of Womens wit, drew many Disciples after her, and to that end boldly infinuated her felfe into the favour of none of the meaneft, being alfo backed with the Soral cery of a fecond, who had much converfe with the Devill by her own confession, and did, to the admiration of those that heard her, utter many speeches in the Latine Tongue, as it were in a trance, this Woman was wonted to give drinkes to other Women to caule them to conceive , how they wrought I know not, but fure there were Monfters borne not long after, as you fhall hear in the following Hiftory. ### CHAP.43. of Sions Saviour, in New England. 101 1636.

Oh vee New England Men and Women, who hath bewitched vou that you fhould not obey the truth ? And indeed Satan, to make fure worke with femblance of Preaching the Doctrine of Free-gree by his inftruments, makes thew of out-bidding all the O.thodox; and godly Minifters in the Countrey, pretending their Preaching to be but a Covenant of workes, supposing by this meanes to filence them without a B (hop, and left the civill power (hould find up for their aid, they threaten them with the high dilpleasure of Chrift for perfecuting his people, which as they faid thefe erronious perfons with their new light, were the onely Men and Women that were pure Gofpell Preachers. Thus the poore people of Chrift, who kept close to his antient truths invironed with many ftraites, having expended their Effates to voyage far through the perillous Seas, that their eyes might behold their Teachers, and that they might injoy the protection of a godly civill Government, began to deeme themfelves in a more dolorous condition then when they were in the Commilfaries Court, and Prelates Prisons, the hideous waves in which their britcle Barques were sometimes covered, as they passed hither, were nothing fo terrible in the apprehension of some as was this floud of errors violently beating against the bankes of Church and civill Government, the wants of this Wilderneffe, and pinching penury in mile of Bread, out them to no fuch paine by gnawing on their empty flomacks, with feare of fam fh ing as did the mille of the Administration of Chr. ft in his Word and Ordinances, leaving the foule in a languishing condition for. want of a continuall supp'y of Christ in his Graces.

Nd here Christian Reader the Author according to his for-Imer practice, must minde thee of the admirable providence of Chrift toward his New England Churches, in preferving them from these erronious spirits, that have hitherto in all places dog'd the fincere fervants of Chrift, when ever they have fet up. on a through Reformation, as ftories doe abundantly teftify. which thing the reverend (alvine and divers others, have declared. But feeing the boafting Prelates in thefe times are ready to fay their Lordly power kept these errours under, its plaine otherwife: for Satan faw while people were under their yoake of humane inventions, they were far enough from exsiting the Kingdome of Chrift ; And therefore he referved these errours , for his laft chifts, and further you shall fee in the following ftory that the Lord Chrift referved this honour for those, whole love hee had inlarged to follow him in a dezart wilderneffe, even with the thurpe fword of the Word, timely to cut off the heads of this Hidra ; but yet there are two forts of perfons in our Native Country, whom the Elders and Brethren here do highly honour in Chrift, and prefer before themfelves, namely the godly Prebyterian party, and the Congregationall fincere fervants of Chriff, both which the Author could with, (that with bowells of ) compafion, fweet fimpathifing affection of Brethren knit together in that transcendent love of Chrift, which couples all his distanced flockes together ) they would ferioufly ponder this # Hiftory, which through the Authors weakeneffe wants much of measure, but nothing of the truth of things, fo far as a shallow capacity can reach. The vernall of the yeare 1637. being now in his prime, and as the feafon of the yeare grew hotter, fo the minds of man ny were hot in the eager purfuite of their felfe conceited opinions, and verily had not authority flept in, it was much to be donbted they would have proceeded from words to blowes, great hold and keepe there was about choice of Magisfrates this yeare, the choyce being retarded by a paper call'd a Petition, but indeed a meere device to binder the election, till the erronious party were ftrengthened, their number increasing daily, but the Lord Chrift gratiously providing for the peace of his people toward the end of the day the honoured John Winthrope Elquire, was chosen Governour, and Thomas Dudly Elq. Deputy Govermor: the number of free-men added this year was about. 125.

Here according to promife the Reader fhall have an accoumpt of the civill Government of this little Common-wealth, as their whole aime in their removall from their Native Country, was to injoy the liberties of the Golpell of (brift, fo in ferving up civill Government, they daily direct their choice to make ule of fuch men as mostly indeavour to keepe the truths of Chrift pure and upplotted, and affuredly they can digeft any wrongs or injuries done them in their eftates, or trade, better then the wreft. ing of their right in the freedome of the Gofpell, out of their hands, and this the Erronift knowing right well ( to fave their heads whole ) perswade men it is not for civil Government to meddle with matters of Religion ; and alfo to helpe out with their damnable Doctrines, they report it in all places, where they be come, that New England Government doth perfecute the people and Churches of Chrift ; which to fpeake truth they have hitherto beene fo far from, that they have indeavoured to expell all fuch beafts of prey, ( who will not be reclaimed ) that here might be none left to hurt or destroy in all Gods holy Mountaine, and therefore are ready to put the Churches of Chrif in minde of their duty herein ; yea, and fometimes going before them in their civill cenfures that they may not onely professe the truth, but also hate every false way, not that they would compell men to believe by the power of the Sword, but to indeavour all may answer their profession ; whether in Courch Covenant or otherwife, by knowing they beare not the Sword in vaine. Neither dos they exercise civill power to bring all under their obedience to a uniformity in every poynt of Religion, but to keeps them in the unity of the spirit, and the bond of peace, nor yet have they ever mixed their civill powers with the authority peculiarly given by Chrift to his Churches and Officers of them, but from time to time have laboured to uphold their priviledges, and only communion one with another.

Of the Lords great deliverance of his New England People, from the flouds of Errors that were burfting in among them.

A S for the great Mountaine of proud erronious judgement Lon your right hand, the prayer of Faith Ihall remove them. and caft them into the depth of the Sea, and for the ftrengthning of your faith herein ; because the Lord will have you depend on him in the use of his meanes, not miracle, hee hath purposely pitcht out for this very worke, fome of his most orthodox fervants, and chiefe Champions of his truth, able through his mercy to weld that bright Weapon of his Word prepared by the fpirit for this purpole, to bring to the block thefe Traytours to his truths one by one, and behead them before your eyes. and for this very end they are to gather together as one Man in a Synodicall way, with a decifive power to undoe all the cunning twifted knots of Satans Malignity to the truths of Chrift, opening the Scriprures by the power of his fpirit, cleering Scripture by Scripture, that nothing but the pure Word of God may take place, and that you may affuredly believe the Lord hath pu pofely called his Servants, and Souldiers to this place by his Providence to cut off this curfed spirit of Errours and Herefies, which hath but at first dog'd all Reformed Churches of Chrift. There are for your further aid herein many more of thefe fincere Souldiers floating upon the great Ocean toward you, who will be with you before this Synod is fet, that you may declare it in the Eares of all posterity, to be the very Finger of God in catching the proud in their owne craftineffe, who had hatch's their devices, thus to cast all the Ministers of Chrift, except fome one or two, under this cenfure of being prejudiced against their perfons, and for the little remnant to labour with flattery to blinde their eyes, that at least they might not be against them ; Seeing they could not procure them to take their part . (to be fure when the groffeneffe of their Errors were made known, they would not) by this meanes having their hopes exalted (in their owne apprehensions at least) to gaine the most of the people on their fide.

The time for the meeting of this Synod was to be in the feventh month following, commonly called September, the civill government well approving of their defires herein, were very willing to further them all they could, and in the meane time it was the worke of thefe valiant of the Lord, to fearch our, not for men and Womens perfons, but their errors, which they gathered up from all parts, willing all that would or could defend them to use their best meanes, like as Jehu when he was to execute the judgements of the Lord upon Ababs bloudy household, would have had his fervants defend their Masters Children if they could, onely you must understand there was but 70. baffage to old Cannonicus, chiefe Sachem of the narrow Ganfet Indians who being then well stricken in yeares had caufed his Nephew Miantinemo to take the Government upon him, who was a very sterne man, and of a great stature, of a cruell nature, caufing all his Nobility and such as were his attendance to tremble at his speech, the people under his Government were very numerous, besides the Niantick Indians, whose Prince was of neare aliance noto him; They were able to set forth, as was then supposed 30000 fighting men, the English sought by all meanes to keepe these at least from confederating with the Pequeds, and understanding by intelligence, that the Pequeds would fend to ahem for that end, endeavoured to prevent them. Fit and able men bring chosen by the English, they hall them to Cannonicus Conrt, which was about fourcicore miles from Boston.

The Indan King hearing of their comming, gathered together his chiefe Counfellors, and a great number of his Subjects to give them entertainment, refolving as then that the young King ihou'd receive their meffage, yet in his hearing, they arriving, were entertain'd royally, with respect to the Indian manner. Boil'd Chefnuts is their White bread, which are very fweet, as if they were m'xt with Sugar ; and becaufe they would be extraordinary in their feafting, they firive for variety after the English manner, boyling Puddings made of beaten corne, putting therein great ftore of black berryes, fomewhat like Currants. They having thus nobly feasted them, afterward give them Audience, in a State-houle, round, about fifty foor wide, made of long poles fluck in the ground, like your Summer-houses in England, and covered round about, and on the top with Mars, fave a small place in the middle of the Roofe, to give light, and let out the Imoke.

In this place fate their Sachim, with very great attendance; the English comming to deliver their Message, to manifest the greater state, the Indian Sachim lay along upon the ground, on a Mat, and his Nobility state on the ground, with their legs doubled up, their knees couching their chin : with much sober gravity they attend the Interpreters speech. It was matter of much wonderment to the English, to see how folidly and wisely these favage people did confider of the weighty undertaking of a War; especially 1637. 110 Wonder working Providence cially old Canonicus, who was very difcreet in his answers. The young Sichem was indeed of a more lofty fpirit, which wrought his ruine, as you may heare, after the decease of the old King. But at this time his answer was, that he did willingly embrace peace with the English, confidering right well, that although their number was but imall in comparison of his people and that they were but ftrangers to the Woods, Swamps, and advantagious places of this Wilderneffe, yet withall he knew the English were advantaged by their weapons of War, and especially their Guns, which were of great terror to his people, and alfo he had heard they came of a more populous Nation by far than all the Indians were, could they be joyn'd together. Alfo on the other hand, with mature deliberation, he was well advifed of the Peaquods cruell disposition and aptnesse to make War, as also their neere neighbourhood to his people, who though they were more numerous, yet were they withall more effeminare, and leffe able to defend themselves from the fudden incussions of the Peaguods, fhould they fall out with them. Hereupon hee demes it most conducing to his owne, and his peoples fafery to direct his courfe in a middle way, holding amity with both. The Ene. lifb returne home, having gained the old Kings favour fo farre, as rather to favour them then the Pequods, who perceiving their Neighbouring English had fent forth aid to the Mattacufets government, thought it high time to feeke the winning all the Indians they could on their fide, and among others they make their addreffe to old Cannonicus, who, infteed of taking part with them, labours all he can to hush the War in hand, laying before them the fad effects of War; fometimes proving fad and mournfull to the very Victors themfelves, but alwayes to the vanquifh. ed. and withall tells them what potent enemies they had to contend with, whole very weapons and Armor were matter of terror, fetting their perfons a fide ; as alfo that English man was no much hoggery yet, and itherefore they might foone appeale them, by delivering into their hands those perfons that had beens the death of any of them, which were much better than that the whole Nation should perish.

rude multitude (the chief place of cowardly boalting) they foon change their minde ; yet the old Sachim fends the English word he had wrought with them, and in very deed, the English had rather make choice of Peace then Warre, provided it may fand with Truth and Righteousnesse: and therefore fend forth a band of Souldiers, who arriving in the Peagnod Country, addrefs themfelves to have a Treaty with them about delivering up the murtherers ; they making thew of willingness fo to doe, bade them abide awhile and they would bring them , and in the mean time they were conversint among the Souldiers, and viewing their Armie, pointed to divers places where they could his them with their Arrowes for all their Corflets. But their grea. teft number lying the while at the other file of a great hill, and anon appearing on the top of the hill, in fight of the English : those Indians that were among the English withdrawing ito. ward them ; no fooner were they come to their Companions, but all of a fuddaine they gave a great fhout, and fhewed the English a fair pair of heeles, who seeing it, would not availe any thing to follow them (they being farre fwifter of foot than the English) made their returne home againe.

This bootleffe voyage incouraged the Indians very much, who infulted over them at the fort, boafting of this their deluding them, and withall, they blafphemed the Lord faying, E-glifh. mans God was all one Flye, and that English man was all one Squwe, and themfelves all one Moor hawks. Thus by their horrible pride they fitted themselves for deftruction. The Englifh hearing this report, were now fu'l affured that the Lord would deliver them into their hands to execute his righteous judgement upon these blasphemous murtherers ; and therefore raifed freih Souldiers for the warre, to the number of fourfcore, or thereabout, out of the feverall cowns in the Matachufets and although they were but in their beginnings, yet the Lord, who fore-intended their work, provided for all their wants, and indeed it was much that they had any bisket to carry with them in these times of scarcity, or any vessels to transport their men and ammunition : yet all was provided by the gracious hand of the moft high ; and the Souldiers, many of them, not onely armed with outward weapons, and armour of defence, but filled with a fpirit of courage and magnanimity to refift, not onely men, but Devils; for furely he was more then ordinaryly prefent with this Indian army, as the fequell will fhew : as alfo for their further incouragement, the reverend and zealoufly affected fervant of Chrift, Mr. John Willon, went with the army, who had treafured up heaps of the experimentall goodnefie of God towards his people. Having formerly paffed through perils by Sea, perils by Land, perils among falfe brethrea, &c. he followed the warre purpofely to found an alarum before the Lord with his filver trumpet, that his people might be remembred before him : the Souldiers ariving in fafety at the towne of Hartford, where they were encouraged by the reverend Minifters there, with fome fuch specific to lowes.

Fellow-Sculdiers, Country-men, and Companions in this wilder. nelle-works, who are gathered together this day by the inevitable providence of the great Jehovah, not in a tumultnous manner burried on by the floating fancy of every high hot headed braine, whole actions prove abortive, or if any fruit brought forth, it hath beene rape, thefe, and murther, things inconfisting with natures light, then much leffe with a Souldiers valour; but jon, my deare bearts, purposely pickt out by the godly grave Fathers of this government, that your prowelle may carry on the work, where there fuffice in her right cons courfe is obstructed, you need not question your authority to execute those whom God the righteous Judge of all the world, hath condemned for blaspheming his facred Majefty, and neurthering his Servants: every common Souldier among you is now installed a Magistrate ; then shew your selves men of courage : I would not draw low the beight of your enemies hatred against you, and so debale your valour. This you may expect, their Swelling pride bath laid the foundation of large conceptions against you, and all the people of Christin this milderneffe, even as wide as Bibels bottome. But, my brave Souldiers, it bath mounted already to the clouds, and therefore it is ripe for confusion; also their crueltie is famouly knowne, yet all srue-bred Souldiers referve this as a common maxime, cruelty and comardize are unseparable companions; and in briefe, there is nothing wanting on your enemies part, that may deprive you of a compleat victory, onely their nimbleness of foot, and the unaccessible Swamps and nut tree woods, forth of which your Small numbers may $79-intice, and industry compell them. And now to you I put the quefion, who would not fight in fuch a cause with an agile Spirit, and undaunted boldnesse ? yet if you look for further encouragement. I have it for you; riches and honour are the next to a good cause eyed by every Souldier, to maintain your owne, and poile your enemies of theirs; although gold and filver be wanting to either of you, yet have you that to maintaine which is farre more precious, the lives, liber. tyes, and new purchased freedomes, priviledges, and immunities of the indeared fervants of our Lord Chrift Jesus, and of your second selves, even your affectionated bosome-mates, together with the shiefe pledges of your love, the comforting contents of harmlesse pratling and (miling babes : and in a word, all the riches of that goodneffe and mercy that attends the people of God in the injoyment of Chrift, in his Ordinances, even in this life; and as for honour, Dzvid was not to be blamed for enquiring after it, as a due recompence ef that true valour the Lord had bestowed on him : and now the Lord bath prepared this konour for you, oh you couragious Souldiers of his, to execute vengeance upon the heathen, and correction among the people, to binde their Kings in chaines, and Nobles in fetters of Iron, that they may execute upon them the judgements that are written ! this honour shall be to all his Saints, but some of you may suppole deaths ftroke may cut you short of this : let every faithfull Souldier of Chrift Jefus know, that the caufe why fome of his indeared Servants are taken away by death in a just warre (as this affuredly is) it is not because they should fall short of the honours accompanying, fuch noble defignes, but rather because earths honours are two (cant for them, and therefore the everlasting Crown must be (et upon their heads forthwith, then march on with a cheerfull Christian conrage in the strength of the Lord, and the power of his might, who will forthwith inclose your enemies in your hands, make their multitudes fall under your warlike meapons, and your feet shall soon be set on their proudnecks.

After the Ministers of Chrift had, through the grace that was given them, exhorted and encouraged these Souldiers appointed for the work, they being provided with certaine Indian guides, who with the close of the day brought them to a small river, where they could perceive many perfons had been dreffing of fish; upon the fight thereof, the Indian guides concluded they were now a feafling it at their fort, which was hard at hand : the English calling a Councill of warre, being directed by the fpecialleft providence of the most high God, they concluded to ftorm the fort a little before break of day : at whith time they fupposed the Indians being up late in their jolly feafting, would bee in their deepest fleepe; and furely fo it was, for they now flept their laft: the English keeping themselves as covertly as they could, approached the fort at the time appointed, which was builded of whole Trees fet in the ground fast, and standing up an end about twelve foot high, very large, having pitcht their Wigwams within it, the entrance being on two fides, with intricate Meanders to enter. The chiefe Leaders of the English made some little stand before they offered to enter, but yet boldly they rushed on, and found the passages guarded at each place with an Indian Bow-man. ready on the firing, they foone let fly, and wounded the formoft of the English in the shoulder, yet having dispatch'd the Porters, they found the winding way in without a Guide, where they foone placed themfelves round the Wigwams', and according to direction they made their first thot with the muzzle of their Muskets downe to the ground, knowing the Indian manner is to lie on the ground to fleep, from which they being in this terr ble manner awakened, unleffe it were fuch as were flaine with the fhot.

After this fome of the English entred the Wigwams, where they received fome fhot with their Arrowes, yet catching up the fire-brands, they began to fire them, and others of the English Soulders with powder, did the fame: the day now began to break; the Lord intending to have these mutcherers know he would looke out of the cloudy pillar upon them: and now these women and children fet up a terrible out-cry; the men were fmitten down, and flaine, as they came forth with a great flaughter, if the Sqames crying out, oh much winn it English-man, who moved with pitty toward them, faved their lives: and hereupon fome young youth cryed, I fquaw, I fquaw, thinking to finde the like mercy. There were fome of these Indians, as is reported, whose bodyes were not to be pierced by their fharp rapiers or fwords of a long time, which made fome of the Souldiers think the Devil was in them, for there were fome Powwowes among them, which work ftrange things. with the help of Satan. But this was very remarkable, one of them being wounded to death, and thruft thorow the neck with a halbert : yet after all , lying groaning upon the ground, he caught the halberts speare in his hand, and wound it quite round. After the English were thus possefled of this fift victory, they fent their prifoners to the pinnaces, and profecute the warre in hand, to the next Battalia of the Indians, which lay on a hill about two miles diftant, and indeed their stoutest Souldiers were at this place, and not yet come to the fort; the English being weary with their night worke, and wanting fuch refreshing as the prefent worke required. began to grow faint, yet having obtained one victory, they were very defirous of another : and further, they knew rightwell, till this curfed crew were urterly rooted out, they fhould never be at peace; therefore they marched on toward them. Now affuredly, had the Indians knowne how much weakned our Souldiers were at prefent, they might have born them downe with their multitude, they being very ftrong and agile of body, had they come to handy-gripes; but the Lord (who would have his people know their work was his, and he onely must order their Counfels, and war-like work for them) did bring them timely supply from the vessels, and also gave them a fecond victory, wherein they flew many more of their enemies, the refidue flying into a very thick fwamp, being unacceffible, by reason of the boggy holes of water, and thick bulhes; the English drawing up their company beleagered the fwamp, and the Indians in the mean time skulking up and down, and as they faw opportunity they made fhot with their Arrowes at the English, and then fuddainly they would fall flat along in the water to defend themselves from the retalliation of the Souldiers Muskets. This lasted not long, for our English being but a small number, had parted themfelves far afunder, but by the providence of the most high God, some of them spyed an Indian with a kettle at his back going more inwardly into the fwamp, by which they perceived there was fome place of firm land in the midft thereof, which cauled them to make way for the paffage of

of their Souldiers, which brought this warre to a period : For although many got away, yet were they no fuch confiderable number as ever to raife warre any more ; the flaine or wounded of the English were (through the mercy of Christ) but a few : Oas of them being fhot through the body, acere about the breaft, regarding it not till of a long time after, which cauled the bloud to dry and thicken on eitheir end of the arrow fo that it could not be drawne forth his body without great difficulty and much paine, yet did he scape his life, and the wound healed. Thus the Lord was pleased to affilt his people in this warre, and deliver them out of the Indians hands, who were very lufty proper men of their hands, most of them, as may appear by one passage which I shall here relate : thus it came to passe. As the Souldiers were uppon their march, clofe by a great thicket, where no eve could penetrate farre, as it often falls out in such wearifom waves. where neither men nor beaft have beaten out a path ; fome Souldiers lingering behinde their fellowes, two Indians watching their opportunity, much like a hungry hauke, when they fup, posed the last man was come up, who kept a double double double distance in his march, they fudden and fwiftly inatched him up in their tallens, hoifing him upon their fhoulders, ran into the fwamp with him; the Souldier unwilling to be made a Pope by being borne on mens fhoulders, ftrove with them all he could to free himfelfe from their hands ; but, like a carefull Commander, one Captains Davenport, then Lieutenant of this company. being diligent in his place to bring up the reare, coming up with them, followed with speed into the swamp after him having a very fevere cutlace tyed to his wrift, and being well able to make it bite fore when he fet it on, refolving to make it fall foul on the Indians bones, he foone overtook them, but was prevented by the buckler they held up from hitting them, which was the man they had taken : It was matter of much wonder to fee with what dexterity they hurled the poore Souldier about, as if they had been handling a Lacedamonian fhield, fo that the nimble Captaine Davenport could not, of a long time, fasten one firoke upon them; yet, at laft, dying their tawny skin into a crimfon colour, they caft downe their prey, and hafted thorow the thickets for their lives. The Souidier thus redeemed, had no fuch hard hard ufage, but that he is alive, as I fuppofe, at this very day: The Lord in mercy toward his poore Churches having thus defroyed thefe bloudy barbarous Indians, he returnes his people in fafety to their veffels, where they take account of their prifoners: the Squames and fome young youths they brought home with them, and finding the men to be deeply guilty of the crimes they undertooke the warre for, they brought away onely their heads as a token of their victory. By this means the Lord ftrook a trembling terror into all the Indians round about, even to this that was given them, that the whole Scripture mult be attended unto. Foure forts of perfons I could with a good will have paid their paffage out, and home againe to England, that they might have been present at this Synod, fo that they would have reported the truth of all the paffages thereof to their own Colledges at their return. The first is the Prelates, who both in Theorie and Practice might have made their owne Eyes Judges in the cafe. Whether would prevaile moft, (to the inppreffing of Error, and advancing of Unity in the true worship of God) either their commanding power backt with the fubordinate fword of Princes, or the Word of God cleered up by the faithfull labour and ind fatigable pains of the fincere fervants of the Lord Chrift, and mightily declared through the demonstration of his bleffed Spirit. This well waighed, may (through the Lords bleffing) ftop the yet running fancie in the brains of many, that their Lordly power is the onely means of fuppreffing Error.

Secondly, the Godly and Reverend Presbyterian Party, who, had they made their eye-witneffes of this worke, they had affuredly faved themfelves much labour, which I dare prefume they would have fpent worthily otherwayes, then in writing for many books to prove the Congregationall or Independant Churches to be the fluce, through which for many flouds of Error flow in : nay, my deare and reverend brethren, might not for much work of yours in writing, and ours in anfwering, have been a meanes to have flopt the height of this overflowing floud ? and through the Lords sflitting have fetled Peace and Truth in a great meafure throughout the three Nations.

Thirdly, those who with their new stratagems have brought in fo much old error; for although they had a party here, yet verily they duff not bring their New Light to the Old Word, for fear it would prove but Old Darknesse, (as indeed they doe.) But here might they have seene the Ministers of Christ (who were fo experienced in the Scripture, that fome of them could tell you the place, both Chapter and Verse, of most sentences of Scripture could be named unto them) with Scriptures light, cleering up the truths of Christ clouded by any of these Errors and Herefies, as had not been done for many Ages before : and verily this great work of Christ mult not be lightly over-pass, the Author of this H story ground for one, becaufe fome for filthy lucre fake have nourifhe Difeases rather then cured them. Many pamphlets have come from our Countreymen of late, to this purpofe, namely, fcurrilloufly to deride all kind of Scholarfhip, Presbytery, and Synods. Experience hath taught Gods people here, that fuch are troubled wich fome finfull opinion of their owns, that they would not have touched ; but had they been at this Synod, they malt, per force, have learned better language, or their speech and their knowledge would fail foule one of the other; here might they have beheld the humility of the most learned of these fervants of Chrift, condemning the high conceitednesse of their ignorance. and then also the framing of Arguments in a Schollar like way. did (the Lord affilting) cleare up the truths of Chrift more to the meaneft capacity in one hour, then could be clouded again in feaven y are by the new notion of any fuch as boalt fo much of their unlettered knowledge, diverfity of languages, although a constant ghand of God upon the whole world, when they joyned together in that proud Edifice : yet now is it bleft of God, to retaine the purity of the Scriptures; if any man (hould goe about to corrupt them in one language, they fhould remain pure in another; and assuredly, the Lord intending to have the wayes of the Gofpel of Chrift to be made more manifelt at this time, then formerly, not by tradition of our forefathers, or by mans reafon, but by the revealed will of God in the holy Scripture.did accordingly prepare Inftruments for this work earthen vessels, men subject to like infirmities with our felves ; forry men, and carrying about with them a body of finne and death. men subject to erre : yet these did the Lord Christ cause to be train'd up in Learning, and tutor'd at the Universities, and that very young, fome of them, as the revererend Mr. John Cotten at 13. yeares of age. The mighty power of God fanctifyed and ordained them for this work, and made them a defenced city. an iron pillar, a wall of brais against all the opposers of his truth; and now coupled them together in this Synod, to draw in Chrifts yoke, and warre with the weapons he had furnished them wichall, and caufe the bleffed truths of Chrift to faine forth in their iplendour and glo ry, farre more after the difperfiag of this Imoak, which of a long time hath filled the Temple, and hindered

Of the planting of the fifteenth Church of Christ at the Towne of Waymoth.

He Towne and Church of Chrift at Waymoth had come in among the other Townes before this, as being an elder Sifter, but onely for her fomewhat more then ordinary instability ; it is battered with the brinifh billows on the Eaft ; Rocks and Swamps to the Southweft makes it delightfull to the nimble tripping Deere, as the plowable places of Medow land is to the. Inhabitants. This Towne was first founded by some persons that were not fo forward to promote the Ordinances of Chrift, as many others have been : they defired the reverend Minifter of Chrift Mr. Gennors, to be helpfull in preaching the Word unto them; who after some little space of time, not liking the place, repaired to the Eastern English : but the people of this place, after his departure, being gathered into a Church, they called to office the reverend and godiy Mr Newman ; but many of them unwilling to continue in this Towne, as supposing they had found a fitter place for habitation, removed into the next Government, carrying with them their Pastor; by which means, the people that were left behinde, were now deftitute, and having fome godly Chriftians among them, who much defired the fincere milk of the Word that they might grow thereby : upon diligent use of meanes they found out a young man able gifted for the work, brought up with the reverend and judicious Mr. Chancie, called Mr. Thomas Thatcher. Yet againe, after some few yeares, for want of fufficient maintenance, with mutuall confent they parted with him, and are forced to borrow help of their Neighbours, wherein all of them to the Author is bold to fay as followath :

O H people, reason swayes mans actions here, You sanchifyed, o're these long seas doth look, With heavenly things your earthly toyle to cheere; Will lose the end for which this toyle you tooke.

The peace of this little Commor-wealth being now in great measure fettled, by the Lords mercy, in overthrowing the Indians, and banishing of certaine turbulent spirits. The Churches of Chrift were much edified in their holy faith by their indefatigable pains of their Ministers, in their weekly Lectures extraordinary, as well as by their Sabboth-Affemblies, and continuall vifiting of their people from house to house, endeavouring to heale the hurrs these falle deceivers had made, with double diligence fhowring downe the fweet dews of the bleffed Gofpel of Jefus Chrift, to the converting of many a poor foul. and indeed, now were the glorious days of New England; the Churches of Chrift increase dayly, and his eminent Embasfadours refort unto them from our native Country, which as then lay under the tyranny of the Monarchall Archprelates, which cauled the fervants of Chrift to wander from their home. Of the planting of Long-Ifland. And of the planting the nineteenth Church in the Mattachusets government, called Sudbury.

His yeare came over divers godly and fincere fervants of Chrift, as I suppose, among whom came over the reverend godly M. Peirfon: This people finding no place in any of the former crected Colonies to lettle in, to their present content, repaired to an Island, fevered from the continent of Newbaven, with about 16. miles off the falt Sea, and called Long-Ifland, being about 120. miles in length, and yet but narrow : here this people crected a Town, and called it South Hampton, there are many Indians on the greateft part of this Ifland, who at first fertling of the English there, did much annoy their Cattel with the multitude of Doggs they kept, which ordinarily are young wolves brought up tame, continuing of a very ravening nature. This people gathered into a Church, and called to office Mr. Peir/on, who continued with them about 7, or 8. yeares, and hen he, with the greatest number of the people, removed farther nto the Island; the other part that remained invited Mr. Foorum, and a people that were with him, to come and joyne with hem, who accordingly did, being wandered as far as the Dutch lantation, and there unfettled, although he came into the Counry before them.

This years the Town and Church of Chrift at Sudbury begin o have the first foundation stones laid, taking up her station in he Inland Country, as her elder Sister Concord had formerly one, lying farther up the same River, being furnished with great lenty of fresh marsh, but it lying very low is much indammaed with land-flouds, infomuch that when the summer proves set, they lose part of their hay; yet are they so fufficiently proided, that they take in Cattell of other Townes to winter : these cople not neglecting the chief work, for the which they entred is wilderness, and according to the rule of his Word, entred to covenant with him, and one with another professed to the alk together in Church-fellowship; and according to the fame.

f the manner of planting Towns and Churches in N.E. and in particular of the Church and Town at Woeburn, being the three and twentieth Church of Chrift in the Mattachulets Government.

There was a Town and Church crected called Weeburn, this prefent year, but becaufe all the action of this wantring people meet with great variety of cenfures, the Author all in this Town and Church fer down the manner how this cople have populated their Towns, and gathered their Churhas, that the reverend Mr. Rathbane may be better informed, hen when he wrote his book concerning the Churches of N. and all others that are experienced in the holy Scriptures, may lay the actions of N. Of the uniting of the four English Colonies in N, E. and the bat tel fonght between the Narragansets, and Mawhiggias.

He yeare 1653. the honored John Winthrop Elquire was I chofen Governor again, and John Endient Efquire Deputy Governour ; the freemen added were about 87. this year the four Colonies, the Mattachusets, Plimoth, Canestico, and New-baven, taking into confideration the many Nations of Dutch, Zemes, and French , that were on either lide of them as also how apt they were to lay claim to lands they nevel had any right neto, cut only a paper peffeffion of their owr framing ; and further, that the inhumane and barbarous Indians would be continually quarrelling and contending, could they fee any hopes of prevailing, together with the conte fion begun in our Native country, and withal, that although providence had caft them into four feveral Colonies, yet Religion had already united them, coming over all for one and the fame end. Hereupon by Commifioners fent from the fe veral colonies, they concluded a firm confederation to affil each other in all just and lawful war, beating an equal proportion in the charge, according to the number of perfoni inhabiting each colony ; but herein the Mattachufet had the worft end of the flaff, in bearing as much, or more charge, ther all the other three, and yet no greater number of Commiffioners to negotiate and judg in transacting of affairs concerning peace and war, then the least of the other, and any one of the other as likely to involve them in a chargeable war with the naked Natives, that have neither plunder, nor caff to bear the charge of it, nay bitherto the most hath rifen from the leffer colonies, yet are the Mattashufets far from defert ing them, effecting them highly, fo long as their Govern ments maintain the fame purity in Religion with themfelves for indeed this is that they have fpent their whole travel for and therefore if Plimoth, or any of the other fhall draw back herein, the chiefest end of their confederacy would be loft for thould is come to pafs ( that in venturing their perfor

Uncas was Prince of For, alhough Miantonemo were the more potent Prince by far, and very auftere man, yet did he chuserather to take Uncaffes ife away by creachery if he could; and to that end hired a oung man of the Pegod Nation to murther him, as is suppoed, for in an evening, when it was very neer dark, this Sachim uffing without any of his Retinue, from one wigwam to aother, was fuddainly that through the arm with an arrow, teing not whence it came ; but yet recovering the Palace he vas paffing unto, without receiving any more thot, he had he arrow drawn forth, and the wound cured in a short time fter; the young man, who was fufpected to have done the act, having great ftore of Wampumpeage, about this time eing queftioned how he came by it, could give no good accompt, which encreafed the fuspition the more, that he had creived it as hire from Miantonemo for this fact ; and herepon the young man fled unto him, which cauled Uncas to omplais to the English, who having the hearing of the cafe ta General Cottt holden at Boston, at the fame time Mianonemo coming thither with his attendance, and fending one of his Councellors to follow the matter in hand, the young pan was examined in prefence of Asiantonemo, being, as is upposed, tutored by him, he told this tale, that while he was in any barbarous cruelty toward him, as their manner is, and by this means the English prevented another war, both with English and Indians, which was very neer joyning in battel. Not many years after, the Indian Sachim upon this advise, caused Miantonemo to be led forth, as if he would remove him to a more faster place of custody, and by the way caused him to be executed; the Indians, his kindred and subjects, were much grieved at his death, yet took it quietly at prefent, but the lesser Princes, his Neighbours, rather rejoyced, he having tyrannized over them, and enforced them to subject to his will, right or wrong.

Of planting the twenty fixth Church of Christ at the Town of Haverhil, and of preparation for a second war with the Indians.

His year that antient, honored and trufty fouldier of y the truth, Thom. Dudly Equire was chosen Governor, and the honored folm Winthrop Equire was chofen Deputy Governor, John Endient Elquire to the office of Major-General. You have heard in the former book of Sions Saviour in New-England. 197 1645. Chap. I. f the fortifying of the Caftle, and placing a Captain therein, which was not finished till this year ; the number of freemen dded was 56. The Town of Haverhil was built much about histime, lying higher up then Salisbury, upon the fair and arge river of Merrimeck: the people are wholly bent to improve their labour in tilling the earth, and keeping of cattel, whole yearly encreale incourages them to fpend their days n those remote parts, the constant penetrating farther into his Wildernefs, hath caufed the wild and uncouth woods to e fil'd with frequented wayes, and the large rivers to be orer-laid with Bridges paffeable, both for horfe and foot; this fown is of a large extent, fuppofed to be ten miles in length. there being an over-weaning defire in most men after Medow and, which hath caufed many towns to grafp more into their ands then they could afterward poffibly hold; the people are aborious in the gaining the goods of this life, yet are they not unmindful allo of the chief end of their coming hither. namely, to be made partakers of the bleffed Ordinances of Chrift, that their fouls might be refreshed with the continual ncome of his rich grace, to which end they gathered into a Church-body, and called to office the reverend M. Here the Reader thould be minded of the admirable acts of the Lord Chrift in awing these multitudes of Heathens, for they were the most populous of any that are in these parts ; but it is referved for another place in this hiftory, the Indians being flow in their performance, had their hoftages returned home before the Wapom was paid, yet their two Princes Peliens and Mexanime, did upon the fending certain armed men to demand the remainder, fend the fum demanded.

This year the great troubles in our native country encreafe ing, and that hearing prophane Elan had muftered up all th Bands he could make to come againit his brother laceb, the wandering race of Jacobites deemed it now high time to in plore the Lord for his especial aid in this time of their deepe diffress, and the rather being incouraged hereunto from for mer deliverances and wonderful mercies received, the which they now prefented before the Lord with the feveral bran ches, and inlarged bounties thereof to refresh their frozen a fections, and move a melting heart in their barren breits, that began to dry up with a lazy lethargy, and therefore thruftin themselves on to the work by the loving invitation of the godly Government the Lord in his mercy had peaceably pla ced among them, each Church in their own proper plac meeting together in daies of folemn feeking of the Lord pleafing countenance in Chrift (the Lord in his mercy helpin) them) after a ferious acknowledgment of their own unwor thinefs, by reason of their finful provocations of the Lord to anger against them aggravated, in that they were committee immediately upon the receipt of a multitude of marvellon mercies, they acknowledg unto the Lord in the audience o the great Congregation the manner of his wonderful provi dence extended toward them, that as Iscob profesies, I cam over this Jordan with my ftaff, and now have I gotten two Bands: fo they came over this boyfterous billow-boyling O. cean, a few poor scattered ftones newly raked our of the heap of rubbift, and thou Lord Chrift haft now fo far exalted them as to lay them fure in thy Sion, a building, to be the wonde of the world, orderly are they placed in five and forty fevera Churches, and that in a Wildernefs, where civility fcarce eve took place, much less any Religion, and now to the Lord ear neftly they cry to be delivered from the cruel hands of thos tha

Of the opposition the Government of the Mattachusets Colony met withal, by certain perfons, under the name of Petitioners.

N place of Governor was chosen for this year John Win. Ithrop Elquire, and for Deputy Governor Thomas Dudly E fquire, the number of freemen were about 72. At the Court of Election there was a Petition drawn, and prefented to the Court by a Doctor of Phylick, with feven hands to it, the perfons were of a Linkwolfie disposition, some for Prelacy, some for Presbytery, and fome for Plebsbytery, but all joyned to gether in the thing they would, which was to fur up the people to diflike of the prefent Government, one while envying sgainf the conflicution of the Government as not popular enough,a nother while against the Laws or orders of this little Common wealth as two ftrict, and then to provoke, at least the penuri ous, they tell them of great expense of the publike Treasury. and incolerable taxations; the matter they petitioned for, wa abortom to build their quarrel upon, under the name of : Presbyterian Government, and this they supposed would fui. well with their Bill of complaint, which they intended fo, England, not that they cared for a Presbyterian Church , fo. had they fo done, they might have found out one in the coun try before they petitioned, but because they supposed the the Parliament in England would eftablish that way only and therefore bore themfelves bold upon it, that although their feditious and feandalous words and practifes flould in cur a penalty (as none could deem any other, unlefs it be fuel as are all for liberty, and nothing for Government ) yet the might bear men in hand, it was for petitioning for a Presby terian Church-Government, according to this tenor; th Court being fome what flow in cenfuring them, they prepared a plot, wrapping in some few persons more with them, lay Winflow to manifest and declare the naked truth of things, having full power and commiffion from this Government to deal for them in all matters wherein they may be concerned; and verily the chief Gortonian might have returned from England hither, to have triumphed in his blasphemies over the Churches of Christ; and all the united colonies, had not the divel shewed his horns in that book he printed, wherein he takes upon him a monftrous interpretation of the words of our Lord Chrift in John , Except ye eat my fleft, and drink my blond, ore. had the book been well perused before their coming over, furely they had never return'd with fo large a commission as they boast of, for the Parliament have punished divers perfons for their blasphemies, and very like thefe fould not have fcaped fcotfree.

feffion ; vet to declare to all the world, and render an accompt of their faith and profession wherein they walk, it was thought meet, that the churches of Chrift fhould meet together in a Synod, by their Elders and Meffengers to hold forth the doctrine and discipline of Jesus Chrift, according to the rule of the New Teftament, with the grounds of Scripture from which they hold the fame : and further to make trial of them by the faid rules and none other: accordingly at the time appointed they affembled together, their disputation was plain and cafie to be underftood of the meaneft capacity.clearing up those points that were most dubious, they having agreed on all matters, with a full concurrence of the affembly. did appoint them to be put in print, that they might be the better scanned and tried of every particular person in the feveral congregations or churches, many churches approving thereof for the generality, others there be that have not yet fully viewed the fame, the books are extant, and fhew that the churches of Chrift in N. E. are not ashamed to make confeffion of their faith to all the world, and are vet ready to receive any further light shall be made known unto them from the Word of God, and none other, nor do they receive this because a Synod hath faid it, but because the Lord hath spoken it by his Spirit, and witneffed by the fame Spirit to their fouls that he hath fo done; fome forts of perfons have been much opposite to this Synod, first those that are so inured with the broad beaten path of liberty, that they fear to be confined in the ftraight and narrow path of truth; the fecond are fuch as have their wills wedded to fome fingular rare conceited opinion, for which they have been admired of many, and now they fear their gain will be gone, if this spirit be caft out: the third and last fort are more honest then the two former, and only scared with their big words, who tell them of the Popifh and Prelatical Synods, what a deal of trafh and cannon Laws they have brought in, and that if they will fall to receiving books once, they shall have more and more thrust upon them : As also if any shall fay its only to declare the doctione and discipline the churches of N. This year, about the later end thereof, appeared two Pareii, or Images of the Sun, and fome other firange apparitions of light about her, like a Rainbow, with the heels upward, which unwonted fights have been interpreted by the provilent paffages fince fhewed, among those who have had an outfide of profession and name, to be fingular for understandng the mind of God, who would overthrow all the Ordiiances of Christ, under the name of New-light, and that there an be no reftoration of Religion, till new Apostles come : This desperate opinion doth so fitly refemble these wonderul apparitions, that seemed to be another Sun, yet indeed ad no light in them, but vanished away no man knew how; these opinionists would make men believe they had found ut another Sea from their phantastical revelations.

Of the Lords wonder working Providence, in fitting this people with all kind of Manufactures, and the bringing of them into the order of a Commonwealth.

N the day of Election for Governor and Magistrates, (which are new chosen every year) the honored John Winthrope Elquire was chofen Governor, and the like honored Thomas Dudly Elquire Deputy Governor, John Endicut Efquire was chosen Major-General, which is an Officer the Freemen make a yearly choice of, all other Military Officers stand for term of life, unless any be put out for mildemeanour; the number of freemen added this year were about 85. the Land affording very good iron, ftone, divers perfons of good rank and quality in England, were ftirred up by the provident hand of the Lord to venture their effatet upon an ison work, which they began at Braintree, and profited the owners little, but rather wasted their stock, which eaused some of them to fell away the remainder, the chief reason being the high price of labour, which ordinarily was as much more as in England, and in many things treble; the way of going on with fuch a work here, was not fuddainly to be difcerned, although the Steward had a very able eye, yet experience hath out-ftript learning here, and the molt quick fighted in the Theory of things, have been forced to pay prety roundly to Lady Experience for filling their heads with a little of her active after-wit ; much hope there is now, that the owners may pick up their crums again, if they be but made partakers of the gain, in putting off England commodities at N. E. price, it will take off one third of the great price they gave for labour, and the price of their iron ; it is supposed another third is taken of the abundance of wood had for little, will surely take off the residue, besides land at easte rates, and common land free for their use; it were to be defired that those Gentlemen who have undertaken the work, would confider the place where their works are, namely in N. cold in the winter-feason : they are onely clothed with a Deers skin, and a little bit of cloth to cover their privy part. The Women for the most part are very modest, although they go as naked as the Men : they are generally very laborious at their planting time, and the Men extraordinary idle, making their squawes to carry their Children and the luggage belide; fo that many times they travell eight or ten mile with a burden on their backs, more fiter for a horfe to carry then a woman. The men follow no kind of labour but hunting, fifthing and fowling, in all which they make use of their Bowe and Arrowes to shoot the wilde creatures of the Trees, as Squirrells, gray and black Rockoones : as for Deer. they ordinarily catch them in traps, with a pole bent down, and a Cord at the end, which flyes up and flayes their hafty courfe. Bever, Otter, and Moofe they catch with Traps alfo : they are very good marks-men, with their Bowe and Arrows. Their Boyes will ordinarily fhoot fifh with their Arrowes as they fivim in the shallow Rivers, they draw the Arrow halfe way. putting the point of it into the water, they let flye and firike the fifth through ; the like they do to Birds leffer and great : onely the Geefe and Turkies being ftrong of wing, fomtimes flee away with their Arrowes flicking in them ; this is all the trade they use, which makes them destitute of many necessaries, both in meat, drink, apparell and houfes.

As for any religious observation, they were the most destitute of any people yet heard of, the Divel having them in very great fubjection, not using craft to delude them, as he ordinarily doth in most parts of the World : but kept them is a continuall flavish fear of him : onely the Powawes, who are more conversant with him then any other, foractimes recover their ficke folk with charmes, which they use, by the help of the Divell; and this makes them to adore luch ; one of them was feen as is reported to cure a Squaw that was dangeroufly fick, by taking a fnakes skin and winding it about her arm the which foon became a living Inake crawling round about her armes and body ; another caufed the fick patient, for healing, to pass bare footed through many burning coals ; those that cannot cure them, they call Squantams powwons : but if the patient live, he is had in great admiration, and then they cry, Much winnit Abbamocho, that is, very good Divel : Gg

Divell : for Squantamis a bad Divel, and Abbamocho is their good Divell. It hath been a thing very frequent, before the English came, for the Divell to appear unto them in a bodily shape, fometimes very ugly and terrible, and fometimes like a white boy, and chiefly in the most hideous woods and swamps : they report that fometimes he hath come into their wigwams, and carryed away divers of them alive : and fince we came hither, they tell us of a very terrible beaft for shape and bigness, that came into a wigwam toward the North-east parts, remote from any English plantations, and took away fix men at a time, who were never feen afterward. The English at their first coming did affay and endeavour to bring them to the knowledge of God : and in particular the reverend, grave, and godly Mr. John Willon, who vifited their fick, and inftructed others as they were capable to underftand him. But yet very little was done that way, till in process of time they by continuall coming to the English, became better able to underftand them ; and now of late yeers the reverend Mr. Eliot hath been more then ordinary laborious to fludy their

Of the grations goodness of the Lord Christ, in planting his Gospel in the purity of it, in Virginia : and of the first Church gathered there according to the rule of the Gofpel.

Bout the yeer the Lord was pleafed to put it into the A heart of some godly people in Virginia, to fend to N.E. for tome of the Ministers of Christ, to be helpfull unto them in inftructing them in the truth, as it is in Jefus. The godly Mr. Philip Bennit coming hither, made our reverend Elders acquainted . with their defires, who were very Rudicus to take all opportunities for inlarging the kingdome of Chrift : and upon ferious confideration, the reverend Mr. Knowls of Watertowne, and Mr. Tompfon of Braintree were feat unto them, who ariving there in fafety, preached openly unto the people for fome good space of time, and allo from houle to house exhorted the people dayly, that with full purpose of heart they would cleave unto the Lord ; the harvest they had was plentifull for the little space of time they were there, till being opposed by the Governour and fome other malignant spirits, they were forced to returne to N. E. again. It were much to be defired, that all people would take notice of the hand of God against this people, after the rejection of these Ministers of Christ : and indeed it was none other but the thrufting Chrift from them; and now attend to the following ftory , all you Cavaliers and malignant party the world throughout, take notice of the wonderworking providence of Chrift toward his Churches, and punishing hand of his toward the contemners of his Gospel. Behold ye dispifers, and wonder. Oh poor Virginia, doft thou fend away the Mirifters of Chrift with threatning speeches ? No sooner is this done, but the barbarous, inhumane, infolent, and bloody Indians are let loofe upon them, who contrive the cutting them off by whole Families, clotely carving their wicked counfel's till they had effected their defires, their bloody defigne taking place for the space of 200 miles up up the River : the manner of the English Plantations there being very fcattering, quite contrary to N. E. people, who for the moft part defire fociety. The manner of the Indians proceeding was thus, they divided themselves into severall companies, and beset the English houses a little before break of day, waiting for the first perion that should open the doore and come forth, whom they cruelly murdered, beating out their brains, and then forthwith entred the house and flew all they found within, sometimes firing the houfes, and leaving the living children miferably to be confumed with their dead Parents in the fearfull flames : some people fleeing from this barbarous maffacre, as they paffed by a fired house, heard a pitifull out-cry of a poor Child, crying, I burn, I burn : although they could willingly have made hafte away, yet the miferable out-cry of this poor babe, caufed them to haft to the house, and refcue it forth the flames, that was even almost ready to fcorch it : this cruell and bloody work of theirs put period to the lives of five or fix hundred of these people, who had not long before a plentifull proffer of the mercies of Chrift in the glad tidings of peace published by the mouth of his Ministers, who came unto them for that end : but chusing rather the fellowship of their drunken companions, and a Preift of their own proteffion, who could hardly continue to long tober as till he could read them the reliques of mans invention in a common prayer book ; but affuredly had not the Lord pittied the little number of his people among this crooked generation, they had been confumed at once for this is further remarkable in this maffacre, when it came toward the place where Chrift had placed his little flock, it was discovered & prevented from further proceeding, and the Lord by this means did fo allay their spirits of malignity toward his people, they gathered in a Church in prefence of the very governour himfelf, and called to office one Mr. Harrifon, who could not long continue among them, by reafon of their freft renewed malignity, who had formerly an evill eye toward them, and could no better refraine from oppreffing them, then Pharoab after he had reft from the plagues under which he was. After the departure of Mr. Harrison, one Mr. Duren became an help unto them; but he and his people alfo were forced to remove many hundred miles up into the country, where they

As alfo about this time, the Lord was pleafed to gather a people together in the Ifle of Bermoodas, whole hearts being guided by the rule of the word, they gathered into a Church of Chrift according to the rules of the Gofpel, being Mi. Nathe provided with able perfore indued with aits from the Lord on need White, provided with able perfons, indued with gifts from the Lord to Mr. Patrick, administer unto them the holy things of God ; and after they be- Copeland M gan to be opposed, their reverend elder Mr. Goulding came in- William Go. to these parts, and from hence he went to England : but this lit- ding. tle flock of Chrift not long after being banished from thence, went to one of the Southern Iflands, where they endured much hardfhip; and which the Churches of Chrift in these parts understanding, about fix or eight of them contributing toward their want, gathered about $00 /. to fupply their neceffity : the which they shipped in a finall veffell hired for that end, and fent by the hands of two brethren both corne and other neceffaries : they arriving in fafety by the bleffing of God upon their labours, were well welcomed by their brethren, who abundantly bleffed the Lord for them, and with godly and gratious expression returned a thankfull acknowledgement of the prefent good hand of the Lord Chrift, in providing for them : fo that as this book began with the wonderworking providence of Sions Saviour, in providing fo wonderfull gratioufly for his Churches the World throughout ; fo it here endeth with the fame ; and it were to be defired, that the Churches of Chrift in Europe would gather up the wonderfull providences of the Lord toward them alfo, and more especially those in our native Country : for affuredly it would make much for the magnifying of his glorious works in this day of his power : and although the malignant and antichriffian party may fay, they can thew the like wonders (as fannes and fambres that with-food Mofes) yet were the worke of Chrift for his poor Churches, within these few yeers, gathered together by fome able inftrument whom the Lord might be pleafed to ftir up for that end, and laid open the view of all, they would be forced

Of the time of the fall of Antichrift, and the increase of the Gentile Churches, even to the provoking of the twelve Tribes to submit to the kingdom of Christ.

TT hath been the longing expectation of many, to fee that notable and wonderfull worke of the Lord Chrift, in caffing down that man of fin who hath held the whole world (of those that profess any Chrift) under his Lordly power, while the true professions of Christ have hardly had any appearance to the eye of the world : first, take notice the Lord bath an affured fet time for the accomplishment of this work, which is fet down in his word, although more darkly to be underftood ; wherefore the reverend Minifters of Chrift, for these many yeers have Rudied and laboured for the finding it out, and that holy man of God Mr. John Cotton, among many other, hath diligently fearched for the Lords mind herein, and hath declared fome fudden blow to be given to this blood-thirfly moniter : but the Lord Chrift hath unleparably joyned the time, meanes, and manner of this work together, and therefore all men that expect the day, must attend the means : for fuch hath been and is the abfurdicy of many, that they make femblance of a very zealous affection to fee the glorious work of our Lord Chrift herein, and yet themfelves uphold, or at leaft fide with those that uphold fome part of Antichrifts kingdome : and therefore the lordly Prelacy may pray for his fall till their lungs are spent, and their throats grow dry. But while they have a feeming fhew (and hardly that) to oppose his doctrines, they themselves in the mean time, make use of his power to advance themselves to honour : as also in these dayes there are divers desperate, blasphemous, and erronious perlons

Challing of his invincible Army to the battell : fome suppose this onely to be mysticall, and not literall at all : asfuredly the fpirituall fight is chiefly to be attended, and the other not neglected, having a neer dependancy one upon the other, especially at this time : the Miniflers of Chrift who have caft off all lording power * Yea every over one another, are created field-Officers, whole Office is * ex-Officer hath his travagant in this Army, chiefly to encourage the fighting Souldiwn proper Re- ers, and to lead them on upon the enemy in the most advantagious places, and bring on tresh supplies in all places of danger, sment. to put the fword of the spirit in their Souldiers hands : but Chrift (who is their general) must onely enable them to use it aright : to give every Souldier in charge that they watch over one another, to fee that none meddle with the exectable things of Antichrift, and this to be performed in every Regiment throughout the Army: and not one to exercile dominion over the other by way of superiority : for Chrift hath appointed a parity in all his Regiments , ore. let them beware that none go apart with rebellious Korah. And further, behold, Kings, Rulers, or Generals of Earths Armies, doth Chrift make use of in this day of battell, the which he hath brought into the field already alio; who are appointed to defend, uphold, and maintain the whole body of his Armies against the infolent, beaftly, and bloody cruelty of their infatiable enemies, and to keep order that none do his fellow-Souldier any wrong, nor that any fhould raife a mutiny in the hofts. Notwithstanding all this, if any shall fay, they will not believe the day is come till they fee them ingage battell with Antichrift ; Verily, if the Lord be pleafed to open your eyes, you may fee the beginning of the fight, and what fuccels the Armies of our Lord Chrift have hitherto had : the Forlorne hopes of Antichrifts Army, were the proud Prelates of England : the Forlorne of Christs Armies. were thele N. Babylon is fallen, the God of truth hath faid it ; then who would not be a Souldier on Christs fide, where is fuch a certainty of victory ? nay I can tell you a farther word of encouragement, every true-hearted Souldier that falls by the fword in this fight, fhall not lye dead long, but ftand upon his feet again, and be made partaker of the triumph of this Victory : and none can be overcome, but by turning his back in fight. And for a word of terrour to the enemy, let them know, Chrift will never give over the raifing of fresh Forces, till they are overthrown root and branch. And now you antient people of Ifrael look out of your Prison grates, let these Armies of the Lord Christ Jesus provoke you to acknowledge he is certainly come, I and speedily he doth come to put life into your dry bones : here is a people not onely praying but fighting for you, that the great block may be removed out of the way, (which hath hindered hitherto) that they with you may enjoy that glorious refurrection-day, the glorious nuptials of the Lamb: when not only the Bridegroom fhall appear to his Churches both of Jews and Genteles, (which are his fpoule) in a more brighter aray then ever heretofore, but also his Bride shall be clothed by him in the richest garments that ever the Sons of men put or oven the glorious graces of Chrift Jefus, in fuch a glorious splendor to the eyes of man, that they shall see and glorifie the Father of both Bridegroom and Bride.

PREFACE

Resident Contractor

Aving already taken a view of the Several Countreys in America, and described their Situations, the Nature and Constitution of their Climates, their degrees of Longitude and Latitude, and what forts of Animals, Fruits, and other Commodities are most peculiar to each particular Countrey, I have thought it most necessary, for the better compleating of this Work, to adjoyn a Compendious History of the Spaniards' proceedings in those parts, from the first discovery of them by Christophorus Columbus, until they mere totally subdued by the Spanish Armies; as also of the Civil Wars among themselves. A Story it is of so much wonder and variety, as by few befides, if any at all, can be parallell'd; for if we confider what vast and mighty Kingdoms were conquered, by what small Parties of Spaniards, in how short a time, and with how little ado, it might be counted almost a Prodigie; but that in respect of Guns and those terrible Arms which the Spaniards used against them, a sight unwonted to those ruder Nations, it may be concluded that they were vanguished as much by Amazement as by Force. Had the Commanders that came afterwards, been men of as much prudence and moderation as at first the Discoverers were, the King of Spain had certainly Won him much more Repute in the Conquest of those People; and what was got by Arms, might perhaps with more advantage have been gained by Civility; but so greedy of wealth, and addicted to rapine were the Governors of Provinces themsfelves, so little did they execute those Acts of Grace, which were granted to the Indians by the King, and Councel for the Indian Affairs, so far did they indulge to the barbarous license of the Souldiers, that Whofoever Ball read the biftorical, admirable, and true Account of their cruel Massacres and Slaughters of above Twenty millions A 2

THE PREFACE.

Lions of innocent people, in a Treatife, Entituled, The Tears of the Indians, to be fold by him that prints this Volume, I fay, who-Gever shall read that bloody Treatife, the very name of a Spaniard will be hateful to him. In thefe their tragical Proceedings they were sometimes paid in their own coyn, Aragling Parties of them being oft times met by the Indians, and cruelly maffacred : and no wonder they behaved themselves in that manner among the Americans, fince fo much cruelty and perfidioufness was exercifed among one another, as will be feen in those Civil Broyls mentioned in this following Hiftory, in the Examples of Pizarrus, Almagrus, and others, Which afford us a feasonable Document, how often those men that give themselves up wholly to Ambition and Avarice, and the amassing together of weal, b, though by never so unjust ways or exorbitant courses, run suddenly headlong unto their own destruction. We have here and less remarkable Instance of the Grange period of Families, and the face of Empires in the Subversion of the Peruvian and Mexican Monarchies, foretold by many dire and wonderful Portents, and by a famous Prophecy of a Bearded Nation that foould come among them, then in what of old befell the Affyrian and the Persian ; and questionlesshad we the ancient Stories of these American Kingdoms; with the Series of all their Inca's and Kings, we should meet with Transactions no less rare and observable, then those which other Nations produce. Much of the Nature and Customs of those People is indeed delivered in those Histories we have extant of them, from the choices of which this ensuing is deduced : nor do I despair, Courteons Reader, of thy favorable reception of it.

VALUE AND AND A MARKED AND

All the Spaniards Proceedings in America, from Columbus his first Discovery, till these Times.

By Ferdinando Gorges Esquire.

Hriftopher Columbus had no fooner made known to Isabella Queen of Castile, his Defign of Discovering I those unknown Regions in the Western part of the World, now called America (which immediately before had been flighted, both by King Henry the Seventh of England, and by Alphonfus the Fifth, King of Portugal; but the Queen fully fatisfied of the great probability of 10 beneficial an Undertaking, immediately imparted the bulinels to King Ferdinando her Husband, and fo effectually prevailed with him, that Columbus and his brother Ba tholomao fet forth with great expedition, with one Liburnick and two Caravels, well furnisht with men, and great store of Provisions. They fet fayl in the Year 1492. from the Port of Cadiz, steering their coutse to Gomera, one of the Canary Islands, where having flayed a few days to fupply themfelves with water and all other kinde of Neceffaries, they went on in their intended Voyage : After they had fayled about thirty days without difcovering any Land, the Saylors began openly to exclaim against Columbus, calling him Genoefe Impostor, and faying that he had betrayed them; but he pacifying them with much ado, and Rill giving them very great hopes, they waited with expectation yet a few days more, but no Land appearing, they renewed their murmures, and peremptorily demanded that they might return ; whereupon, perceiving by his observation of the Heavens, the Air, and the Clouds, that they could not now be far. 00 off from Land, he promifed them that if within three days they did not discover Land, he would not profecute his Delign any farther, but return homeward ; but it fell out happily according to his expectation and forefight, that ere the time prefixed was expired, a little Island difcovered it felf to their view, to the great joy of them all : Here Columbus landed with a few of his men, to take possession of the New World in behalf of the Catholick King Ferdinand and I (abel, and having made but a fhort flay there, (the place being of no great concernment) he fayled from thence, and discovered divers other Islands, and among the reft Cuba, which from King Ferdinand he named Fernandina; thence he put in at the Illand of Haitys, now. called Hispaniola, where he and his Company were kindly received by Guacanarillus the Cacique of that place (for fo a Prince or Supream Covernor is called in that Countrey, Idiom) and obtained leave of him to build a fair Brick-Houfe, where Columbus left thirty eight of his men, the first Colony of Spaniards that was planted in the West-Indies, and with the reft of his Company he returned into Spain, bringing with him a great quantity of Gold, feveral forts of Fruits peculiar to that Countrey, together with about fix of the Native Indians. But before I proceed to the miner of his Reception, I cannot well pretermit the mentioning of that famous Oracle received by tradition among the Indians, which the Caciques and the Bohitii, i. e. the Governors and the Priefts related to Columbus and the Spaniards that were with him, which was to this effest:

Garionexius the father of Guacanarillus, and another Cacique with him, having a great defire to know the event of things to come, determined among themfelves to enquire of their Zemes, i. e. their gods, what the Fates had decreed thould happen after their deaths, and that they might the more confidently hope for an Aniwer to this their requeft, they, according to their ufual maner in fuch like folemn Addrefies to their gods, abstained for five days from all kinde of mear and drink, ipending all that time in deep mourning and 1 mentation: After all these Ceremonies were performed, they received this Answer from their Zemes, That although the fature things things had been always kept most fecret among the Arcana of the Gods, who thought fit to lock them up from the knowledge of mortal men, nevertheles being moved by the greatness of their zeal and piety, they conferred to satisfie this their humble petition; whereupon they revealed unto them, That after a few years their should a certain people arrive in that Island out of a strange Nation (clothed all over with garments, having long promiss Beards, and being girt about with bright Swords which were able to cat a man in two by the middle at one blow) who would dash in pieces the ancient unages of their gods, abolish all their sacred rites and ceremonies, and either kill their children, or inslaving them, seduce them Units all maner of lewdness.

They were attonished at the hearing of this fo frightful an Oracle, and that they might deliver the fense of it to posterity, they composed a certain mournful kinde of Song or Elegy, (which they call Arieto) causing it to be fung in a fad and heavy tone, on all their folemn days of meeting; and all thefe things came afterwards to pass, according as their Zemes had foretold, and their Priefts fung, as in the following History will be manifested.

As foon as Columbus arrived at the Court of Spain, he was honorably received by the King and Queen, and advanced to very g eat dignities, being created Chief Prafect or Admiral of the Seas, and had the tenth part of all the Kings Revenues out of the Indies allowed him, his brother Bartholmans being made Governor of the Island of Hispaniola ; but having acquainted their Majesties with the whole progress of Affairs, that had been acted in the former Voyage, thefe Islands he had already been in, being a happy beginning to far larger Discoveries, he promised to open a way to the finding out of other more large and fertile Countreys, the King caufed a Navy to be inftantly prepared, confifting of three Liburnicks and fourteen Caravels, man'd with above fifteen hundred men, the most part Artificers and Han licrafts men; also there we e fent a greer number of Sheep, Swine, Goats, and other Cattel of both lexes, for the propagating of their kinde in those Countreys, to other with all forts of Grain, Pulle, and Fruits; there likew se went along with thêm divers Priefts and Monks, to to convert the Indians to the Christian Religion. ··· Columbus now being made the Kings Admiral, and furnished in great abundance with all things necessary for such a Voyage, let out the fecond of September in the Year 1493. from the Port of Cadiz, with much more alacrity then in the former Voyage, and passing by the Canary Islands, fomewhat more to the left then he did the last time, the same Island offered it felf to view where he took first possession of the Indies, but Columbus would not flay to land there, but made directly towards Hispaniola, where he much defired to be; but there, when he arrived, he found things altogether in another kinde of flare then what he left them in ; the Spaniards whom he left hebinde him in the Island, being every man murthe ed by the natives : whereupon the Admiral fent for thwith to Guacanarillus the Cacique, to know what should be the cause that his men were thus flain? To which the Cacique returned this Answer: That he was no fooner departed out of the Island when he went last for Spain, but the Spaniards that remained there after him, began to oppress the Inhabitants, to ravish their Wives, and to act all kinde of enormities among them, and that at the fame time another powerful Cacique (as there were many in the Island) finding these bearded men about to build themselves new habitations, and fettle themfelves fo near his Territories. and fearing left in time they might come to fubdue the whole Island, took his advantage, and utterly flew them all; but that for his own part, when he faw the house of the Spaniards on fire, he according to his duty, ran with all speed to their fuccour, but that his Forces being inferior to those of the other Cacique, did little or nothing avail : In fine, faid Gnacanarillus, fo forward I was to refcue your men, that I came not off without being forely wounded, as you fee, and faying fo, he shewed his thigh bound about with a filken Scarf : But all things were utterly false and feigned by Guasanarillus, on purpose to excuse himself, as Columbus afterwards understood ; for certain Spaniards being fent a while after to look upon his thigh, there appeared no fign of any Wound or Sore, fo that it is conjectured, that those men were flain by the counsel and means of Guacanarillus, yet not without provocation, by reafon of

of the outrages committed by them upon the Indians : Many there were that perfwaded Columbus to revenge this injury, but he fearing left by doing fo, he might incur a greater detriment from the Indians, thought it beft to diffemble his refentment, and referve his revenge to a better opportunity.

In the mean time he began that Colony, which to honor the memory of the Queen of Castile, was called Isabella, next at Cibavi, which is that part of the Island whence they dig their Gold; he caused a strong Fort to be built, fit to repel the greateft power the Indians should be able to gather into a Body, and leaving his bother Bartholomeus Governor of the Island, he himself went with three Caravels to seek out new Lands, and discovered the fouth Coast of Cuba, the Island of. Jamaica; the Caribes, and other Islands ; after which, returning back to Hispaniola, he anchored in a commodiovs Port, which he called The Port of St. Nicholas, intending an Expedition against the Caribes, but before he could put his Defign in execution, he was taken very dangeroufly fick, infomuch as he was forced for his health fake, to caufe himfelf to be. brought back to the Colony at Ifabella, where he found fome. of his men dead, others fick, others breaking out into fedition and tumult, flighting the Commands of his brother Bartholomaus : Moreover, divers Caciques of the Countrey, by reafon of the rapines, murthers, and other horrid outrages committed among them by the Spaciards, began to rebel and take. up arms; and to adde unto all these troubles and inconveniences, the people left the ground untilled, and whatfoe er there was already growing in the fields that might be profitable for mans use, they destroyed and waited it, that they might leave nothing but a bare and barren foyl to be enjoyed ; and some weary of their lives, by reason of the barbarous ufage of the Spaniards, voluntarily flarved themfelves to death.

Columbus feeing it abfolutely neceffary to apply timely remedies to fuch growing evils, behaved himfelf with great prudence and integrity, punishing with death all the chief authors of fedition and inteffine Broils, and all those Spaniards that were found guilty of any kinde of outrage or mildemea-nor toward the Natives, and indeavour'd to reconcile the Caciques to him by all means possible : But the odium of the Spaniards grew to great against the Admiral, by reason of feverity towards them, and because he would not countenance them in their cruelties and rapines, that they fludied his ruin, and many writ unto the King all the hainous things they could devife against him and his brother. As foon as he was recover'd, he thought it convenient to make another voyage back into Spain, to certifie their Majellies of the flate of affairs.... About this time it happed that fuch dreadful tempeftuous winds arole in this Illand from the East, that never had the like been seen or heard of by the eldest of the Natives, with fuch a furious violence came this Huracan (for fo they call it in those parts) that heaven seem'd to meet together, involving the day with an obscurity equal to that of the darkest night, trees were torn up by the root, rocks rent afunder from the hills, would tumble with great force upon the plains, and whole houses shattered to pieces, the fruits of the earth laid wafte, and a great number of people deftroy'd, and the greateft part of the Cattel; also the Ships of the Spaniards were milerably torn and batter'd, whereof three that lay at Anchor, having their Anchors broke and their tackling torn, were overturn'd and funk, and all the men in them drown'd. Various. were the conjectures of men, what should be the cause of this fo general a calamity, & what fuch ftrange accidents might portend, the Indians fluck not to impute the cause to the exectable wickedness of the Spaniards committed among them, but what ever the cause were, it may very well be conjectur'd, that they portended these horrid massacres which foon after ensued. About five years after, there hapned two other whirlwinds, the last of which was more terrible and destructive then that above mention'd, infomuch that the Island was depopulated and wasted, that the Spaniards were like to have been famish't, had not Ships come feafonably from Spain, with plenty of all provisions for their fupply.

The Admiral preparing (as is above mention'd) to return into Spain, being aftonish't and confounded at these prodigious winds, and the destruction that was caused by them, made the

the more hafte to be gone, and commanded that his Ships fhould be repair'd with ipeed : As foon as he arrived at Court, he prefented the King with a great quantity of Gold and other precious things, and made a narrative to him of all Transactions of the Prodigies that had happened; of the Spaniards behavior towards the Indians, and of his execution of juffice upon the molt hainous offenders, clearing himfelf of all those crimes that were malicioufly and faifly objected againft him.

The King having had fufficient experience of Columbus his fidelity, exprest a gracious and favorable referement of his good fervices, and fent him forth upon a new Expedition with a Navy of twelve Caravels, well armed and provided of all things neceffary, two of these Veffels, Columbus, Having himfelf a while behinde, sent away immediately toward Hispaniola to his brother, which fayling with a profperous Gale, put in at the western part of the Island, where at that time refided one Roldanus Ximenes, whom from an obscure person, Columbus had raifed to be Juridicial Prator; this man having drawn to his party a great number of Spaniards, revolted from the Præfest, that he might with more license give himself to exercife all maner of rapine and extortion ; and among others, he follicited those men that arrived in these two Ships, setting as a bait before their eyes, the confideration of fuch vaft riches as were in the Island, telling them how easie it was to overrun all the habitations of the Barbarians, and quickly to become masters of all their wealth; with which hopes the men being abfolutely overcome, joyned themselves and their whole fortunes with him, and fo taking all the Provisions they brought along with them in their Ships for their own use, they went roving about the Ifland, with promifcuous licenfe robbing, killing, and committing all maner of fpoil and havock.

Upon this Garionexius, one of the Caciques, feeing all his Territories harraffed with fire and fword by those that were called Christians, he joyned his Forces with another Cacique, called Marabonefus, and refolved to defend himfelf from their cruelty and robberies. The Forces of the Indians being thus, came pouring down from the mountains upon those places where the Spaniards had their flations, and wherefoever they caught caught any of them, they cut them into fmall pieces, glutting their fury and revenge upon them.

X

While these tumults were in Hispaniola, the Admiral set forth with the reft of the Navy from the Port of St. Lucar the eighth of May, 1498. directing his course to Madera, one of the Azores Illands belonging to the Portugals, from thence fending fix Caravels before him to Hispaniola, he with the other three steered his course nearer the Equinostial line, to-Wards Cape Veride, or the Gorgades Islands, where he met with many inconveniences by reafon of the calms, and the immoderate heat of the feafon ; at length having reached India, he lighted upon Cabagna in the Parian Bay, this Island he called the Island of Pearls, upon this occasion, when he came into the .Bay with his Ships, teeing fome Indians fishing out of a Wherry, he fent some of his men in a little Schiph, to know what they were, and what countreys they inhabited; the Spaniards feeing the Boat full of Oyfters, thought to have eaten fome of them, but having opened them, they found them full of Pearls, of which having brought back word to the Admiral, he re:oyced that he had difcovered fo rich an Ifland, and approaching nearer land, he fayled into the mouth of the River Camana. and being earnefily defired by the Indians to come afhore, he was courteoully entertained by the Cacique of that place, and in flead of Knives, Looking-glaffes, Bells, and fuch other Toys which he diffributed among the Natives, he received an inestimable quantity of Pearls : Having stayed here a while, and wonderfully contented his Spaniards with the riches they gained here, he returned to his ships, and fet fayl for Hispamiola, where, when he came, he found all things in that combuffion as before hath been mentioned : at first he fought to compose things in a fair way, writing to Ximenes the Captain of this Rebellion, to exhort him to return to the obedience of the Prefect ; but Ximenes contemning the perfwations and advice of the Admiral, perfifted in his fedition, and withal writ Letters to the King, wherein he impeached the Prefect of tyranny, ambition, and immoderate feverity, alledging that that was the caufe of his defection from him ; moreover, he accufed the Admiral of endeavouring to usurp the fole Empire of Cochofe Iflands.

Columbus on the other fide informed the King by Letters of the abominable actions, and riotous carriage of this Roldanus, and how that he and his followers lived continually like thieves and robbers, filling the Island with rapes, murthers, and all maner of villany; that he had traiterously feduced unto his party, all those men which were in the two Caravels that he tent to Bartholmaus out of Spain, and that notwithstanding his fair admonitions to the contrary, he perfisted in his apoflacy and rebellion.

While these Acculations on both fides were fent into Spain, the Admiral fent his brother Bartholomaus with So Foot, and fome Horfe against those Caciques that were in open hostility; they on the contrary had fix thousand, but when they joyned battel, they were routed by the Spanish Horfe, and betook themfelves by flight to the mountains and thick woods; feveral Skirmishes there were afterwards, but at length Garisnexins, and four other Caciques were taken, and submitted themfelves to the Admiral; and being afterwards convinced that he was not Authour or Countenancer of those Injuries which they had lately received from a party of Spaniards, they promifed friendship to the Admiral, and obedience to the King of Spain, and thereupon were peaceably difiniss to their own Dominions.

While the Admiral and his brother were thus bufied in reducing the Rebel-Caciques to obedience, the Letters, both of the Admiral and Roldano, arrived at the Court of Spain, whereby the King and Queen perceiving the diffurbed effare of affairs in Hispaniola, were very much troubled; by this time the fame of these rich countreys was so universally spread, that nothing was more talked among the Nobles of Spain, then the vaft riches of the other World, thinking that the very Rivers had run with Gold, which so inflamed their hearts with avarice, that every one defired to have a Government in fome of these places, but none durst openly pretend to such an advancement, in regard of the great credit and effeem which the Admiral had with the King and Queen, thinking it more fit to proceed another way; therefore they suggested all the difadvantagious things they could devise to impair the Repurarions tations of Columbus and his brother, giving out that they had not brought in that quantity of Gold, which they might very well have done in all that time, that they fought their own enrichment more then the Kings interest, and that there was fhrewd fuspicion they intended to usurp the fole Empire of those places themselves : These reports were so frequently banded to and fro, that they foon came to the Kings ears, and there were not wanting those whose office it was to foment the Kings jealoufie against the two brothers, infomuch that the King refolved at length to fend a new Prefect of Governor, to enquire into the truth of these things, and the true cause of the diffensions between the Admiral and Roldanus; and to this end Franciscus Bombadilla, being invested with full powe: and authority by the King, fet forth from Cadiz in the Year 1499. with a Navy of four Caravels : The Admiral and Bartholomeus heating of the New Prefe &, went to meet him, inrending to give him fuch an honorable Reception as befitted a perfon intrusted with the highest authority from the King, but in flead of the fincere and friendly falutations wherewith they welcom'd him to the fhore, they received but a very course return of thanks, being immediately caff into prifon, and to aggravate their forrow the more, immediately fent away apart from one another in two Caravels into Spain: As foon as they were brought on fhore, word was prefently carried to the King of the arrival of these two Illustrious Prisoners, being bound in chains, and in a poor and miferable equipage, whereupon the King moved with compassion at the fadness of their condition, fent forthwith to Cadiz, and commanded they should be taken out of prison, and being attended and habited according to their qualities, that they should be brought into his prefence; where, as foon as they were admitted, and favourable audience given them, they declared the whole truth of affairs, and accordingly condign punifhment was decreed to be inflicted upon those that were guilty.

After that the new Governor Bombadilla had fent the two brothers prifoners into Spain, Roldanus and the other Rebels of his faction, returned to obedience under his command, and then all of them with one confent fell to pillaging and oppreffing fing of the miferable Natives, forcing them to work in the Gold Mines, and inflicting unreasonable tasks upon them, and all to glut their infatiable avarice with gold : But King Ferdinando hearing of these violent Proceedings, abrogated Bombadilla's power, and fent in his room Nicolaus Olanda, invefted with the Title and Authority of Viceroy, who fetting forth from the Port of St. Lucar with a Navy of thirty thips, partly Brigantines, and partly Liburnicks, or Gally-foifts, arrived in the fland in forty days fayl. Bombadilla feeing that fo potent a man, and backt with fo full authority from the King, was come to fucceed him, refolves to relinquish the Island, together with his Government, and to return into Spain in those very flips which brought overthe Viceroy & his Company, carrying along with him an ineffimable Mais of Gold; and along with him there went Roldanus Ximenes, and divers other Military Officers, with about four hundred Spaniards, all of them enciched with fto e of Gold, especially the great Ones; but divine Juflice suffered not the cruelty and avarice of these men to go long unrewarded, for they had not fayled very far ere fuch a mighty tempest arole, as shattered their Navy to pieces, twenty four thips being funk, and most part of the men drowned, among whom were Bombadilla and Roldanus Ximenes, and here perished all those massie pieces of Gold, both what was fet apart for the King and Queen, and what they had fcraped together for their own use. The Indians as foon as they were informed of this news, rejoyced exceedingly at the destruction of these men who had used them injuriously; and thus ended all the quarrels and heart-burnings between these men and the Columbuffes.

By this time the rumor of the great plenty of Pearls difcovered by the Admiral in the Iflands of Cumana and Cumagna, being blazed abroad in many places of Spain, flirred up the mindes of a great many to go and fee those places, whereupon the King made an express Edist, wherein he forbade all Mariners or Mafters of Ships, to go within fifty leagues of those places that were found out by Columbus, upon very great Penalties, without special Order or Commission from his Majefly, in the mean time giving free Licensfe to whosever would, to feek out New Countreys or Islands not yet discovered : To which intent one Alphon fus Ninnus went out with one thip and about thirty four Spaniards, divers of whom had been with the Admiral when he discovered Cubagna, these men as soon as they had reacht the Indies, neglecting the Kings command, refolved out of a coverous defire of riches, to fayl into the Parian Bay, and to touch upon the coafts of Amaracapana, Cumana, and all those places already found out by the Admiral, where Alphon fus going on fhore, was civilly treated by the People, maintaining commerce wich them, he gained a great quantity of Pearls, and returned rich into Spain; but in their way homeward their arofe a great contention between the Captain and his foldiers about the division of the Pearls : as foon as they came within fight of Spain, they avoided the Port of Sivel, for fear of that punishment which the King had decreed to infligt upon them, for touching upon those coasts which had been difcovered by Columbus, and therefore they directed their course toward Gallicia: No fooner was Alphon fus come on fhore, but fome of his Sea-men accused him to the Governor of the place, not onely of contempt of the Kings Edict, in fayling about those shores already mentioned, but also defrauding the King of the fifth part of his due, having converted an incredible Mass of Pearls to his own private use; whereupon the Governor caused Al, honfus to be apprehended and clapt up into priion, where, after he had confumed the greateft part of his Pearls, he was fent in chains to King Ferdinando.

But to return to the Admiral Columbus, he having remained three years in the Court, in high favour and effects with the King, at length at his earneft fupplication, the King commanded three Brigantines to be inade ready for him, that he might go Inqueft of other new Lands, to which end he directing his courfe toward the Weft, difcovered the Hland of Guanaxia, near the Continent where that great Province is which the Natives call Ignera, the Spaniards, Caput Fondurenfe; in this Ifland he went on fhore, and was prefented by the Inhabitants, with the chiefeft of the fowl, and choiceft fruits of the countrey; here he found no fhew or appearance of Gold, either by the Veftments, Ornaments, or any other Utenfils of the the Natives, but very rich Mines were found, of which they took not the leaft notice, nor made any effeem: from hence the Admiral fayling along the Coaft, reached Veragua, and putting in at the Iflands Zorobari, not far from the Continent, he learned from the Inhabitants, that all the Province of Veragua abounded with Gold: From thence passing along the shore, he went as far as the Bay of Uraba, where going on shore, he had notice in some places of the Southern Ocean.

While he fayled about these new Coasts, he lost two Caravels, and those two that remained had taken much water, fo that he gave command to fteer back again, first recovering the Island of Cuba, afterwards Jamaiaca ; having loft divers of his men, who were utterly fpent with excessive labor and toyl, and all that were left alive were very weak and fickly; at the fame time Franciscus Poresius the Governor of a Ship, with his brother, and a great part of the foldiers, gathered head, and banded together against the Admiral, and having gained some small veffels of the Indians, they withdrew themselves to Hispaniola. The Islanders perceiving the Christians to be at variance among themselves, and seeing that the greatest part of their Arength was drawn away from them by Porefius, they not onely denied to furnish them with any kinde of provision, but took counfel among themfelves to kill them. The Admiral being very much perplexed in minde, to fee himfelf and his men driven to these streights, and the Indians were neither to be moved by intreaties, nor by reafon of the weaknefs of his men, could be compelled by force to afford them any fuccour, he bethought himself of this artifice; Being near unto a cottage or two of the Barbarians, he inviting them forth one time to confer with him about a business of concernment to them, admonish't them, that if they did not speedily supply him and his men with neceffary provisions, a grievous Plague would fuddenly fall upon them from heaven, which would utterly deftroy them, and for an infallible fign and token of what he faid, within two days they should fee the Moon look blood red, which happening at the very day and hour that he had foretold (for the Moon was then in the Eclips, a he eafily forefaw) they being overcome with fear, plentifully afforded the beft best Provisions they had, as long as they stayed in the Island, intreating pardon for their former incivility.

TA

About this time Franciscus Poresius having wreftled a good while with the tempeluous waves, and firiven in vain with those little Wherries, to reach his intended Port, was beaten back upon the coaft of Jamaica; notice being taken of his coming, the Admiral and his brother brought their Forces into the field, and gave him battel, in which both Poresius and his brother were taken prisoners. This was the first Fight the Spaniards ever fought among themselves in India.

The Admiral was not more encouraged with this Victory, then troubled to fee himfelf defitute of all means to get out of the Ifland where he was, all his Ships being perifhed and funk; but at lat he refolved to try fome expedient or other to procure a Ship or two out of Hispaniola, which was thus effected : He knowing that the Indians knew all the fecret paffages by rocks and fhelves fo well, that they could eafily pafs over with their finall fifther-boats, he fends ten of them with Didacus Menez his fervant that waited on him, promifing them great rewards to carry him thicher fafe, which they dexteroufly performed, and fpeedily returning themfelves, brought back word, that they had left him on his way to Dominica, for which news, he gave them liberal rewards.

Didacus atriving at Dominica, he delivered his mafters letters to the Governour, who immediately commanded that a Caravel thould be made ready for him compleatly furnithed; and with the money which he received from the Admirall, he purchafed another : in these two Caravels, as foon as they arrived at Jamaica, the Admirall and his company, were transported over to Hispaniola, where after he had reposed himself a while, he with his brother Bartholomeus returned again into Spain, and gave the King a true and full account of what other Lands they had discovered, and of all other material pass that had hapned besides.

But the Admiral Columbus having had a fecret malady growing upon him through the hardfhip and toyl of his long and laborious Travels, fell dangeroufly fick foon after his return, and in a fhort while finished the course of a most honored and renowned renowned Life; his Death happened about the beginning of May, in the year 1506, his body, according to his Will, being conveyed to Sevil and layd in the Monastery of the Certofine Fryers: he left a fon behinde him called Didacus Columbus, who was matched unto Maria the daughter of Ferdinando of Toledo, Great Gommendatary of Lyons. He was born in Cucureum a City belonging to the Territory of the Genoefes, his Ancestors sprang from Placentia a city of Liguria, and were of the noble stock of the Pilistrelli: he was of a just stature, of an agile body, and well knit limbs, a found judgement, and a high fancy, his eyes piercing and vivacious, his hair yellowish, and his mouth somewhat wide, he was inclining to passion and choler, when any occasion was given, but an exact observer of justice, and from his childehood very much adicted to the art of Navigation.

About this time the Indians dwelling about the river Cumana not able to indure the tyranny and barbarous usage of the Spaniards, who forced them daily with ftripes and blows to fish for Pearls for them, took their advantage and set upon the Spaniards one morning, making a great Slaughter of them, fparing neither Fryers, nor any fort of Ecclefialtical perfon; fome notwithstanding by the help of a fmall Vessell which they found upon the river Cumana, escaped to Dominica, and brought the news to the Governor, who forthwith fent Didacus Olampus against the Indians ; he by a staragent feigning that he came from Spain, and putting most of his men under deck, that he might feem to have but a few, enticed a great number of Indians into his thip, and as foon as he had them in his power, gave a fign to those that lay in ambush, to rush our upon them; the greatest part of them they flew, and those whom they took prifoners, he caufed to be hanged upon the Saylyard for a terror to others, then landing his men at Cumana he affaulted the Natives, proceeding against them with all maner of cruelty, & almost to an utter extirpation; those mileraable people that were, being constrained to make humble supplications for Peace, which being granted ; the Indians at his command, built four and twenty houses of mars and rulhes upon the River bank with their own hands : This Town was called led Toletum, and being much frequented f.om Cubagna, the fifting of Pearls began to be reflored there again.

Not long after, certain Dom nican Fryers arriving in those parts, built two Monasteries, one in Cumana, the other in Amaracapana, propagating the Christian Religion among them; and thenceforth the Indians in those parts began to live peaceably and quietly with the Spaniards.

While these vicifsitudes were agitated in Cumana, Bartholomeus de las Cafas, a Priest and Doctor of the Law, hearing of the plenty and abundant fertility of Cubagna, and the rich fifhing for Pearl there, and moved with the tame of the Spaniards cruel demeanor towards those People, repairs to the Court of Spain to Charls, who, Ferdinando his Grand-father being dead, was chosen King, declaring unto him how miferably the Natives were injured, and how cruelly dealt with by the Spaniards, and that thereby they were constrained to rebel, and to destroy what ever of the Spaniards they could met with in those parts, and therefore defired that the Administration of that Province might be assigned to him, promising that in a fhort time he would compose all those disturbances, and that he would exercise a moderate and just Empire over the Indians, and above all, that he would very much augment the Kings Revenues. Dr. Ludovicus Zappata, and others that were of the Councel for the Indian affairs, judging him a vain man, of no fame or authority, unfit for fuch a Defign, and withal unskilful of the affairs of those countreys, and maners of the people, earnefly opposed themselves against his undertaking ; but he being countenanced and favoured by divers Dutch Noblemen, and backt with the authority of Count Naffan, who was chief of the Emperors Bed-chamber, and having poffeffed men with a great opinoin of his zeal and fanctiry, eafily obtained what he defired, choosing 300 country men whom he intended to imploy in the fishing for Pearl, that he might not ne ed to put the Indians unto too much toil; and moreover, he befought his Majesty to honour them with some Knightly badge, especially the Red, such as was that of the Knights of Calatrava, that they might undertake this Expedition with the more alacrity. Cafar moved with the zeal and promifes of the Dothe Doctour, granted him whatfoever he defired, and commanded that thips thould be made ready, and all neceffaries provided.

Setting fayl from Sevil, he came in a fhort while to Cumana, where finding Didacus Ocampus, he fhewed him the Kings patent, which when he faw to be of little availment with Ocampus, and that he himfelfe was had in fcorn and derifion by him, he refolved to go to Dominica to complain of his contumacy to the Governor, and becaufe he was kept out of Toletum by Ocampus, he built himfelf in hafte a woodden houfe, where he intended to leave his new Knights in garifon till his return, not long after alfo Ocampus went thence with the greatest part of the fouldiers.

The Caciques of Cumana perceiving that most of the Spanish fouldiers were departed the Island, those whom Casars had left in garrison being but inconfiderable in number, the reft wandring here and there about their own pleasures and inordinate courses, they made a cruel mailacre of all that they found in Amaracapana, and all the sea coast westward; the Fryers were murthered while they were celebrating Divine Service, the Doctors house was besieged, and almost all his new Knights miserably destroyed with poiloned arrows, they killed the hens and the dogs that belonged to the Spaniards, nor spared they the very Indians that had been in any office among them, and had it not been for want of Vessels to transport themselves over, they had utterly destroyed all that were in Cubagna.

The news hereof being immediately carried to Dominica, the Governor fent over four hundred foldiers under the command of Jacobus Caftellio, who quickly reduced them to obedience, and proceeded very feverely against those he took: foon after Toletum was repaired, and feventy houses of brick built in Cubagna.

The trade of Pearl-fifting being renewed, and beginning again to flourish, Ludovicus Lampugnanus a kinsman of that Lampugnanus that slew Galeatius Maria Forza Duke of Millain, came into those parts with full authority from Cafar to fish all along the coast of Cubagna as far as he pleased, and had had prepared a kinde of Drag-net, which into what part of the fea foever it was caft, would take up all the Shell fifth that were in that part, but the Spaniards that had possefied the place, opposed him with might and main : when he faw that his Patent from the Emperor availed him little, and being unwilling to return again into Spain, either for fhame, or by reafon of his Debts, he fell mad for vexation, and pining away, he died within a few years.

About this time great complaints were made by the Spaniards in America to the Emperor, who was also King of Spain, concerning the contumacy of the Indians, and their averinefs unto Christian Religion ; whereupon a Decree came forth unto them from the King and his Councel, That unlefs they would relinquish their superstitious Errours, and imbrace the Christian Religion, living after the maners and customs of the Spaniards, they should be adjudged to perpetual servitude. This Decree was sent by Didacus Nique fa and Alphon fus Hoisda, the first being constituted Governor of Veragua, the last of Carthago; their Commission being first to admonish the Indians to submit themselves to a quiet compliance with them, but if they refused, then to profecute them with fire and fword, and all maner of feverity. These two Governors fetting fayl from Cadiz, soon arrived at Hispaniola, where Hoieda having bought ships, and raised about four hundred men, he hastened with these to Carthago, giving order to. Martinus Ancisus chief Juridicial Prætor of that Province, to follow with the reft of the men and ammunition, as a Referve. The Kings Proclamation being divulged, they thought that was enough, and not minding the preaching of the Gospel, or any thing of the Indians good, they onely were whrent upon the riffling of them, and making flaves of whomfoever they caught delinquent, although this kinde of usage was intended onely by the Law for the Caribes, and those who were eaters of mans fleth, but they promifcuoufly exercifed their tyranny in all parts of India, and towards all forts, infomuch that they had perished, had not certain Dominican Monks moved with charity toward them, procured their liberty ; for they fent Rodericus Minaia to Rome to make a relation of these abuses to Pope

Pope Paul the Third, who having given a full hearing to thefe complaints, immediately fent his Bull, wherein he commanded, that the Indians should be restored to their liberty ; which Rodericus carrying into Spain, acquainted the King with the whole maner of the proceedings, shewing that these people ought to be brought to the Christian Faith by good example, and not by cruelty and tyranny: Cafar hereupon fent Figueroa into India, to make a diligent Enquiry into these things, who bringing him a true and faithful account of all matters, Cafar forthwith fent a strift command, that the Indians should be reflored to their liberty, laying firit penalties upon those that fhould thenceforth use them as flaves.

In the year 1544 Licentiat Ceratus was fent Governor from the Emperor into Hispaniola, bringing along with him this Edict which he published, as much to the joy of the Indians, as to the grief of the Spaniards in Hispaniola, Cuba, Jamaica, St. Johns Ifland, and all over that coaft which is vulgarly called Terra Firma, from Nombre de Dios to the Parian Bay; but in Mexico there were fo many rich men, whole chief fortunes confifted in their flaves, that the Edist was opposed with great obstinacy, infomuch that great combustions had been firred up there, had it not been for the fingular prudence of the Viceroy Antonius Mendoza, who forbore to proclaim the Edict, until another Express came from Cafar to confirm it, and peremptorily to command obedience unto it.

While Hoieda was making War with the Indians about New Carthage, Niquesa came thither with a Navy of one Liburnick, feven Caravels, and two Galiots, he came from making War with another Nation of the Indians, about twelve mile from Carthage, where he thought to have found a great quantity of gold, but the Cacique being prepared for him, be it him back with a great deal of lofs ; which to revenge, Hoieda and he joyning their Forces together, went back into the countrey, and fet upon the Indians in the night time when they were leaft aware; and having made great havock of them, they returned back to Carthage with very small booty, the riches of this place falling extreamly thort of their expertation.

Niquesa being returned back to his own Province, Hoieda made made an inroad into that part, which lies upon Urabian Bay, about two hundred miles from Carthage, where hisSpaniards, as they were romaging about for gold, were fhot by the Indians with poifoned arrows; alfo, a Cacique whofe wife was taken prifoner, went with feveral of his friends into the prefence of the Governour, and feigning to have business with him, went up to him, and flabbed him with a poifoned dart, but was afterwards himfelf, his wife, and his affociates flain by the Souldiers that ran in to the Governours help; not long after the Souldiers beginning to mutiny for want of neceflary provisions, the Governour went to Hispaniola, promifing to return. unto them fuddenly, with a fupply of neceffaries, and leaving in his room Franciscus Pizarrus, (this is that Pizarrus, who afterwards, together with Didacus Almagrus subdued the rich kingdom of Perne Astaliba, the King being taken and flain; ) but Hoieda being arrived at Hispaniola, what with the pain of his wound, and the failing of those Supplies he expeded towards his return, gave over both his Province, and all hopes of life, and entred into the order of Franciscans, in which habit he died within a fhort while.

Hoieda's return being in vain expected for the space of two moneths, and famine beginning to oppress them more and more, Pizarrus, with seventy Spaniards, who were all that were left of three hundred, set fail from thence with a purpose to go to Hispaniola, but a mighty tempest arising, one of their two Galeots was cast away, with all the men that were in it, which was half their company, the Rudder of the Ship being broken and torn away by a fish of an unwonted bigness.

Pizarras with the company that was left, was caft upon the Ifland that was called Fortis, where when he thought to have gone a fhore, making figns of peace to the Inhabitants, he was prohibited from landing.

While in this calamitous condition they defpaired of all relief, feeing nothing round about them but deftruction, at laft they light upon Ancifus, who with one Liburnick, and one Galleot, was bringing Supplies to Hoieda, by him they were furnished with provisions, and fet on shore at Comagra, but Ancifus cifus teturning to Uraba, was shipwrackt upon a rock, and his men had much ado to fave themselves; but the Ship and all the goods being loft, they refolve to go up into the Country and try their fortune, where being fet upon by the Indians, they were forced to fly back to the shore, yet having intelligence that on the other fide of the Urabian Bay, there was great plenty of corn, fruits, and all kinde of fuftenance, there went over about a hundred men in two fmall veffels. The Indians perceiving that they intended to take up their habitation there, made all the oppolition they could to drive them out of the country; the battel was sharp on both fides, but in the end Ancifus gave them a total defeat, and the Spaniards taking posseifion of the Indian cottages, fufficiently refresht themfelves with the bread, fruits, and roots of the country, they found also two thousand five hundred pound of fine gold. which Comaccus the Cacique of that country had hidden, with great flore of riches befides; In the dividing of this booty there fell out a great contention between Ancifus, and one Valcus Nunez, Valboa, a violent and feditious man, who alleadged that the Prætour had in this division sought his own interest more then became a just and impartial Judge, during this contest Rodericus Colmenares, having been carrying Supplies to those at Uraba, and finding but small footsteps of the Colony planted there by Hoieda, he lighted by chance upon this place, being welcom'd with great joy, by reason of the provisions he brought with him.

Ancifus having made a vow to confectate a Temple in this place to the Virgin Mary, he to that end, fet apart the Caciques houfe, and planted here a Colony, which was called Antiqua Darienis.

In this place, after many various hazards and chances, Niquefa alfo arrived, for as he was failing from New-Carthage towards his own Province, a tempeft arofe, which fo difperft this little Fleet, that the two Gallies utterly loft fight of the Caravel where the Governour was, fo that having fought after him for a long while in vain, they at laft conflituted Lupus Olandus Commander in Chief, till fuch time as they could meet with Niquefa, who going with his men on land, they temained mained there a while, ranfacking the cottages of the Indians, who were fled unto the mountains, but they had not been long here, ere a little Schiph arrived with three Sea-men, who brought news that Niquesa was cast upon an Island called Zorobara, where he had been above two moneths defitute of all company, wandring through the folitary woods, and feeding on nothing but wilde apples and roots; Olandus immediately fent a Gally for him, wherein he returned back again to his Army, and took upon him his command again, acculing Olandus of treachery, for that he had neglected fo long to feek after him, and refolving fuddenly to be gone from thence, notwithstanding the intreaties of his Souldiers, who expected to reap the harvest of Maize which they fowed, he caused a new Caravel to be built, with which, and his two Gallies, he fet fail, and came to a place which Columbus had called Porto Bello, from thence being driven back to his Ships by the natives, with the loss of many of his men, he came next to a place called Promontorium Marmoris, where, promifing to himself a more happy course of affairs., In the Name of God (faith he to his men) let us go on land, and from thenceforth that place took the name of Nombre de Dios: here he remained a while in great want and mifery, and much infefted by the Indians, at length the differencions growing higher and higher daily between Ancifus and Valboa, fome fiding with one party, some with the other, the Souldiers that had served under Alphonfus Hoieda, sent Colmenares to Veragua, to intreat Nique (a to come to Antiqua, and take the government upon him, and to decide those differences until some one should come by special order from the King. Colmenares missing him at Veragua, found him out at last at Nombre de Dios, weak, fickly, half pined, and almost naked ; and having acquainted him with the caufes for which the Antiquenfians had fent for him, Nique (a, with feventy five Spaniards, which were all that were left of all his army, fet fail with Colmenares for Antiqua, but by the way caffing forth many threatning fpeeches against both Ancifus and Valboa, he no fooner came on shore, but his words were brought in question, by those that overheard them, before the Councel of Antiqua, whereupon a general

neral indignation being conceived against him, he was immediately expelled from the Colony with his feventy five men. Niquefa departing with much shame and forrow, thought to have gone directly to Dominica, and there to have impeached Ancifus and Valboa before the Councel of that place, but by the way putting in for fresh water not far from the Zorobarensfan Islands, he was set upon by the Barbarians, and slain, together with his whole Company, and, as fome fay, devoured; the River near unto which this destruction happened, was from thence named Rio de los Perdidos.

After Niquela's departure, the old contention burft forth again more violent then ever : Valboa perceiving himfelf Superiour in power to Ancilus, clapt him up in prison, but after a while fet him free again, and feeing him make preparations to be gone, he endeavoured to detain him, by offering to continue unto him the dignity of chief Juridicial Prætour, but he difdainfully refused it, and haftned away into Spain, carrying a Libel with him, full of complaints against Valboa, which he exhibited at the Councel for the Indian affairs ; whereupon a sharp sentence was given against him, but Valboa contra-Eting an intimate friendship with Panchiacus one of the powerfullest Caciques of the Country, whom he had caused to be Baprized, and named Charles, obtained of him a difcovery of the South-Sea; for Panchiacus had before prefented Valboa with a mighty mass of gold, and seeing a great contention among the Spaniards about it, I will bring ye, faid he, O Christians, where ye shall have your fill of this base Mettal, after which ye have fuch an infariable thirst, and having fo faid, he brought them to those Provinces that lie upon the South-Sea: there Valboa having gained infinite riches, called the Country Castella Aurea, or Golden Castile, in which is scituate the famous City Panama. Returning back to Antiqua Darienis he was magnificently received by those of the Colony, who came out to meet him with great Pomp and Solemnity, in regard of this rich discovery he had made. L'etters were immediately difpatcht to the King, wherein Valboa acquainted his Majesty with the manner of his discovery of the South-Sea, fending him withal, as an affurance of these things, twenty five five Pearls of a vaft bignets, and three thousand Ducates of Gold, defiring also for himself the Government of this new Province, and that one thousand men might be fent him, for the fubduing of the people, and obtaining the intire possession of the place.

The King received these Letters and the present, with much fatisfaction, caused forthwith the sentence that was against Valboa to be abbrogated, grants his request of being chief Governour of the place, and sends him a Supply of one thousand men, and assigns the Goverment of Ansigua Darienis to Petrus Aria, giving him in charge to deal mildly with the Indians, and to offer them peace, before he assigned them with arms.

Petrus Arias coming to Antiqua with fifteen hundred men, was received by Valboa with great expressions of joy and friendship, and having begun to plant a Colony, and to build houses in Tumanama, he sent Joannes Costa with two Caravels, and four hundred men to Comagra, to feek for Gold, this man used all manner of cruelty toward the Indians, to make them confess where their Gold was, not sparing the subjects of Panchiacus who had been fo great a friend to the Spaniards, which to incenft him against them, that raising all the power he could, he fet upon them with great violence, and flew a great number of them, the Indians often crying out, Impious and perfidious Chriftians, unworthy to live upon the earth. The Captain was forced to make hafte away with those men that were left, and brought what booty he could fave to Antiqua ; Afterwards Bartholomaus Urtadus was fent to Achle Fernandus Valesius, to Caribana, the last of whom was put to flight by the Indians, who fo hated the Spaniards, that those of them who were eaters of mans flesh, notwithstanding loathed to touch the carcafes of those Spaniards that were flain, those whom they took alive, they would binde them hand and foot, and thrufting Gold into their mouths, would cry, Eat, Chriftians, eat.

Petrus Arias, his defigns meeting fo often with improsperous ends, were openly derided and fcofft at by Valboa, which was the occasion of a very great enmity between them, to reconcile concile these differences, Gobatus the Governors brother, who was Bilhop of the place, procured a Marriage between Valboa and the Daughter of his brother Arias; which Match every one thought would have established a firm Friendship between them.

As foon as the Nuprial Ceremonies were ended, Valboa, with the confent of Arias his father in Law, departed from Aniquato his own Province upon the fouth Sea, whereof he was made Governor by the Kings special appointment, taking along with him half the men whom Arias brought out of Spain, but certain malicious perfons who envied his Advancement and good Success, poffeffed the Governor of Antiqua with a great deal of prejudice and ill will towards him, by their feandalous and forged Reports, alledging, that he had his friends and agents among the foldiery to feel their tempers, and to endeavor to bring them to his devotion; hereupon Arias difpatched Letters to Valboa, willing him to come away unto him with all speed, to confult with him about businesses of importance.

Valboa, who was intent upon building of Ships for the Difcovery of new Coafts, no fooner received thefe Letters, but away he haftened to Antiqua with fifty men; as foon as he arrived, little dreaming of any thing defigned againft him, he is caft into prifon, and foon after being brought to his Tryal, divers hainous accufations were brought in againft him, as his unjuft proceedings towards Ancifus, his cruelty to the Indians, and divers other particulars. In reference to all which, although he fliffly flood upon his Juftification, alledging many powerful Arguments for the clearing of himfelf, but in the end the Governor denied to give him any further Hearing, and pafsing the Sentence of Death upon him, caufed him to be beheaded, with five other Spaniards befides.

The news of Valboa's Death being carried into Spain, the Councel for the Indian Affairs was much offended at it, becaufe of the many good fervices he had done for the State, in the difcovery of the fouth fea. This confideration aggravated in those things which the Antiquenfians writ to the King against E

Arias, moved the Councel to cafheer him from his Government. And thefe were the moft remarkable Pailages that happened in the first Difcovery of theie parts, in which there are fome other confiderable places befides those above-mentioned, as St. Martha, Caput Veli, Valeniola, which in the year it 528. was pawned to the Velzares German Merchants, who fent thither as Governor, Ambrofius Alfingerus, he having out of avarice exercised many examples of cruelty and tyraniny, was at length flain by the Indians, and in his room Georgius Alfingerus was fent, who being one night surprized unawares by the Spaniards, was babaiously mutchered by them, and his body thrown into a Wood: but the perpetratours of this horrid mutcher were afterwards by Cafars command, put to death in a most fevere and exquisite maner.

Notwithstanding that by this time the Spaniards had had for a long time the possession of the Ame ican Islands yet they -ftill mer with fome notable diftu bances, both from the French Pyrates, who not onely fet upon their thips as they returned from the Indies, ( Perus Anzulles being one time among the reft, flain by them in a great Sea-fight as he was coming f.om Nombre de Dios with three ships richly loaden ) but also overrun the Canary Ifla ds, and pillaged wana a Colony of the Island of Cuba, and from their own flaves in H Spaniola; for most of the Indians of that Island being destroyed an I confumed with hard labour and ill usage, they were forced to purchale Negros dut of Guinny, a Province conquered by the King of Poringal, these also being used with all kinde of fe-Verity and harthness by the Spaniards, as the Indians forme 1y were, fought by all means possible to thake off that in upportable yoke of fervitude in which they lived ; and to this end certain of them watching their opportunity, flipt out of their Mafters power, and began to wander up and down the Island in a defpetare maner, divers others also by degrees flocking unto them from all parts of the Illand, they at length grew to fuch a head, that they became a terrout to the Spanish Colonies, executing their rage and vengeance upon all that came into their power, infomuch as the place was for a time almost dedeferted by the Spaniards, by reafon of the great number of people that fled out of it: the number of these flaves was reported to be about eight thousand; but after a long time of diforder and confusion, they were brought within bounds by the prudence and care of Cerasus, who was then Governor, notwithout a valt deal of trouble and expense.

After the Difcovery and Conquelt of the American Iflands, a gap was immediately opened, as hath been before mentione ed, to the finding out of the Continent, by Niquefa, Ealboard A in and others; but in a fhort while after other valt Provinces of the Continent came to be difcovered and fubdued by others, as fhall be hereafte fluewed.

In the Yea, of our Lord 1540. Didacus Gottierez, a Citizen of Mantua Carpetarorum, vulgarly called Madrid, was by Cafars special Authority ient Gove nour of the Province of New Carthage, and putting in at Nombre de Dios, he went thence to Nicaragua, where one Rodericus Conteras commanded, defiring a supply of men to guard him to his own Province; but there arising fome differences and jars between Conteras and Gottierez, he was forced to linger thereabout for the space of two years without effecting any thing, at length they being reconciled by the mediation of the Bithop, Gettierez obtained his defire, and went on in his intended jou ney : having been a while in his Province, and failing of those provifions which he daily expected from Nicaragua, the defired the Caciques of that Countrey to fu nish him with Maize for a few days, until he heard from Nicaragua, but the Caciques though they feemed outwardly ready to afsift him, yet they fent in their Maize but very fparingly ; whereupon all his foldiers being freightned for want of Vistuals, agreed together with one confent to leave him, and lighting upon certain Vessels that came from Nombre de Dios, they went aboard them, and returned back to Nicaragua. .

The Governor being thus deferted of his foldiers, and baving no company left him but one kinfman, four ervants, and a Warerman, was also going back himfelf with his finall retinue, in a little Galliot that was left him, but, just as be was E 2 out 19 of of stowbout about putting off from thore, one Barientus arrived with men and provision from Nicaragua, this put a ftop to his Voyage : moreove, having received a quantity of Gold from fome of the Caciques, he fent Alphonsus Pisanus his Nephew, with a great part of it to Nombre de Dos, giving him in charge to raise a certain number of men with it, and to bring them over to him. Alphon fus with this mony raised about thirty men, and brought them, but these being not enough, he sent the vessel back again for more: with these the Governour went about thirty miles up the river, as far as the confines of the river Sueris, here he was met by the Caciques of Suera and Chiuppa, who prefented him with gold, and divers forts of fruits, but his greedy expessarion of gold not being fully farisfied, he caft them into chains, and used them very rigorously, making them lie upon the ground at his beds feet; likewife he caufed a great fire to be made in the fight of one of them, named Camachires, threatning him, that unlefs within four days space he filled a great Cheft which he had there by him, fix times over with gold, he would burn him alive; the Cacique thus rerrified, promifed he would, and remaining himfelf in durance, fent his fervants for it : in the mean time it chanced through the carelefness of his keeper, that he made an escape, at which the Governour was mightily inraged, infomuch that that his continual vexation brought a desperate fit of fickness upon him : the other Cacique that remained in cultody bore his afflictions, and the Menaces he often received, with fo much fortitude and conftancy of minde, that the Governour was confounded at it. Amidst these various vicilistudes of fortune, Gottierez frustrate of his expectations, and urged with the want of neceffaries, his Souldiers being ready to run from him, and impatient of his Nephews long absence, whom he sent with the Gallyfoist to Nombre de Dios, in a desperate and destracted humour, designed to go up farther into the Country, distriburing the little Corn he had left among his Souldiers, and sending away his fick and infirm to the Sea, and one of his fervants with them, who was to wait the coming of Alphonfus, and to fend him after, directing his journey by certain marks that were to be fet up. Afrer

After a few days journy coming into a wood, the Spaniards were fet upon by a grois Body of the Indians, in which fight the Governour Gottierez himfelf was the first that was flain, and almost all the reft killed, or put to flight: Not long after this fight, Alphonfus Pifanus being returned, overtook those few that were escaped, who joyning with him, weak and fickly as they were, made a shift to crawl to the Sea fide.

In this battel were about four thousand Indians, and forty Spaniards, whereof thirty four were flain, but many more of the enemies, and it is thought that if there had been but three or four horsemen, they would not have dared to have fet upon them, fo afraid were the Indians of this fierce beaft.

About this time, Ferdinandus Sottus was fent Governour into Florida, which was first discovered by Joannes Pontius of Lions, as soon as he came to his Province, he went roving up and down in quest of gold, but not finding any, he took fifteen Caciques, threatning them that if they did not within eight days bring him to the place where the gold was, he would cause them to be burnt alive; they out of fear promised him, that they would within that time bring him where he should have great plenty of gold; but twelve days being expired, and no footsteps of gold appearing, the Governour in a great rage, caused their hands to be cut off, and sent them away.

Not long after being very intent upon the finding out of a rich Mine which he had heard of, and neglecting the care of his Colony, he fell fick of a bloody-flux, and the fifth day after he began to be fick, died.

Now as to the affairs of New Spain: Didacus Velasquez the Governour of Cuba, had fent Ferdinandus Cortesius to take posset of that Province, having been lately discovered by Grisalwa his Nephew. Cortesius having subdued a great part of this continent, refused at length to give an account to Velasquez of the progress of his aftairs, but fent a relation immediately to the Emperor with divers rich prefents. Velasquez hearing of his refractorines toward him, passeth fentence of Treason against him, abbrogates his Authority, and fends Pamphilus. Nervaez against him, giving him in charge to bring him either eicher alive or dead, but Pamphilus being circumvented by Cortefius his fair words, was at length brought to those ftreights that he lost his whole army, and was taken himself in the City Cempoala, where making ftrong refiftance, he lost one of his eyes; after a long and tedious reftraint, having with much ado obtained his liberty, he made an expedition into the Province that lies upon the river of Palms, in which most unfortunate Voyage, all his Ships were by a ftrong tempest that arofe, fhattered to pieces against the tocks, and of fix hundred men whom he carried along with him, fcarcely ten efcaped.

Cortefins, while he went himfelf against Pamphilus Nervaez, left Petrus Alvaradus with fifteen hundred men, to keep the City of Mexico, into which he had been admitted, with the conlent and invitation of King Montezuma; there happening about this time a Solemn Festival among the Indians, which was performed with great Pomp and Solemnity : Alvaradus and his Souldiers feeing the Citizens attired in very rich habiliments, and thining with Gold and Jewels, they rusht upon them in the midft of their Solemnity, promi.cuoufly wounded and killed them being unarmed, and rifled them of all their rich ornaments ; wherear the Indians greatly inraged, combining together, and unanimoufly rifing up against them, made a great flaughter among them, and drove them out of the City. The news hereof coming to Cortesius as he returned from the Conquest of Nervaez. caufed him to make the greater hafte toward the City, where the Inhabitants having flain Montezuma, because he was inclined to the Spanish party, had fet up another King named Qualtimoc. Cortefins being ftrengthned with a new fupply of Spaniards, befides a great number of Indians that fided with him, beliged Mexico, and within three moneths took the City, but the Natives threw all the gold and filver, both that which was in the Publick Treasury of Montezuma, and what they had of their own into the lake, upon which the City flood ; the Spaniards fruftrate of their expectation, grew mad with anger, and put them to all the miferies they could devife, to extort from them where they had hid their gold ; but notwirhwithstanding all their fury, the Indians chose rather to die, and to fuffer the greatest pains they could inflict, then to confeis; Cortesius also caused the King and his chief Secretary to be apprehended and put to the torture, but they constantly endured them without confessing; the Secretary lamentably fcreeking in the midst of his extream sufferings, gave up the Ghost, and Cortesius feeing the King with invincible constancy refolved rather to hold out even till death, then to disclose any thing, caused the torments to be removed, but within a short while, after that he had carried him about with him in chains through divers Provinces, as a spectacle of derision, he caused him to be strangled. Thus all Nova Hispania was stubdued by Cortesius.

The Province of Jucatana, which lieth about thirteen hundred miles Weftward of Nombre de Dios, and three hundred miles beyond the Province of Fondura, was first difcovered by Francifcus Fernandes of Corduba, who came off with very ill fuccels, losing most of his men, and being himself wounded in two and twenty places, so that he was forced to return back to Cuba, without effecting any thing.

Not long after Francifcus Montegius, hearing that Jucatana was a rich and gainful Province, went Governour thither out of Nova Hisfania, and as foon as he was come thither with about five hundred men, divers of the Caciques of the Country met together to vifit him, and feigning very great friendfhip, flaid with him for fome time, till one of them watching his opportunity, fnatch't a fword from an Athiopian's fide, who was his Squire, with which he ran with full aim at the Governour, and had run him through, had not he put by the point with great dexterity, whereupon they were all forced to make a fudden efcape away: The Governour dividing his army into feveral Companies, fent them to invade each of the Tet.itories with fire and fword, and after nine years war totally fubdued them, afigning to each of his Captains that had Command in this war, his portion of Land.

A certain Cacique of this Country, by name Alquinotep, who had been most intimate with Montegius, and had been been Baptized, being one time very fad, and being demanded by the Governour, the reafon of his fadnefs, anfwered, that about fourty years ago there had been fo great a mortolity among them, that it was feared the raging peftilence would have twept away all the people of the Country, and that a little while before their coming among them, they had loft above one hundred and fifty thoufand men, in two great battels with the Mexicans, but that both these calamities were nothing to the miferies they fuffered, through the cruelty and avarice of him and his men.

Petrus Alvaradus, of whom mention hath already been made in the affairs of Mexico, went afterwards and conquered the Province of Guatimala, in which he built a City of the fame name, where for a while he injoyed with great tranquility the riches he had acquired; but hearing that Francifcus Pizarrus and Didacus Almagrus, were gone into the kingdom of Peru, and had there found incredible wealth, he made fuit to the King by friends, that he might have power granted him of reducing to obedience, and planting Colonies in those parts which were not already posself, which having obtained, he mide his way far into the Country, over fleep and craggy mountains, unto the Province of Quiton.

The news hereof being brought to Franciscus Pizarrus, he fent Didacus Almagrus with one hundred and fifty men against him, who fac't him about the river Liribamba, but Almagrus dusst not venture to engage, seeing himself much inferiour in number, nor was it long ere Licentiat Caldera mediated a peace between them upon this condition, that Alvaradus should receive one hundred thousand Ducats in gold to deliver up his forces to Pizarrus and Almagrus, and depart out of the Kingdom of Pern; which he did accordingly, and returned to Guatimala, much fatisfied with this fucces.

About this time Fr. Marcus de Mizza, a Dominican Fryar, and certain others of that order, having travelled through divers Countreys above a thousand miles Westward, brought word of a very rich Province, called Sibolla, abounding with gold and divers of precious stones. This news came in the first place

Place to Antonius Mendoza, Viceroy of Nova Hispania, and Ferdinandus Cortesius Chief General of the Army: the Viceroy prefently fends for Petrus Alvaradus, and commands him forth upon this Expedition.

Alvaradus readily obeys, but as he was taking his journey, he heard by the way that the Indians of the Province of Xalifeus were up in rebellion, whereupon he haftned with all his Forces to the aid of Lopez de Zunica, who had commanded in that Province, fo they went both to be hege a great hill, which the enemy had poffett and fortified, from which they threw down trees and ftones of a vaft magnitude, wherewith a great number of Spaniards that were at the foot of the hill, were crushed to death, among whom was Alvaradus himfelf.

The wife of Alvaradus took his death with vehement impatience, and impotence, breaking out into blasphemous speeches and murmuring against Heaven, for taking her husband fo foon out of this life, tearing her hair, and groveling upon the ground; yet notwithstanding her excessive mourning, she omitted not to affemble the Chief Magistrates of the City to procure her felf to be made Governess in her husbands ftead : she had not been long advanced to this new dignity, ere her house, among infinite others, was utterly overturned by a molt violent rempeft, and impetuous Inundation of waters, which brought a mighty defolation upon the Country, in which the her felf also perished. In the morning after this whirlwind was allayed, many were found in the fields, very much hurr, fome bruiled, some having their arms, others their thighs broken, onely a little Girl was taken up unhurt, which Alvaradus had begotten of an Indian woman.

The Viceroy hearing of Alvaradus death, fent Francifcus Velafquez, upon the forenamed Expedition, but instead of the vast riches he promifed to himfelf, he found nothing but heaps of fnow, a barren foil, and sharp hunger, wherefore marching up fifteen hundred miles farther into the Country, he had many Skirmishes with the people, little or nothing to his advantage; at last feeing no profit to be reaped in those parts, he returned back to Mexico, poor and indigent, carting those Fryars

Fryars, whole empty brags had made him undertake to vafi and toil fom a Journey to no effect.

Franciscus Pizarrus and Didacus Almagrus, having, as hath been already related, planted a Colony in the kingdom of Pern, had their habitation at Panama, but hearing of a Province roward the South, more abundantly wealthy then any of those they had yet been in, they left Fernandus Luquez a Prieft, to order their affairs at Panama, and fetting forth from thence themselves with a good considerable Fleet, they failed about the space of three hundred miles Southward. Pizarrus went first a shore with his men, and was received by the Indians with a sharp incounter, wherein he lost many men, and was himself carried wounded out of the battel, and to being difcouraged at his ill beginning, returned back to Panama. Almagrus going a great way farther up the river of Saint John. was kindly treated by the Natives of those parts, and prefented with three thousand Ducats in gold, but in his way back, he lighted upon the fame place where his companion received the overthrow, and he himfelf alio met with the like entertainment, so that after a great flaughter of his men, and the loss of one of this eyes, he also was forced to return to Panama. As foon as he was come back, he acquainted Pizarrus with the new discovery he had made, they agreed together to prepare a new Fleet, and to attempt the fubduing of it, but being beaten back to their Ships with great lofs, they retired to a certain Island called Infula Galli, from whence Almagrus is fent back for a fresh supply of men and Provision to Panama; at which time Petrus Flumineus (vulgarly De los Rios) was made Governour of the Province. In the mean while Pizarrus with those few that were left, (for a great many urged by their hunger and ill fuccefs, had deferred him) after they had remained in this Island a good while in expectation of Almagrus his return, in lamentable want and diffreis, they confulted among themfelves what was the best course to take, and at last they refolv'd to fail along the coast, to fee if they could meet with any happier region, then they had yet met with : By this time Almagrus comes back, bringing along with him provisions, visions, but men he could none, because of the general fame of their improsperous voyage ; having about the space of five hundred miles, they went a shore at Chira a Province of Pern, whence having taken fome flore of cattel, and certain Indian Boys, who were to be taught the Spanish tongue, they failed back to Tumbefia, being informed of the valt riches of that place, but because of the multitude of Indians that were upon the shore, no body durst venture to land, till one Petrus a Native of the Island of Creet, offered of his own accord to run the hazard, and with a two-handed sword which he commonly used, he went a fnore, and was honourably received by the Chief Ruler of the place, who brought him to a Calle, in which there was a Temple confecrated to the Sun, wherein he beheld fuch incredible riches, that he was infinitely furprized, and aftonished thereat, and being dismit, with the offer of several rich prefents, he went and related to his companions whar he had feen.

The news of the vaft wealth of Chira and Tumbesia filling them with abundance of joy, Almagrus and Fernandus Luquez agreed to fend over Pizarrus into Spain, to procure authority from Casar, for the subduing of Tumbesia; he makes his address to the Councel for the Indian affairs, where he gives a full relation of all things, and defrauding his companions, demands the Government of Tumbesia for himself onely, without making mention of either of them, which was prefently granted, whereupon he takes scipping at Saint Lucar de Barrameda, accompanied with Martine de Alcautara, and his three Brothers Ferdinandus, Gonzallus, and Joannes Pizarrus.

His affociates perceiving that he had negotiated for himfelf onely, and had excluded them out of the Society, were much incenfed against him, fo that high discontents arofe among them, but Pizarrus being fensible that Almagrus was much more wealthy then himfelf, and that he should shand in need of his money to help him on in his defigns, made means to be reconciled unto him, by the mediation of Doctor Gama; the conditions being agreed upon, these two entred into a streight League

League of amity among themselves, excluding their third companion Fernandus Luquez, out of their society.

These affairs being thus setled, Pizarrus proceeds upon his defign, ordering Almagrus to follow him very speedily with a confiderable supply: the first place he arrived at was Colonchia, a Port of the Province of Guancavilichia, thence he passed over into the Island of Cuna, where at first he was civilly treated by the Chief Ruler of the place, but when he heard of the Robberies, Rapes, and Infolencies of the Christians, he came against them to expel them out of the Island; but being put to the worst, and losing many of his men, he fled into the woods. Pizarrus having obtained this victory, he returned back to the Continent, where having overcome the King of that Country, he fackt the City of Tumbesia, and sposed the Temple of the Sun of all its rich Ornaments.

Caffiamalca, one of the Provinces of the Kingdom of Fern, was governed by a very Porent King named Attaliba, who hearing that this Bearded Nation, (for fo the Spaniards were called by the Indians) was approaching near his Territories, fent to them to depart out of the Kingdom, because the evil fame of their horrible miscarriages and cruelties, had long fince come to his knowledge, but Pizarrus fent Ambafladours to him, his brother Ferdinandus, and Vincentius de valle Varidi a Fryar of the Dominican Order, to offer him Friendship and Alliance in the name of the Emperor and the Pope, and to defire a special day of Audience from him, to declare unto him, what they had in Command f om their Master the Emperor. A day being appointed, the King in great state and magnificence, was carried upon mens shoulders to his Royal Throne, where being placed, Vince tins with a Crofs in one hand, and a Breviary in the other, addreft his speech to the King, telling him, That he came thither at the Emperors Command, and by the Authority of the Pope, who being Chrifts Vicar upon earth, had affigned all those new discovered lands to the Emperor, to the end that he might fend pious and learned men among them, to preach the Gospel, and thereupon he produced a Bible, and out of it made a large discourse, declaring to him all the chief heads of Christian Religion, and exhorting him to renounce his falle gods, and embrace that truth which he preached to him.

The King replied, That for the friend(hip of the Emperor he willingly accepted it, but his Religion he would not renounce, let them that would believe in Chrift that died ; for his part, he would believe in the Sun that never died ; In fine, he asked the Fryar how he came to know thefe Myfteries, which he fpake of ? Vincentius anfwered, that the Book he offered him (reaching him the Bible) taught him thefe things ; this Book, faid Attaliba, looking earnetly upon it, utters nothing at all to me ; and in faying fo, he threw it violently to the ground with difdain ; whereupon the Fryar with a loud voice, began to flir up the Spaniards to the flaughter of the Indians , crying out, Slay thefe dogs, that fo contumacioufly defpife the Law of God.

Pizarrus having all things in a readinefs, gave fignal of battel, and what with the great Guns which he caufed to be difcharged, what with the trampling of horfes, and other unufual noifes, he ftruck fuch a terrour into the Indians, that he routed them with eafe, and made a miferable havock of them, Attaliba himfelf being taken prifoner; and all this without any other harm on the Spaniards fide, except a wound which Pizarrus received on the hand from one of his own men, ftriking at an Indian. In all the time of the fight Vincentius, the Fryar, never ceafed flirting up the Souldiers.

Attaliba impatient of his Imprifonment, promifed Pizarrus if he would fet him free, to fill the Hall where they were, with Gold and Silver veffels, as high as he could reachwith his hand, and to that end difpatched his Officers to Cufcon, and all other parts of his Kingdom, to procure the faid fum, which (though not within the time limited) was at length brought, & accordingly, exceeded two millions: a fifth part was defigned for the Kings Exchequer, which was fent into Spain, by Ferdinandus Pizarrus the Brother of Francifcus, with a Narration of all their proceedings, the reft was divided among the Souldiery; at the fame time alfo Didacus Almagrus arrived, rived, and had his thare among the reft.

Theie things being thus ordered, Pizarrus, Almagrus, and the reft of the Chief Commanders, held a confultation among them elves, how they should dispose of Attabaliba, fome (who were the most honest) gave their suffrage, that he ought to be fet free ; others, that it was belt to fend him into Spain to Cafar, but the greater part of votes carried it, that he should be put to death. Some fay that Philippillus, one of those youths, whom they had taken a little befs e upon the coaft of Tumbelia, to teach them the Spanish tongue, falling in love with one of Attaliba's Concubines, and having promiled her Marriage after the death of Attaliba, to fulfil his defires the fooner, plotted against his life, accufing him of holding fecret correspondence with the Natives, to fir them up to rebellion against the Spaniards; but this is thought to have been onely a feigned pretence to put the better colour upon their pertidiousness in putting him to death contrary to conditions: the truth of the business is, that Pizarrus from the time he first took him, had defigned to remove him out of the way, which he performed, telling Attaliba, after he had made a pithy Cration, to expostulate the case with him, with tears in his eyes, that now the fentence could not be revoked, and in faying so, he delivered him to certain Numidians, whom he kept for those purposes, to be strangled. The father of Attabaliba was called Guaivacava, his elder brother Guascares, whom Attabaliba a little before the arrival of the Spaniards, had overcome in war, taken him prifoner, and caufed him to be put to death, he had many wives, whereof the chiefest was his fifter named Pagha, by whom he had divers children.

After King Attabaliba was strangled, Pizarrus marching from Cassianalca to Cuscon, the chief City of Peru, was encountred with an Army, by Quisquiz Attabal ba's Chief Gene al, who came to revenge the Kings death; but Almagrus coming up timely to Pizarrus his succour, Quisquiz was utrerly overthrown, Cuscon sacked, and the Temple of the Sun oillaged; Almagrus being left Governor of this new subdued dued Province, Pizarrus went and planted a new Colony upon the bank of the river Lima, and called it Civita de Reges, i. e. the City of Kings, and from thence he went to Trigillium, about which time Ferdinandus Pizarrus, who had been tent into Spain, came back with divers Letters Patents from Cafar, in one of which his brother Francifcus was honoured with the title of Marquefs.

About the fame time also Almagrus received letters out of Spain, by which he received intelligence that he was defigned Marshal of the Kingdom of Pern, and his Empire was inlarged three hundred miles beyond the bounds of that Province which was fubdued by Pizarrus; whereupon he confidered Cuscon, as under his jurifdiction, and without the bounds of Pizarrus his Province, and therefore he carried all things there according to his own will and pleafure, of which Pizarrus having notice, fet himfelf with the utmost of his power to oppole his proceedings, but because he could do nothing by open might, he outwardly carried himself fair toward, but secretly contrived his ruine, which by degrees he brought to pass; the Indians giving out, that Chile which was indeed a barren and defart Province, was the most rich and fruitful place that had been yet discovered by the Spaniards; he never left urging Almagrus, to take upon him that expedition, (pretending the honorableness and advantagiousness of ir,) till with much ado he overcame him with his perswasions.

In the mean while Mangus the brother of Attabaliba, and who after Attabaliba's death had been crowned by Francifeus Pizarrus, in his brothers flead, fecretly meditating a rebellion, was taken prifoner by Ferdinandus, and put in chains, but afterwards upon a great fum of Gold given, and his ferious promife, to be ever after true and faithful, he was releafed by Joannes Pizarrus, but as foon as ever he was at liberry, he immediately with a great Army fets upon Cufton, which being imprized unawares, was prefently taken, together with the Caffle, in which Joannes Pizarrus with a great number of Spaniards, was flain; after which it being recovered by

by the Spaniards, he, with above a hundred thousand men, befieged it again, took it with a great flaughter of the Spaniards, and burnt it to the ground, Franciscus Pizarrus now Marqueis, hearing of Mangus his rebellion sent Didacus Pizarrus, against him with a small power of men, who being so infinitely over numbred, were every one shain : the like success had also Morgorius, and after him Gonzallus Tapia, and likewise after him Gaeta, there escaping not so much as one man to bring tidings of the rest.

The Marquess being troubled that he heard no news of any of his Troops, fent Franciscus Godoius with fourty horse, with express order to see what was become of them, and to bring him word, who being set upon in a narrow passage, lost all his men, and onely himself escaping with much ado, he brought word to Lima of all the former ill successes.

The Marquels forthwith fending Petrus Lerma, before with fifty horfe, and a company of Indians, his allies, followed after himfelf; after a fharp ingagement he put them to flight with the lofs of few men, onely Petrus Lerma had his teeth beaten out, but the enemy recovering a ftrong fortified hill, the Marquels not able by reafon of his former loffes to profecute them, fent into Trugillium, Panama, Nacaragua, and into Nova Hispania to Cortefins, for fresh fupplies of men; he alfo called away Alphonsus Alvaradus out of the Province of Chiachiapoios, which he was fubduing, whom he made Generalifime of all the Forces.

Alvaradus, together with Gomezius Tordia, who was fent a Referve, difpoffeffed the Indians of their Mountain, and incountring Tizoia, the General of Mangus Inga, who came with fifty thousand men against them, they utterly routed his Army, and put them to flight.

By this time Almagrus being returned from his Chilensian Expedition, Mangus Inga fearing he could not be able to withstand the joynt Forces of two fuch potent enemies, betook himself to the woods, and inaccessible places, where he remained with four thousand men, seeure from the pursuit of the Spaniards. Almagrus seeing it in vain to follow him, advanced vanced up to the City Cuscon, and demanded possession of it, as being Governor of that Province, but was kept out for a good while by Ferdinandus Pizarrus in behalf of his brother, till at laft by the help of fome friends of his, he was fecretly admitted into the City by night, which he was no sooner possett of, but he seized upon Ferdinandus Pizarrus, and his brother Gonzallus, and clapt them up in prison feverally ; whereupon Franciscus Pizarrus fent Alvaradus against him, but Almagrus surprizing him unawares at Abancaia, took him prisoner with a great many of his men; he and Gonzallus were put together in the fame place, who corrupting their guards with mony, made both of them an efcape, and came to Cividad de los Reyes, to Franciscus Pizarrus, who with a body of five hundred men, prepared to go against Almagrus. When Joannes Guzmannus, Didacus Mercatus his Procuratour, and divers Monks of the Order of S. Maria di Merce, prefaging the evils that would enfue through this division, between Pizarrus and Almagrus, mediated a peace between them, and appointed Mala the place of meeting, where conditions were to be figned ; the Marquess haftens to Mala, ordering his brother Gonzallus to follow prefently after, with the whole Army, and by the way as Almagrus was to have come, he placed an ambuth of Mulquetteers to have surprized him unawares, but that not taking effect. Almagrus by the admonishment of fome friends, went back inraged in all halt to Cufcon, whereupon the Marquels for fear of some evil consequence that might happen to his brother Ferdinandus Pizarrus, whom Almagrus had yet in his power, sent Didacus Alvaradus after him, to pacifie him, to urge that the ambush said against him, was utterly without the Marquefs's confent or knowledge, and to make firm protestations of peace and amity. Almagrus though warned by his friends not to give any credit to the fair promises and oathes of Pizarrus, yet overcome at last by the earnest persivations and importunity of Alvaradus, he yeilds to a new reconciliation, and fets free Ferdinandus Pizarrus, the Marquess's brother. The Marquess no sooner had his ends, but he fends to Almagrus to depart from Cuscon, pretending tending new authority from Cafar, and Almagrus flanding upon his tearms, and refuling to obey, unless he faw his Committion; he fent his two brothers, Ferdinandus whom he made Juridicial Prætor, and Gonzallus, whom he conflituted General of his Army, together with Joannes Tellus, Fr. Chlavenfis, Mercadillius, and Alphonfus Perefius, and others of his chief Commanders against him, who after divers skirmishes and battels, with various fuccefs on both fides, at last utterly routed his, party, and Almagrus himself being taken prisoner, Ferdinandus after several things laid to his charge, passed sentence of death upon him, and notwithstanding his own earnest supplication for his life, and the interceffion of most of the principal men, caufed him to be hanged in prifon, and his quarters. to be cut asunder, in the open Market-place of the City. This was the unfortunate end of Didacus Almagrus, who left a Son behinde him of the same name, whom he begot of an Indian Concubine at Panama.

This feverity of Ferdinandus toward Almagrus, who had in times paft fo highly merited of his brother the Marquefs, by whole appointment it was more then fufpected to have been done, difpleafed a great many, efpecially Didacus Alvaradus who went into Spain on purpofe to impeach Francifcus, and his two brothers, unto the King and Councel, but while he was hot in the profecution of the bufinefs, he fell fick at Vallodelid and died, as it was thought, by poifon.

Ferdinandus Pizarrus having fetled at Cuscon, and returning to his brother, they both confulted about the making of new discoveries, and to that end they fent Petrus Valdivia to the Province of Chile, Gonzallus Pizarrus to Colians, and afterwards to the coast of Cassia, otherwise called Canella, from whence he returned in a broken condition. Petrus Vergara was fent to the Bracamorians where he did little good, the people remaining unconquered to this day, befides other Expeditions to Trugillium, Chaichiapoza & other places, in all which were innumerable examples of cruelty and tyranny committed, almost to the utter devastation of the whole kingdom of Perm.

Thefe

These things being thus transacted, the Marquels thought fit to fend his brother Ferdinandus into Spain with the usual tribute of the fifth part to the King, and a declaration of the manner of Procels against Almagrus. Ferdinandus though diffwaded by several friends, who rightly foresaw how ill the business of Almagrus would be referred, yet confident of his own merits and good services, he perfisted in his resolutions but as he arrived in Spain, protected, as he vainly imagined, by the vast quantity of Gold he brought along with him, he was immediately by the Kings command committed prisoner to the Tower of Medina Campi, vulgarly called Motta, nor was it heard what became of him afterwards.

Soon after the death of Almagrus, his friends and followers, whereof there were a great many in all parts of the province, began to have fecret confultations with young Didaens Almagrus, how to revenge his Fathers death : the Marquels being warned of this confpiracy, but making flight of it, and thinking it would come to nothing, eleven of the confpirators, whereof Joannes Rada was the chie?, came armed into the Market-place, crying, Long live the King, and may all Tyrants die, and in faying fo, they rushed into his house, where meeting first with Franciscus Chlavensis the Captain of his guard, they cut a deep gash into his head, of which he prefently died, and after fome opposition, both the Marquel's himself, and his eldest brother Martinus de Alcantara were flain, va-Tiantly defending themselves ; this gave an alarm to all their followers and friends, but the confpirators being by this time increased in number, and grown to a great head, easily overcame them. Young Didacus aflumes the Government to himfelf, advances those entries own party, and cafts out of office all of the contrary faction, and makes Rada General of his Forces, after this he hafteneth to Cufcon, and takes posselion of it : here Garcias Alvaradus plots against his life, having a little before flain Christophorus Sprellus in a contention between them, but the ambush which he laid for Didacus as he was to have come to the feast, to which he invited him, being countermined by another ambush, which Didacus, caufed G 2 caused to be laid for him, he was surprized and flain. The news of these diforders and civil broils, the death of Almagrus, and the flaughter of Pizarrus, coming to the ears of Cafar, he dispatched away Licentiate Vacca de Castro into Pern, to make a strift Inquisition into these matters, with authority to punish feverely those that should be found to be the Authors of them : He came first through the great Province of Venalcazar to the City of Quiton, thence to Trugillinm, which he committed to the cuftody of Mora his Legar, from thence he came to Lima, where the Kings Letters Patents being produced, he was with general acclamation faluted Governor ; here he levied Forces, both Horfe and Foot, to go against Didacus Almagrus, who had slighted the authority of Gomezius Tordoia, appointed Governor of Cuscon: Having in vain follicited him by letters to fubmit, he refolved by force to bring him to obedience, the battel being doubtful! for a long time on both fides, at length the vistory fell to Vacea, the Pizarrifts being driven fo fnift for their lives, fome flying to Guamangua, fome to other places : of those that were taken Prisoners, Vacca caused a great many, especially the Captains and chief ringleaders, to be hung up for an example, and terror to others, Didacus himfelf with four others, fhifted away fecretly out of the battel, he got into Cufcon, where for a while he lived private and obscure, till being discovered by Rodericus Salazar, Prætor of the City, (one whom he had greatly advanced, and heaped many favors on) he was delivered up to Vacca, who caufed him to be beheaded, by whofe death all flirs and commotions were allayed, and the Province reftored to peace. During these transactions at Pern, the Councel for the Indian affairs, ratificationd confirmed by Cafars authority, the former Edict for the reftoring of the Indians to their liberry, which was to be put in execution by Blascus Nunez, who was fent over with the Title of Viceroy of Peru, with four affittants, Didacus Cepeda, Petrus Ortizius, Jo. Alvarez and Doctor Lifo; he put this Edict in execution with great feverity, calling to account those whom he thought ready to fail into Spain, with vaft fums of Gold and Silver, and would

would know by what Arts they had fo excefively inriched themfelves; this he did the rather as fufpecting that they had fold those Indian flaves that fell to their flare, contrary to the forefaid Edict, which he caused to be proclaimed, with great ceremony in all places where he came, depriving them of their flaves, because they used them with too much cruelty, condemning others to the Gallows for flanding out contumacious against the Edict, especially one Petrus a Monk of S. Mary's Order, he caused to be ftrangled, for enveighing bitterly against it.

These severe proceedings sirred up a general harred of the people toward him, which was augmented by his caffing of Vacca de Castro into prison, and after that his stabbing of Gulielmus Suarez the Kings Procurator at Lima, which was occafioned from fome high words that passed between them ; which fast, Licentiate Carvaial the Procurators brother, fwore he would never reft, till he had revenged ; and from that time all the difcontented party, which till then had but muttered, meditated on open rebellion, which immediately after broke violently out. Gonzallus Pizarrus brother to the late Marquels being pitched upon, as supream head of the faction, divers alfo of the Viceroys own commanders, as Petrus de Puellis, and Gonzallus Diaz, who were fent for from the Guanneus and Piura to aide him, within a while deferted him, and fled to the enemy with all their men, after whom Alphonfus de Monte Majore, being fent with fifty horfe to fetch them back, was betrayed by his own company, and delivered to the fugitives, who inftead of being ferched back by him, forced him to go along with them.

By these accidents the Viceroy seeing himself reduced to very great fireights, determined to fail to Trugillium with the affistants, Alphonsus Richelmus the Kings Treasurer, and Alphonsus Rationarius the Quarfor, and to fend his brother Vela Nunez thither with most of the Forces by Land, the affiflants fliffly withstood this design, alledging, that that was the place of residence affigned him, and that his departure thence. would adde courage to the enemy, withal they firstly charged the

the Townsmen, that nothing should be removed to the Ships, but the Viceroy obflinately perfifting in his refolution, there streight arole a tumult upon it, which in an hours space grew to that height, that the Viceroy was befieged in his own house, and at length the walls being fealed by Antonius Roblez, he is taken and committed to Laurentius Aldena a Trubune, and the tumults still increasing, a great consultation is held among rhe Afsiftants and others, what should be done with him; fome voted that he should be put to death, others that he should be expelled out of the city; but in fine it was refolved on, by meanes of the Assistants who were most favourable to him, that he should be fent back into Spain to the Emperour, to determine of him as he thought fit, and that that would be the likelieft means to quiet Pizarrus and his party: whereupon he and his brother are committed to Licentiate Alvarez, and shipped for Spain, with their treasure, which was one hundred thousand Duckats; but Alvarez putting in at Tumbesia, there fet the Viceroy at liberty, who ftreight began to levie new Forces, which Pizarrus hearing of, advanced within two. miles of Lima, and demanded poffession of the city. The Senate was divided, fome contending for his reception; others, whereof Capeda was the chief, stiffly opposing it, but at last it was clearly carried on his fide, and he was admitted in with general confent as Governour, foon after which he diffolved the Senate, borrowed forty thousand Duckats. out of the Royal Exchequer to pay his fouldiers with, fent Ferdinandus Machicaus to Panama, who was difficultly ad-. mitted by Joannes Guzmannus agent there for the Viceroy, and Doctor Taiada into Spain, to certifie the Emperour of the state of things.

Pizarrus receiving feveral complaints of Machicaus, from the Citizens of Panama, he abrogated his authority, and fent Petrus Inoiofa in his room, who putting in at the Port of Bonaventure, feized upon Vela Nunez with twenty thousand Duckats who was tailing Forces for his brother the Viceroy, and fent him to Lima to Pizarrus the Governour, who laying feveral crimes to his charge, caufed him to be beheaded. By the taking of Nunez, the Governors fon was alfo fet free, who had been for a good while in poffession. From Bonaventure Inoiofa fets fayl for Fanama where he was kept out for a good while by joannes Lanefus, who was raifing foldiers for the Viceroy, but afterwards by a ftratagem he poffession for the Viceroy, but afterwards by a ftratagem he poffession of the Ciry, where as foon as he was fetled, he fent Petrus Gabrera to rake possification of Numbre de Dios, from whence he was fuddenly beaten out by Michael Verdugus, and forced with all his men to fly back to Panama, nor did Verdugus injoy his Conquession of his fouldiers to Dostor Rivera then Governour of the Province, who being afsisted by Inoiofa in person, foon drove him out of the Ciry.

In the mean while, Pizarrus hearing that Didacus Contenus was in arms fot the Viceroy, fent his Camp-master General Francifcus Carvaialis against him, who ingaging with him at Potofita, utterly routed his Forces, and put Contenus to flight.

About this time the Viceroy refolved to put it to the utmost tryal, with the help of Sebastian Venalcazar makes up four hundred men, and with a hafty march comes to Quiton, pitching his camp about three miles from the City, where the enemy also lay ready to receive him : the Viceroy inferiour in number, is routed in the first onset, and he himself thrown off his horfe, not being able to recover himfelf by reafon of the cumbersomnels of his armour, lying groveling upon the ground in this posture, he came by some accident or other to be discovered to Licentiate Carvaialis who overjoyed at this opportunity to revenge the death of his brother the Procurator, fent a fervant of his to cut off his head, which he caufed to be brought to Quiton, and shewed about in great derifion ; but Pizarrus using his Viceroy with much moderation, commanded that the Viceroys body should be honourably buried, dismified Venalcazar with civility to his own provinces and having staid a while at Quiton to order affaires, fendie & Manuel Statius to the province of Guaiaquil, Lupus Anar o Porto Vetere, Alphonfus Mercadilbium to Sanfa, Diagons Mora to Trugillium, and conflicuting Petrus de Pureice Governour of of Quiton; he went thence to Cividad de los Reyes, where he was received in triumph.

The King and Councel taking into confideration the frequent commotions and civil differitions in the Indies, thought fit to fend over Petrus Gafca a crafty and politick man, to compofe and fettle affairs in those parts; he arriving at Panama, treats with Inoiofa, perfording him to deliver up the Navy, and at the fame time dispatcheth away Letters to Pizarrus, exhorting him to lay down arms, and promifing in Cafars name, pardon for all things paft.

Pizarrus affembling in Councel all the principal men about him, defired their advice what were beft to do. The refult of their debate was to fend Hieronymus Loaifa into Spain, to acquain this Imperial Majeftie with the prefent flate of things, and to frame a Letter to Gafca, to excufe themfelves that they could not admit him into the Province of Peru, nor obey the meffage they had lately received from him; this Letter they fent by fpecial Embaffadours, figned and fubfcribed with the hands of fixty four Provincials : at the fame time they gave fecretly in charge to Inoiofas and Laurentius Aldana, to fend back Gafca with ten thoufand Duckats into Spain, or if they thought it more convenient to kill him; this Aldana being one of those that came with the Letters, difcovered to the Prefident Gafca, warning him to take heed of the ambufh that was laid for him.

It was long before Inoiofa could be induced to deliver up the Navy to Gafca, but at last by many strong arguments he was perswaded to refign it, whereupon he was himself made Admiral for Gafca, as he had been before for Pizarrus.

The President causing the Emperours Orders to be published at Trugillium, Arequipa and divers other places with the news of the defection of the Navy, many confiderable perfons tell off from Pizarrus to his party, among which were Didneys Mora Governour of Trugillium, Rodericus Lalazer, who have flain Petrus de Puellis in his bed, succeeded Governour in Deiton, Franciscus Olmeus of Guaiaquil having in like manner flain Emanuel Statius, Centenus also who had been ruemeved with the flain Emanuel Statius, Centenus also who had been all all this while lurking in the mountaines hearing of Gafea's fuccefs, came forth and joyned himfelf with Didacus Alvarez, thus with joynt forces having alfo fupply from elfwhere, they fet upon the City of Cufcon and tookit by affault, they took Antonius Robles who had commanded and caufed them to be beheaded : from thence Centenus marched to Potofia againft Alphonfus Mendoza, and Joannes Silveira, who having intelligence of the approach of Centenus, and thinking themfelves too weak to cope with him, went and met him of their own accord, and joyned their Forces with his : at the fame time alfo Joannes Roias and Alphonfus Maldonatus deferted Pizarrus his party, and fhorthy after Sottus his Camp-mafter General, and Martinus Ulmeus, and (which perplexed him moft of all) Licentiate Carvaialis.

The Governour Pizarras feeing himfelf thus reduced into miferable extremities, and deferted almoft by all his freinds, went from Lima to Arequipa, where fending for Joannes Casta, he called a Councel to advife what course was best to take; fome thought it was best, to abandon that Province, fince his affairs there were so desperate, and to seek a new one, and to that end they pitched upon the Province of Chele, but Pizarrus thought best to march against Centenus who was intercepting the narrow passage to the Tiguacencian-lake; battel being joyned Centenus his army is totally routed, and he himself forced to flie.

In the mean time Prefident Gascalet fayl from Panama, and comming to Tumbesia; he fends for Mercadillius Salazar, Sebastian Venalcazar, Didacus Mopa, and others out of their several Provinces, to come to his afsistance, making up in all an Army of about fifteen hundred men, whereof Inoiofa was made General: no fooner was the fignal of battel given, but Cepeda also revolted to Gasca, which so diffeattned Pizarrus his men, that with small adoe they were utterly vanquished, and Pizarrus himself seeing no remedie yeilded himself up to Villa Vicentius a Sergeant Major of the other party, by whom he was delivered into the power of the President, who judging him guilty of high Treason, caufed himsto be put to death the

the next day, his body being conveyed to Lima and there buied, a little after Campmatter General Carvaialis was hanged drawn, and quartered. Joannes Costa also, Joannes de Torre, and eleven other Collonells were hanged, divers common fouldiers condemned to the Gallys, others banifhed into the Province of Chila. Prefident Gafca having removed by death Pizarrus, and all the chief heads of this Rebellion, took poffession of Cuscon, confulted with Hieronymus Loaisa, Archbishop of Lima, and Petrus Lopez his Secretary, about the division of Lands, fetled upon Inoiofa one hundred thousand Duckars yearly, upon Valdivia little lefs, who died fhortly after, as it is thought by poifon, but the common fouldiers who were high with hopes, by reafon of the great paines and hardship they had undergone, seeing themselves neglected and unrewarded, began amain to grumble and repine, and did not tlick to caft forth of times feditious and footfing expressions to his face, fo that making feveral new orders and Edicts tending to the setlement and composing of affairs in that place, be committed the chief care and execution of them to the Archbishop of Lima, he collects together the greatest mass of treasure he was able, and leaving Pern he takes thipping for Panama; he had not been there above two days, but Rodericus Conteras and his brother (the fons of that Rodericus before mentioned, Governour of Nicaragua) broke into Panama on a fudden with about eighty fouldiers, flew to the Prefidents Treasure, and seized upon forty thousand Duckats in Gold, and prefently dividing their Company, Roderick took his course toward Nombre de Dios, his brother toward the. river Chiagro, but they were not farr out of the town, ere the Townsmen followed amain after them, and having with ease discomfited that Company that was going toward Chiagro, they prefently after overtook Rodericus, who being alfo vanquifhed, fled with fome few others into the neighboring woods and was never heard on afterwards, his brother, fome fay, was found dead among the heaps of flaughtered carcafes. - Not long after, Prefident Galca setting fayl for Spain, he arrived at Valladolid, where hearing that the Emperour was in in Germany making war against the Protestanrs, he went thither after him, and made an ample narration of all transactions that had happened fince his first going over into Perm, whereupon he was advanced to the dignitie of Bishop of Palentia.

Of all the Provinces and Kingdomes of America fubdued by the Spaniards, none was won with greater difficulty, or more effusion of blood. The first that atempted it with ill fuccess, was Joannes Pontius of Lyons, after him Ferdinandus Sottus with infinite cruelty, and fittle better iffue then the former, vet others after them were not deterred from venturing, among whom were Julianus-Samanus and Petrus Abumada, at lengh with very much adoe it was reduced into the power of the Staniards, but neither Charls the fifth nor his fon Philip, were pleafed to fend a Governour into that Island, which perhaps gave occasion to Charls the ninth of France to fet out a great Fleet thither, of which Joannes Ribaldus was made Admiral, who landing there about the year one thoufand five hundred forty and five, took poffession of the Caffle of Carlina; but a fleer of the Spaniards arriving there, not long after, furprized the Caffle on a fudden, and put all the French that were in the Caffle, both men and women, to the fword, and after that feveral tharp skirmithes were between them, with various fuccess on bath fides, till at length by the treacherie and perfidiousness of Waltemandus a Spanish Commander, the French were utterly vanquished and miserably maflacred.

Thus you have a brief Hiftory of allthe moft remarkeable actions of the Spaniards in America, both as touching their conquefts of the Natives and their civil wars among themfelves, from the first arrival of Columbus in those parts, till about the year one thousand five hundred and fifty fince which those parts of the world have afforded no confide able matter to be taken notice of, but have remained in the quier possession of the Spaniards, faving that within these few years in the beginning of the wars between the late Lord Protector of England, and the King of Spain, St. Domingo was attempted by the English, but their fuccels hath been more happy against them fince that time in other parts.

The Reader is defired to take further notice, for his greater light of this Hiftory, that there is already Printed a Treatife, Entituled, The Tears of the Indians, being an Hiftorical and true Relation of the cruel Slaughters and Maffacres of above Twenty millions of poor innocent Heathens, who having onely the light of Nature, not knowing their Saviour Jefus Chrift, were facrificed to the political interest and avarice of the Spaniards: Written in Spanish by Casar, an Eyewriter of those Defigns, Englished by J. Phillips, to be fold by Nath. Brook at the Angel in Cornhil.
